TIME IN A BOTTLE

Time is a very precious element. It moves so fast and stops for nothing. The years a person spends in high school are carefree years with no sense of real responsibilities, but these easy-going times slip away so quickly. The class of 1980 will be graduating, and the challenges ahead of them are far more demanding than those they faced in high school. But so the class of 1980, along with the rest of the crew on board this year, won't forget those good ol' high school days, we've bottled up the time from September 1979 to June 1980 in an unforgettable edition of the Pacificana.

LOOKS LIKE WE MADE IT

If a bottle could be filled with the memories of a senior year, it would be overflowing with a sense of victory, regrets of another routine day at school, and a special bond among our 550 seniors.

"ALL HAIL TO THEE" — The senior class was extremely proud to say their Alma Mater was Pacific. Here they display that special closeness that was present all year long. ►

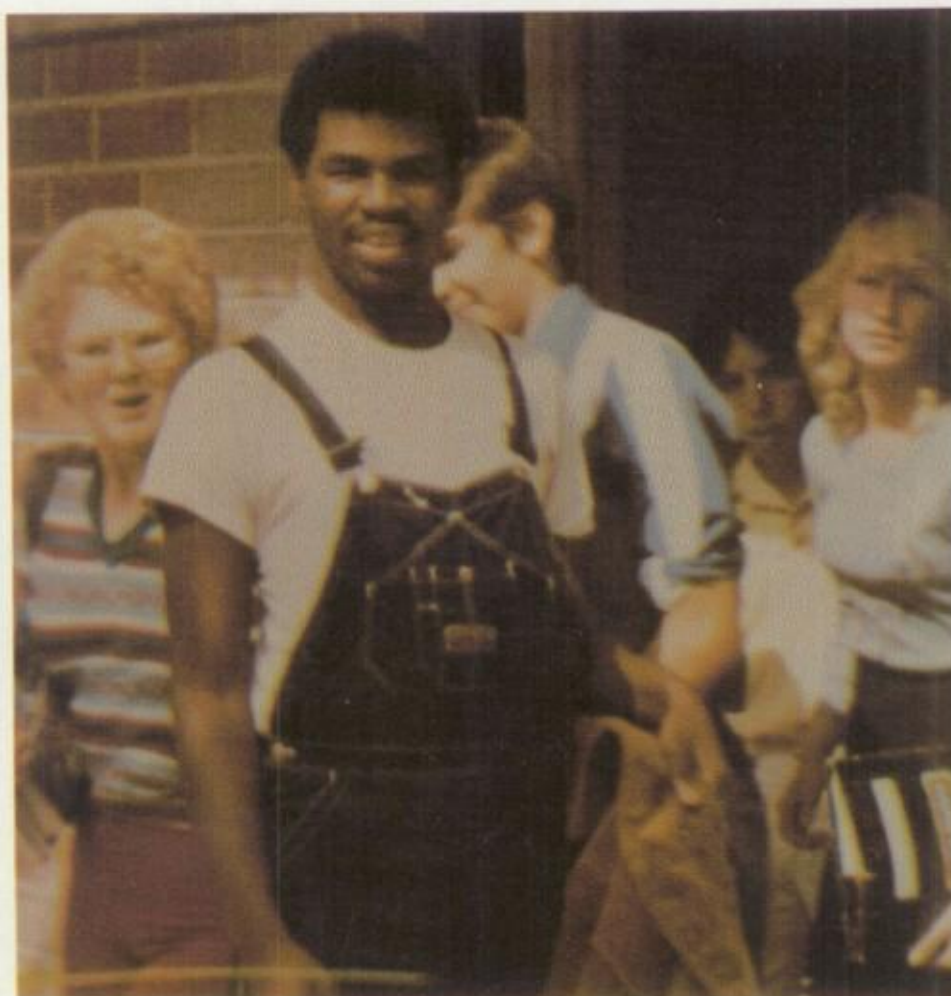

WE LOVE YOU, WILLIE LOVE — An upperclassman who really had a lot to give to others this year was Willie Love. His talent of making people laugh by his truly happy disposition brought a little sunshine into the lives of students and teachers alike. ►

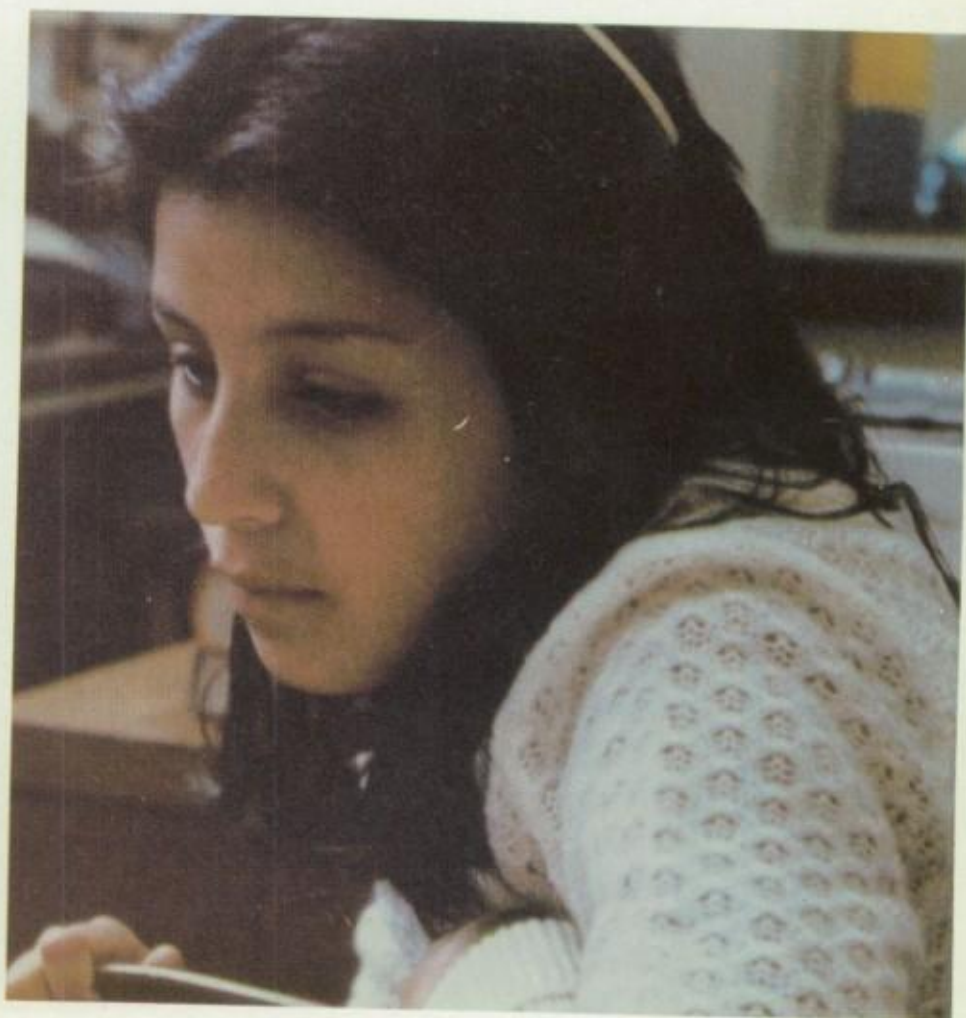

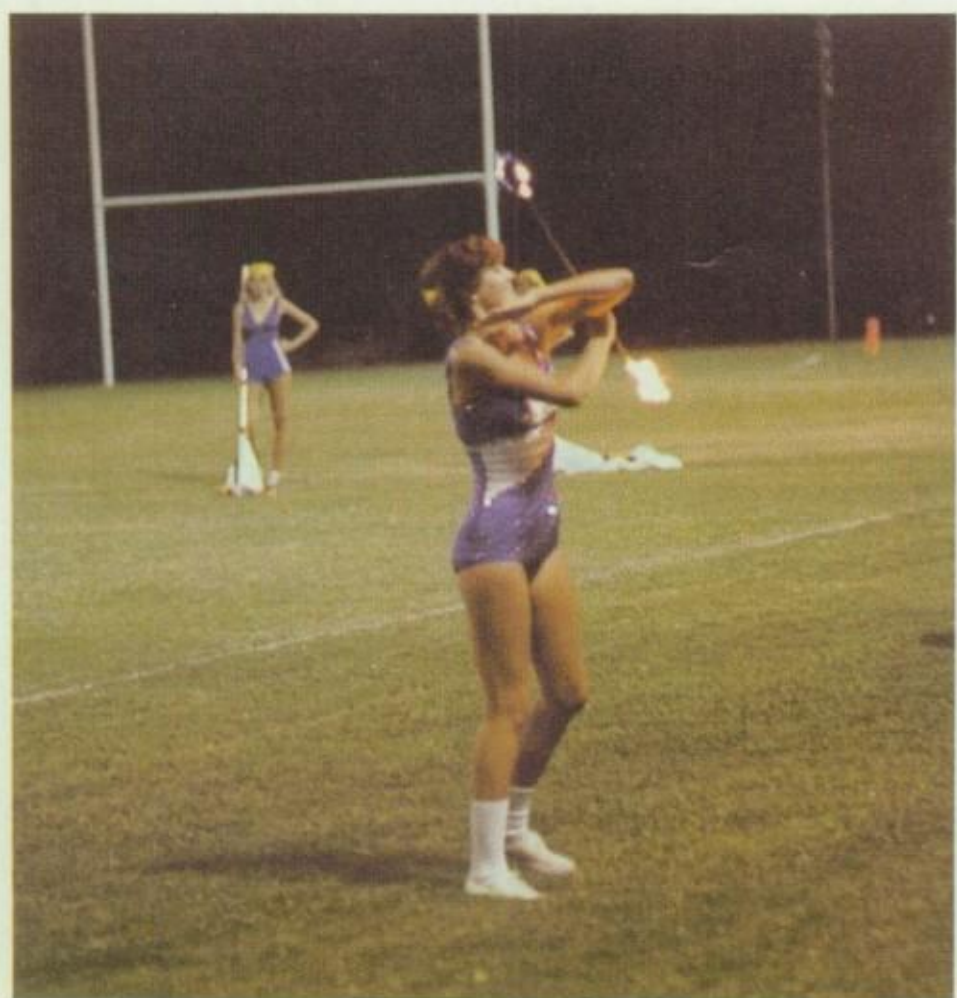

OLYMPIC BOUND — Russell Rebman, a dedicated senior, devoted most of his time to diving. He received numerous medals and awards through the years at Pacific which made all the long hours of practice pay off. ►

ARTISTICALLY INCLINED — This year's Pacificana owed a lot of credit to Diane Heston for the many hours she spent designing the end sheets, division pages, and cover. ►

FLAMING BEAUTY — Susan Straily, the majorette at Pacific, dazzled many spectators with her flaming batons during half-time at the football games. ►

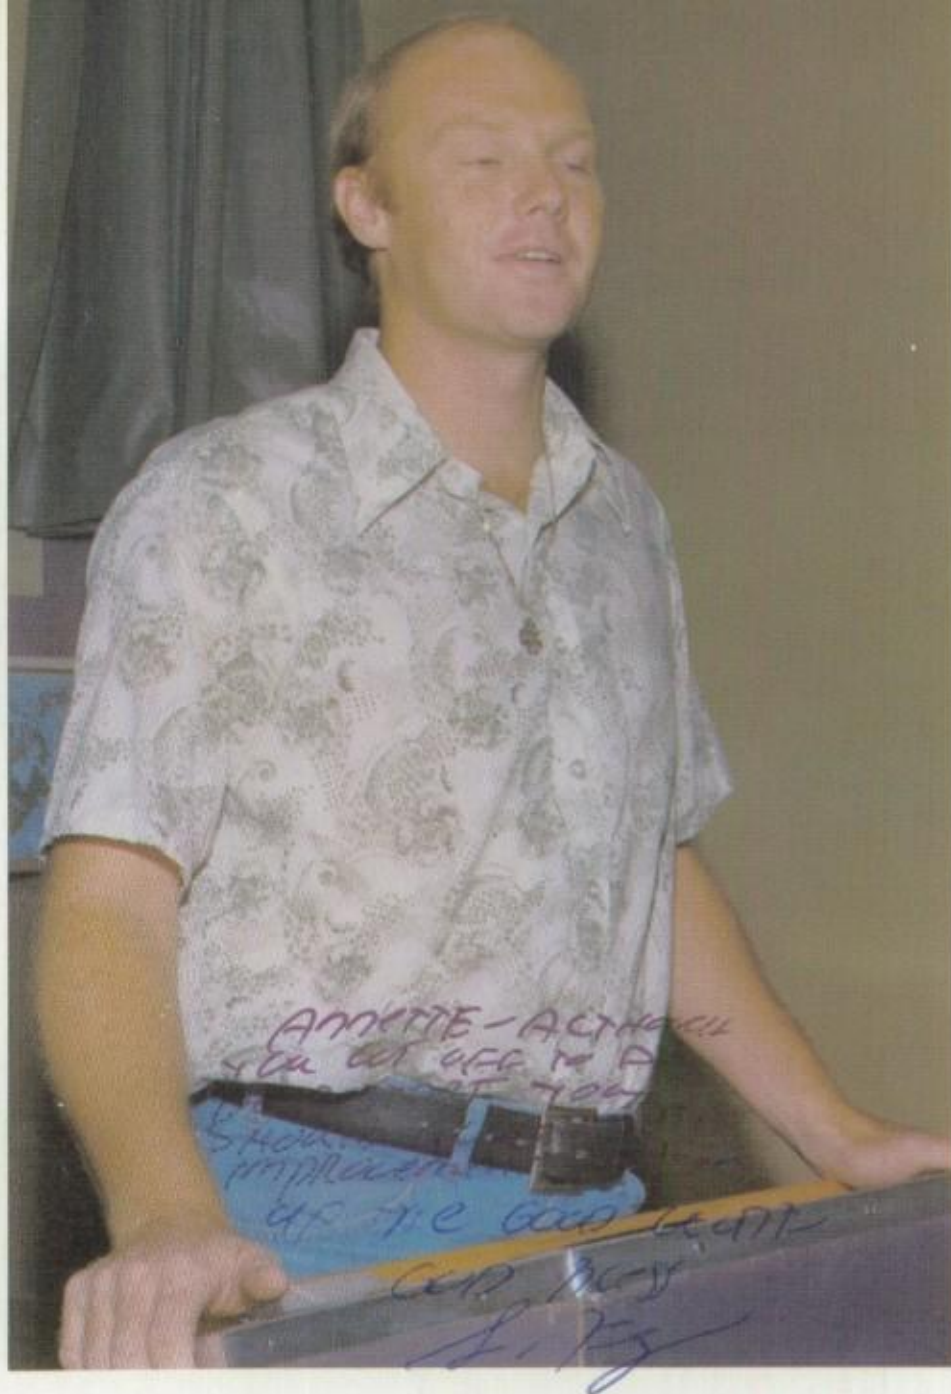

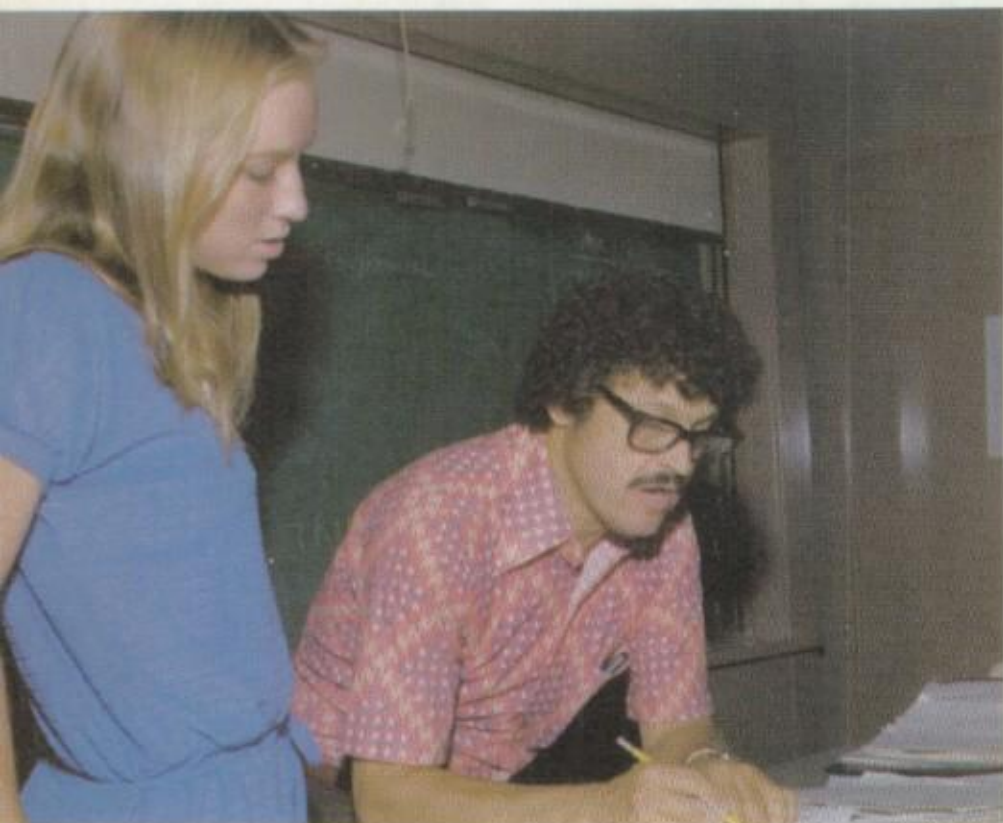

DAYDREAMER — Loreise Espinosa, a very popular senior at Pacific, took time out from her busy schedule to just stop and collect her thoughts. ►

ON BOARD THEY WERE CAPTAINS

The faculty was more than a group of instructors. They gave graciously of their time by helping students in many ways. To these fearless captains we express a very special thank you.

CONFUCIOUS SAY — That one of the major assets to our faculty this year was the addition of our new basketball coach, Mr. Kay. ►

READY, WILLING, AND ABLE — The faculty always showed a deep interest in the student body as shown here by our Chemistry teacher, Mr. Ketchum. ▲

THE EVIL EYE — Isadore Washington, along with the help of the other hard-working security officers, fulfilled his duty of keeping the delinquents in class and out of trouble. ▲

COACH STUDLEY — Coach Kalinich, our aquatics coach for the past two years, sometimes found it hard to concentrate on his work. ►

Pacific has always been a school of high academic standing. The students did not think of the learning process as being a chore. Friends, fellow classmates, and helpful teachers made the scholarly load a little lighter.

THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

ANOTHER REMBRANDT — Mark Nielsen was only a junior, but he showed great promise for the future through the fantastic products he turned out in class. ◀
BOOKWORMS — The library was always that certain place that Pirates could count on to provide the materials that they needed. Everything from information for Career Notebooks to Critiques on Literary Classics could be found, while some students just enjoyed browsing through the newest edition of their favorite magazine.

▲ ON YOUR MARK, GET SET, GO! — For every Pirate, it was exciting when they matured to the age of 15½ which meant that they'd finally be old enough to take Driver's Ed. Though the actual driving was impressive, the simulators provided the biggest thrill. ◀

VICTORY... ONE DAY AT A TIME

Winning was the answer to a Pirate's prayer. This year our athletes were sent guardian angels from an unknown heavenly source. Each individual sport performed with excellence. Someone blessed the athletes, and the student body with the answer to a fervent prayer for the 1979-80 year.

CATCH ME IF YOU CAN — Pirate wide receiver, John Jackson, knew what to do with the ball once he caught it. He miraculously eluded defenders and somehow always found paydirt. ▲

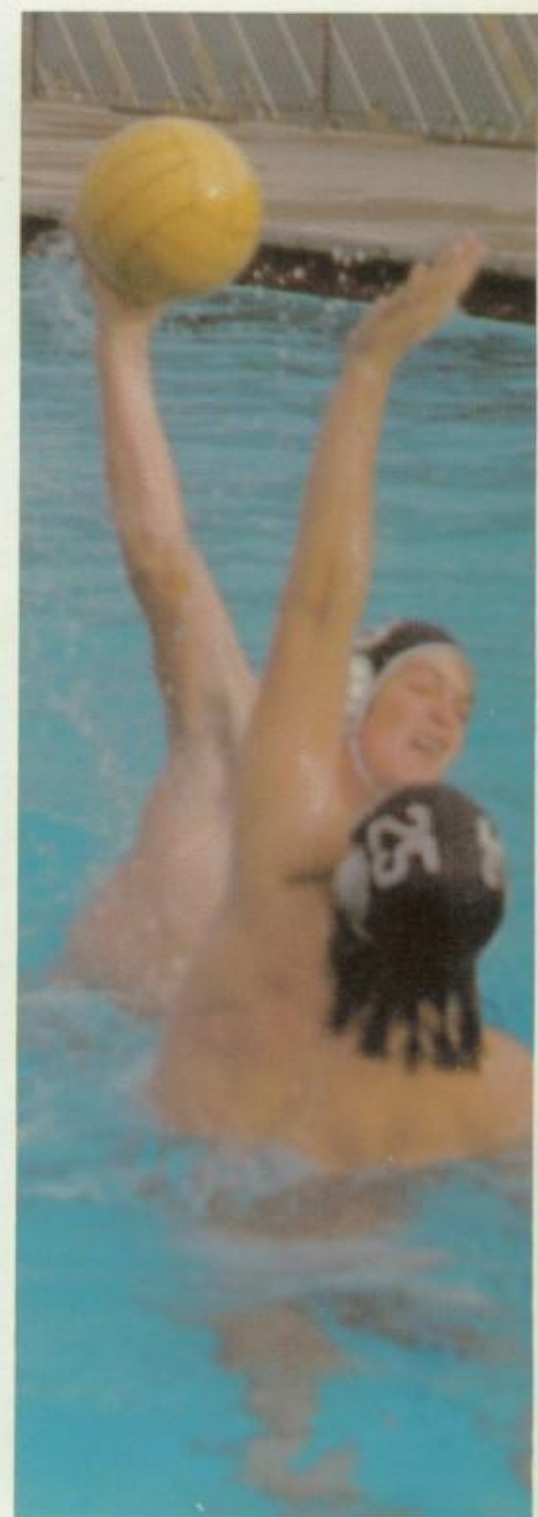

RUN FOR THE HILLS — Pacific's Cross Country team was one of the many athletic teams at Pacific that finished with a very impressive record. ▲

KILL SHOT — Senior Sandy Siperstein was very dedicated to the Girls' Tennis team. She spent many hours practicing after school while in the above picture she demonstrates her killer instinct. ▲

FIRE UP! — Our football team started every game by coming out of the locker room and charging through the spirit signs held by our excited cheerleaders. Led by quarterback, David Ruiz, they huddled on the sidelines and got themselves mentally psyched up for the big game ahead of them. ▲

SHOT ON GOAL — Water polo star, Luke Terry, who was one of Pacific's leading scorers this year attempted a shot at the goal while being closely defended. ▲

BEING ACTIVE, THE KEY

Being active in the high school was the key to 'having a blast.' Sporting events, dances, rallies, and club functions emphasized that there was life beyond the classroom and gave students a break from their monotonous academic regimen. The more a student became involved the more he treasured his high school years.

CLASSROOM FUN — One of the prime activities this year was fooling around in class. Here this is demonstrated by Curtis Butz and his love for Kim Bain's foot. ◀ △
LEADERS OF THE PAC — A.S.B. President, Lydia O'Campo and Vice President, Elijah Martin, ran a firm administration at Pacific. Here they conducted a rally to introduce our awesome football team. ◀ △

ATTEN . . . TION! — R.O.T.C. was a lot more than just a group that was always perfecting their marching in the quad. It helped many a student to prepare for his future careers in the military. ◀ △

LUNCH GROUPIES — These athletic students could always be found at their same familiar table every day during lunch doing their favorite activity — Eating. ▲

A MEXICAN DISCO? — No, actually it was just Ernesto Gallardo and his Ballet Folklórico class displaying their fabulous talent of Spanish folk dancing. ▲

LONDON BRIDGES FALLING DOWN — A popular activity for most girls at Pacific was leadership. Numerous girls tried out, but only the lucky few actually made it. Here, as Todd Graham intensely watches, the Varsity cheers did one of their famous routines. ◀

POKING TAKES PRIORITY

Homecoming was a crucial deadline for the clubs that built floats. Twisting napkins, poking them into chicken wire, painting, nailing, and neglecting homework took priority over everything for one month of night-life. The finished product was one that every club member was proud to claim as their own. ▼

"YOU TWIST, I'LL POKE" — An important part of Football Homecoming was the construction of floats. Each club pulled its resources to get as many hard workers as it could, but some of them ended up with loafers who were just looking for action. ▼

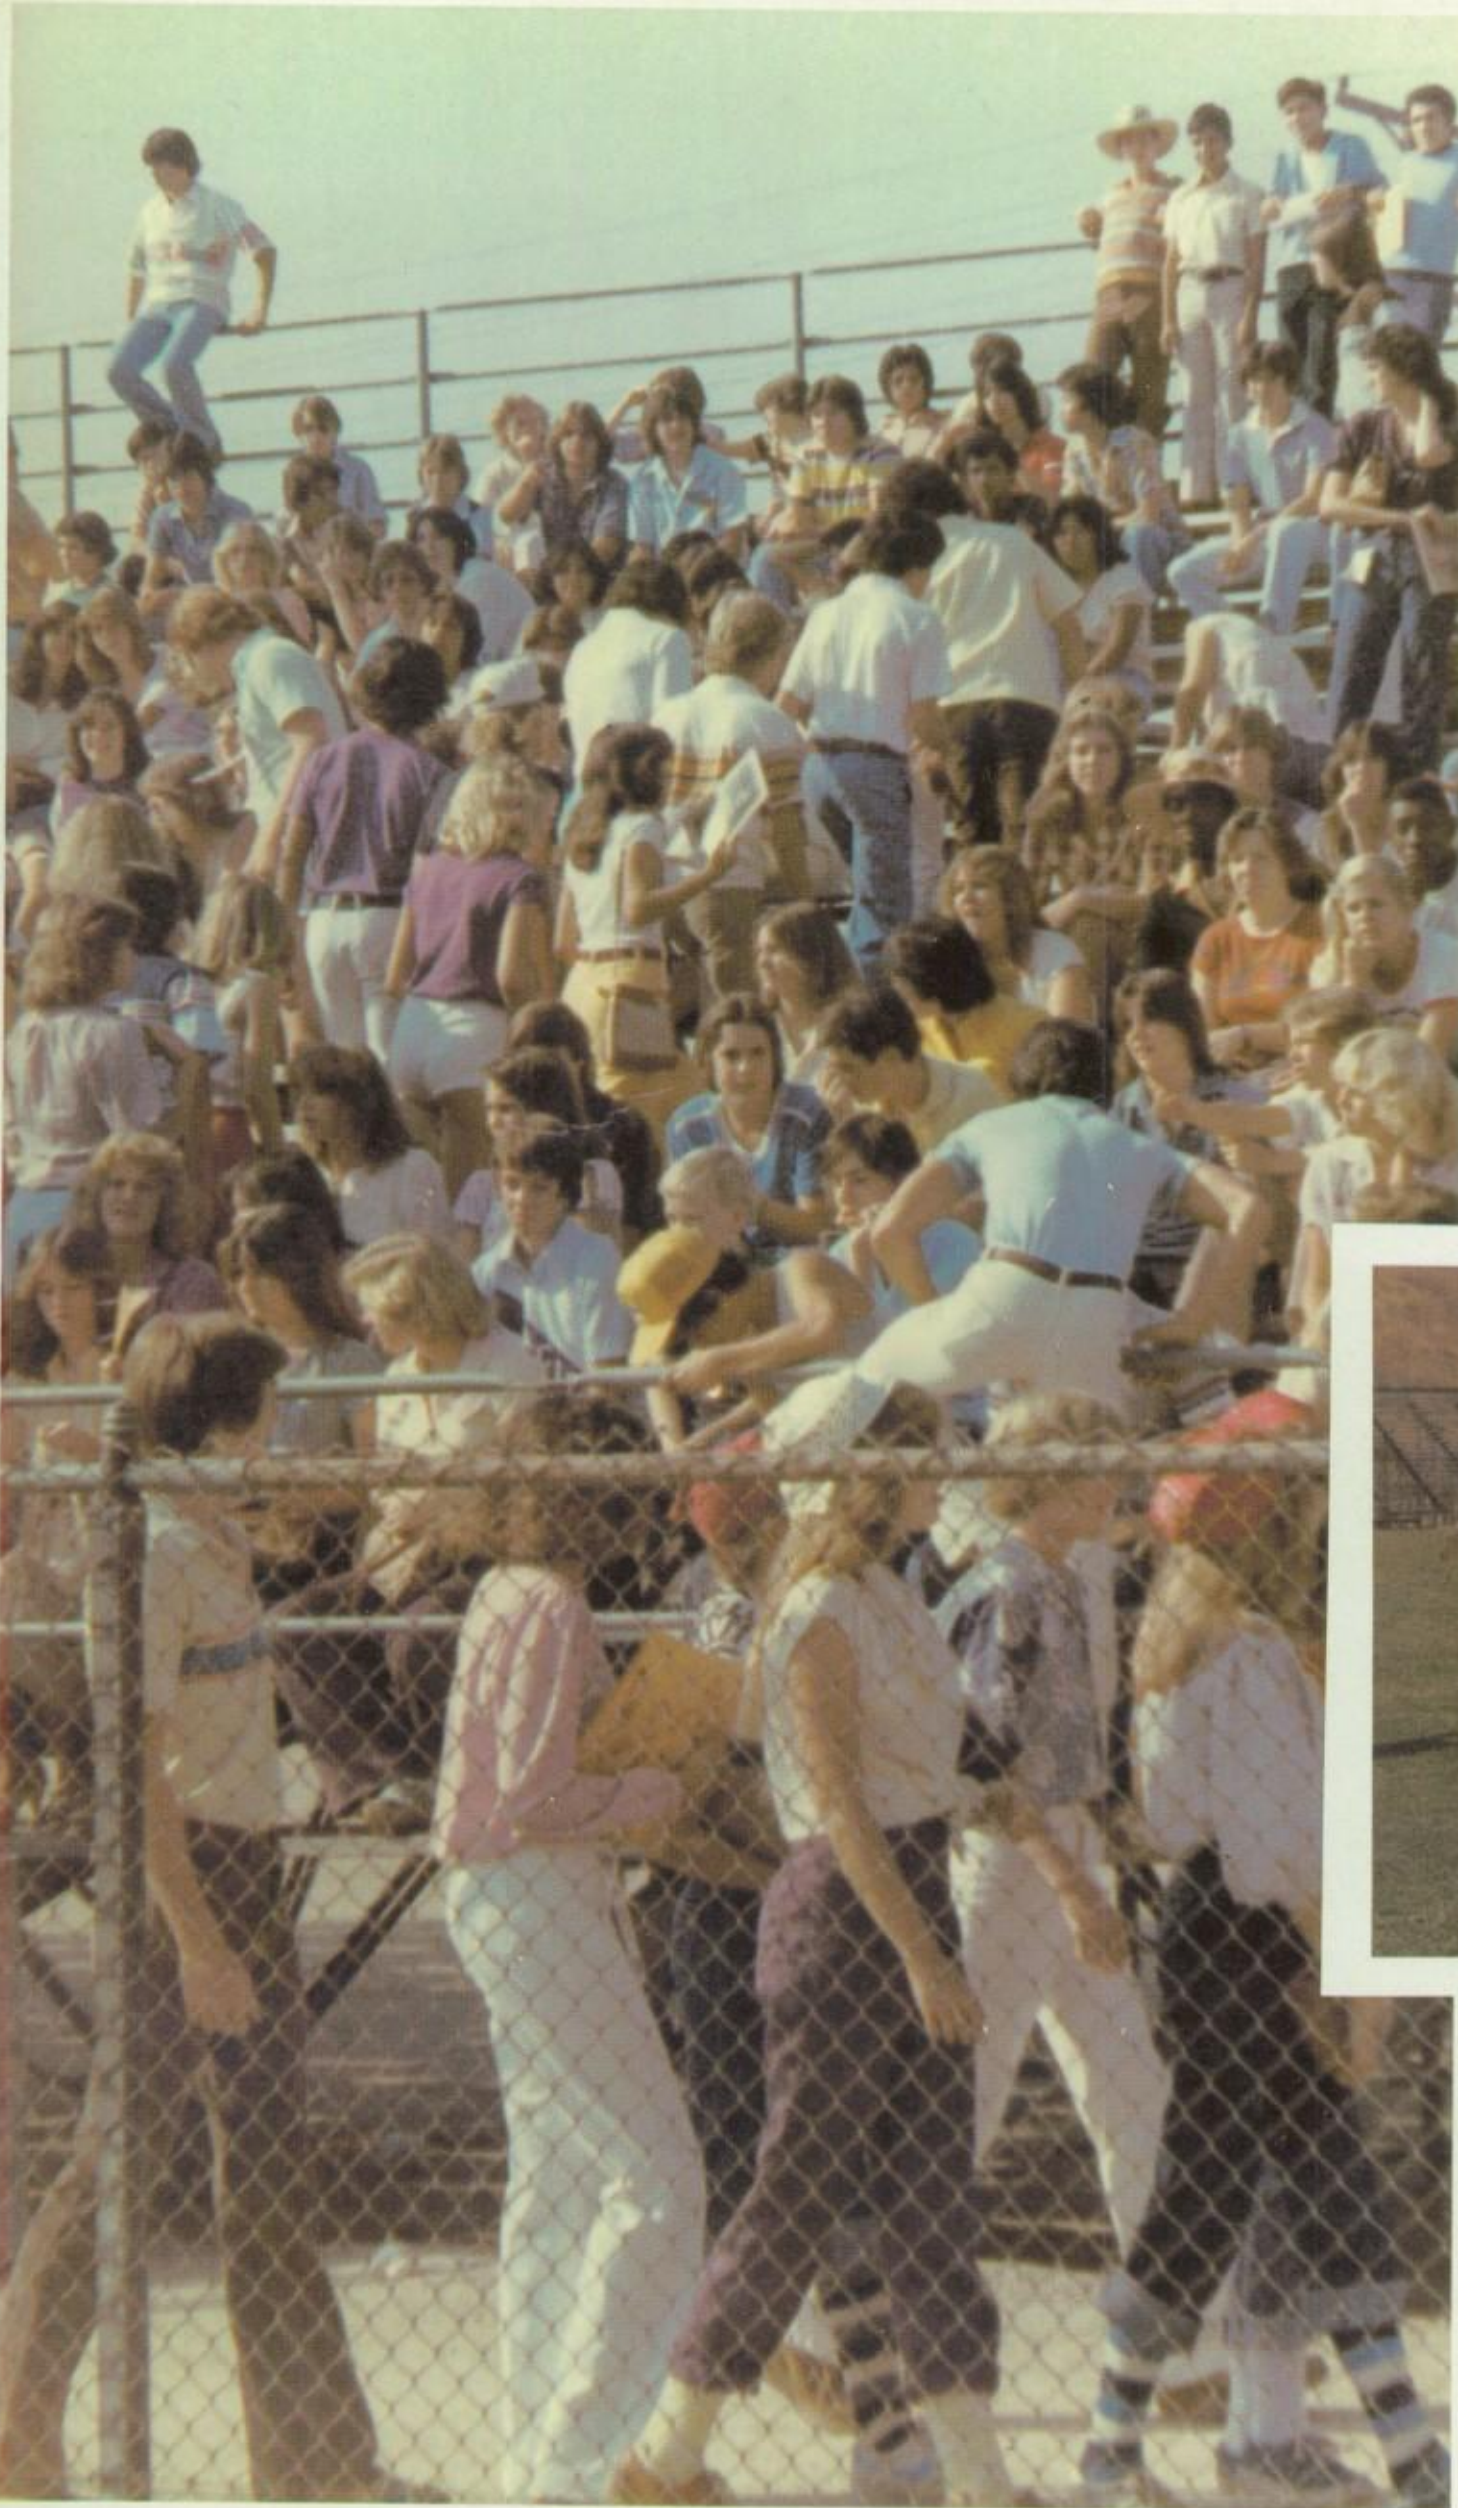

VISIONS OF THE FUTURE — After the long, sleepless night, it was up to the judges to decide who would be this year's Sweepstakes winner. Here the finished product exemplified the theme of Visions of the Future. ▲

WAITING IN THE WINGS

The underclassmen enjoyed watching the seniors suffer through their last year. Each class had different responsibilities and unforgettable experiences. Together they gave the seniors support and survived from one year to the next.

WE'VE GOT SPIRIT . . . — The spirited rallies played an important role in the building up of the Pirate morale. They gave our football team the confidence it needed for its most successful season in 14 years. ◀

SHAKE YOUR CABOOSE — Freshman, Lisa Norquist and sophomore, Angie Miller were really excited to be in leadership this year. Though it was only their first year, they had all the moves of an old pro as shown above. ▲

BUSINESS BEFORE PLEASURE

PROVE IT — Sophomores Lani Cohn and Karen Davis listen carefully to Mrs. Frank and her theorms of Geometry, but by the end of the year, they were sick to death of all those "stupid" proofs. Whereas Joe Gallardo, just couldn't get into Geometry, period. ▼

MAD SCIENTISTS — In their Intro. to Chemistry and Physics class, freshmen Beth Haiston, Lisa Arellano, and Keeli Hetzer enjoy working in the lab. ◀

TWO LITTLE LOVE BIRDS — Most underclassmen, though they spent much of their time earning enough credits to graduate, still found time for a little romance. ▲
MAKING THE GRADE — Freshman James Durant found out that it wasn't that hard to make the grade in high school. ◀

Annette,
Thank you for letting sign your annual! I still want to be friends. I sure hope you're graduating because it's almost over. I'm happy
your friend
Beth Shupe

As the sun sets below the hills,
So ends another glorious day.
A day filled with many thrills
Has come, and silently slipped away.
Again and again the sun will fall
As time marches on in its steady pace.
The days fly by, one and all,
As if life were an eternal race.
High school days fade away just the same,
Yet after you choose your road of endeavor,
This treasure chest of Pirate fame
Will always be yours forever and ever.
— Greg Kaseno

In June the weathered and battered pirate ship returned to port. The seasick crew was filled with excitement towards their 3 months of summer vacation. But as usual, the seaworthy captain still looked ahead to September when the pirate ship would have all hands on deck, masts risen, and be ready to sail again.

Class of '80

The memories of high school were very special ones. Many seniors wished that every day of their four years at Pacific could have been bottled up and treasured forever. Although there were times when giving up seemed like the only escape, the seniors survived. There was a special closeness that prevailed over the graduating class of the 1979-80 year.

SENIORS

LEADERS OF THE SENIOR CLASS

The faithful leaders of the senior class led the pack through graduation, Baccalaureate, and the selection of a class motto, song and gift. The class officers and sponsors diligently planned the grand finale for the graduating class of 1980.

YOU'VE GOT TO BE JOKING — Vice President Lori Storer could not see any significance in Mr. Havemann's ridiculous proposal. ▼

LET'S GET IT RIGHT — Was Lynn Leberknight's motto in directing drill team as well as being secretary of the senior class. ▲
KEEPING TO THE BEAT — Irma Dias managed the money that the senior class brought in and tried to keep the beat at the same time. ▲
BOY, THAT WAS DEEP — Representative Mike Hudson sat astonished at the deep discussion of his fellow class officers. ▲

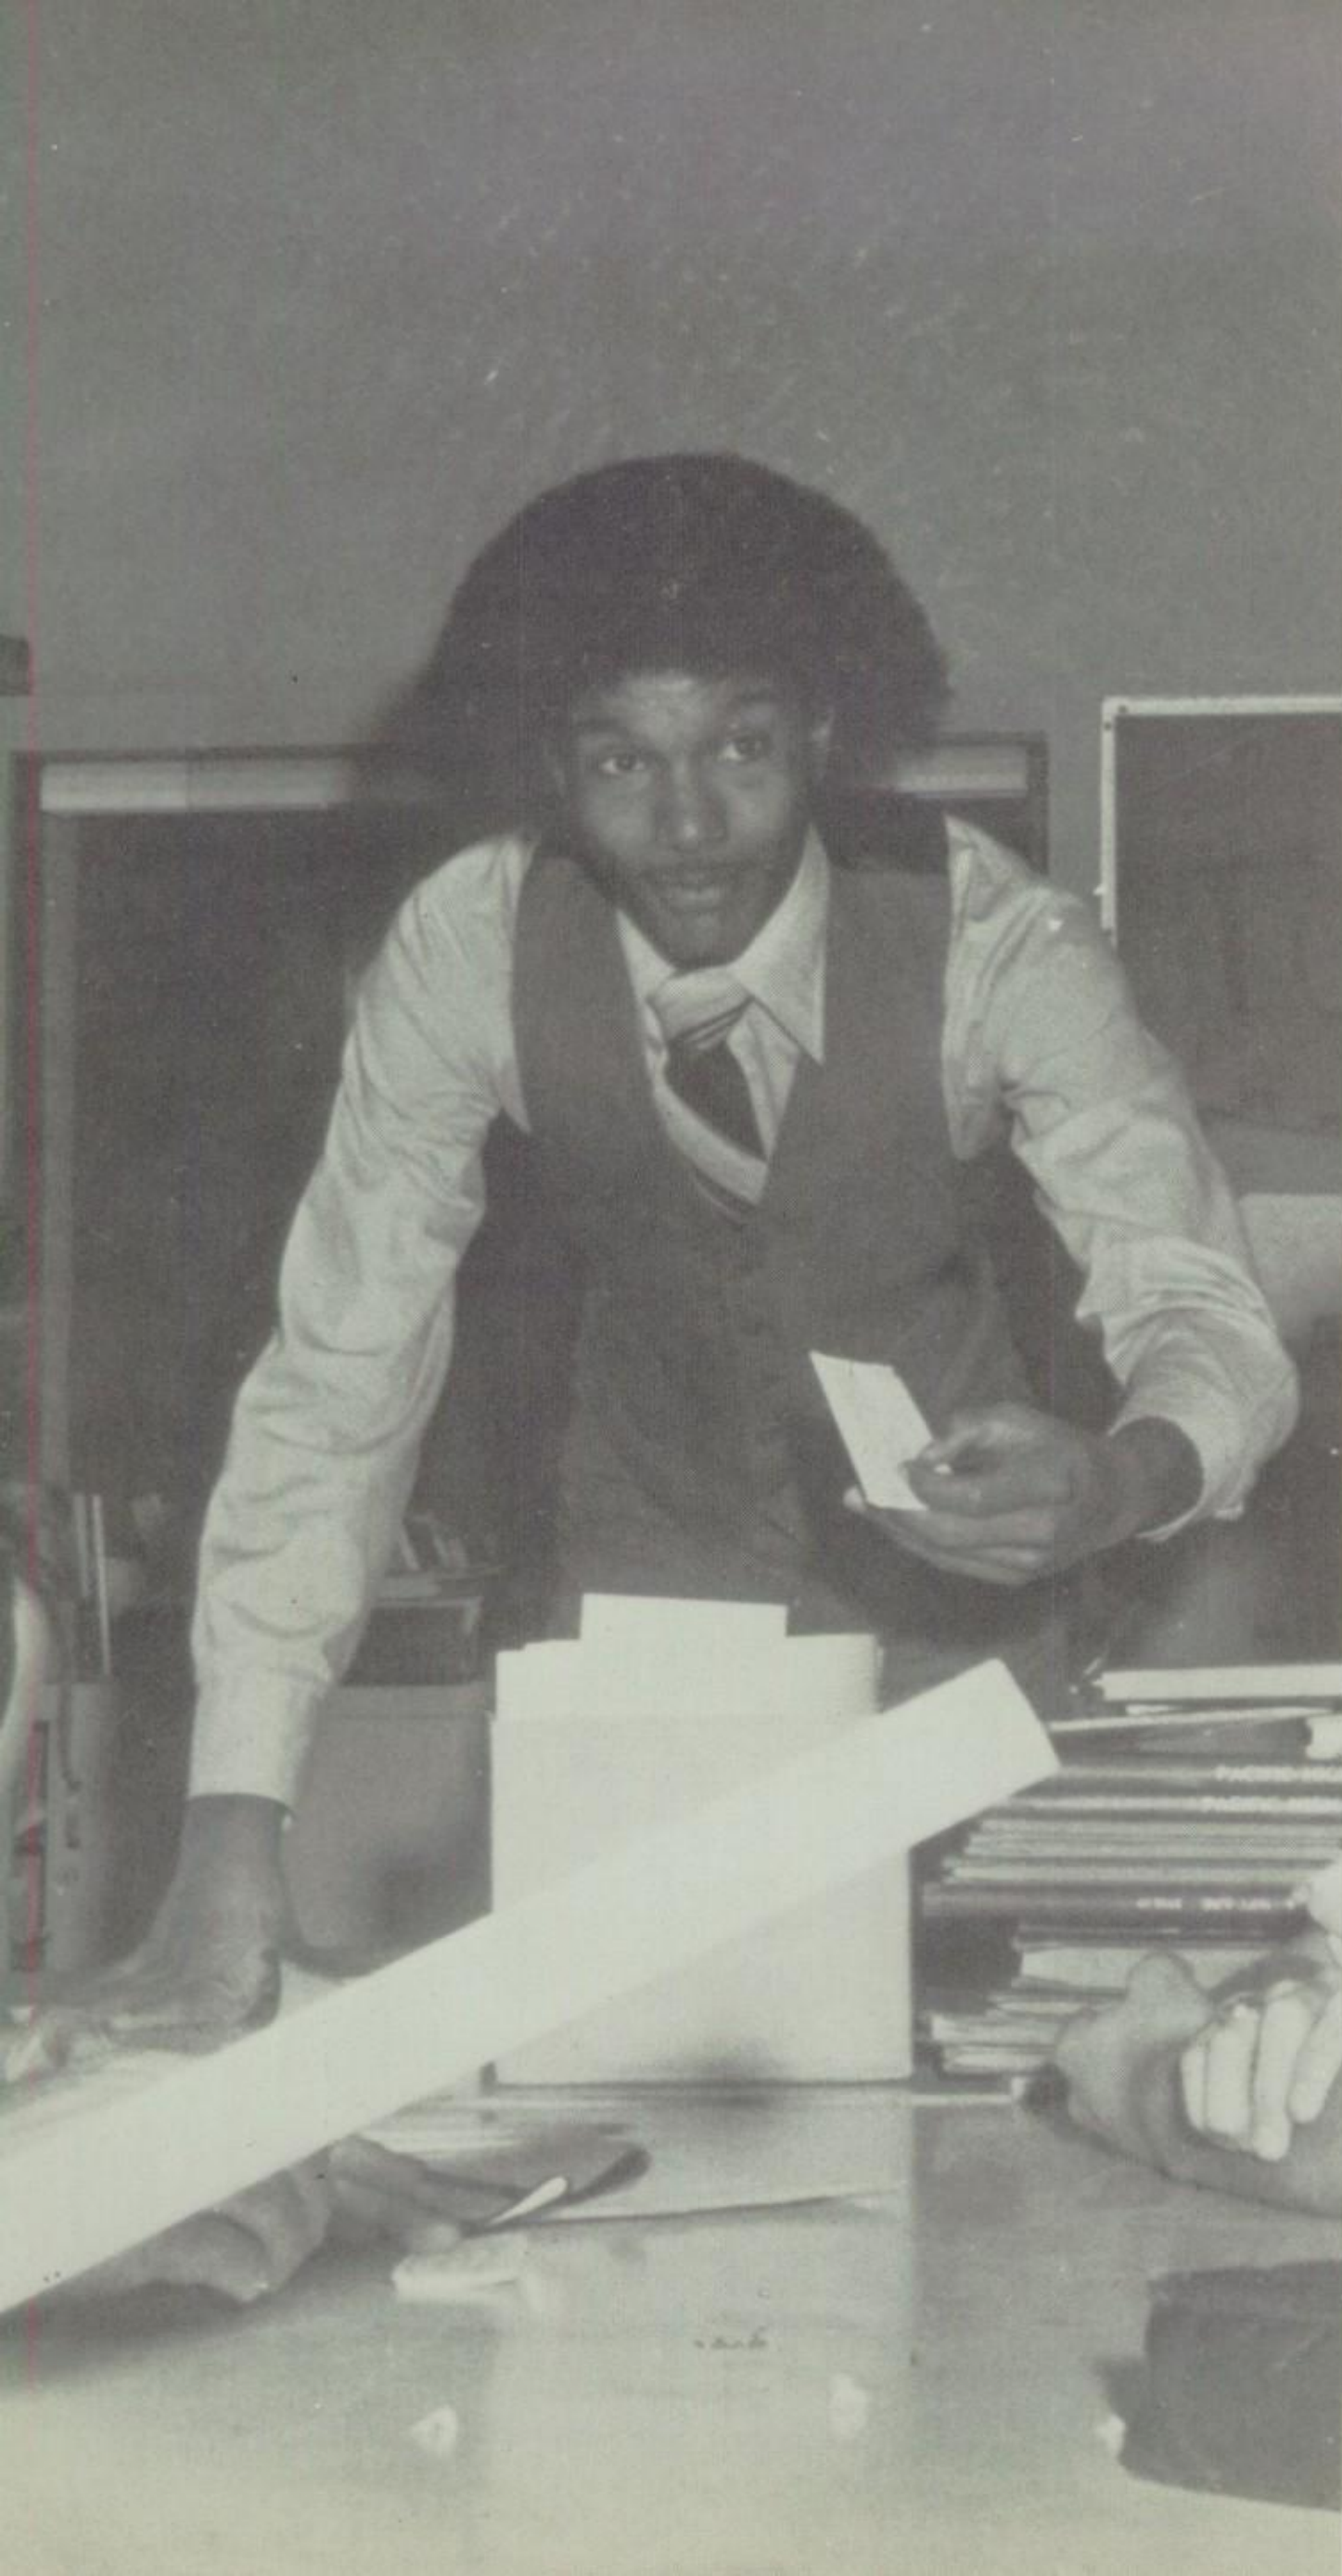

Mr.
Havemann

Mrs.
Jeffords

Mrs.
Fiegner

LEADER OF THE PAC — Senior class president, Steve Wilson, displayed true leadership qualities and set a fantastic example for the lower classmen of a real "super pirate." ◀

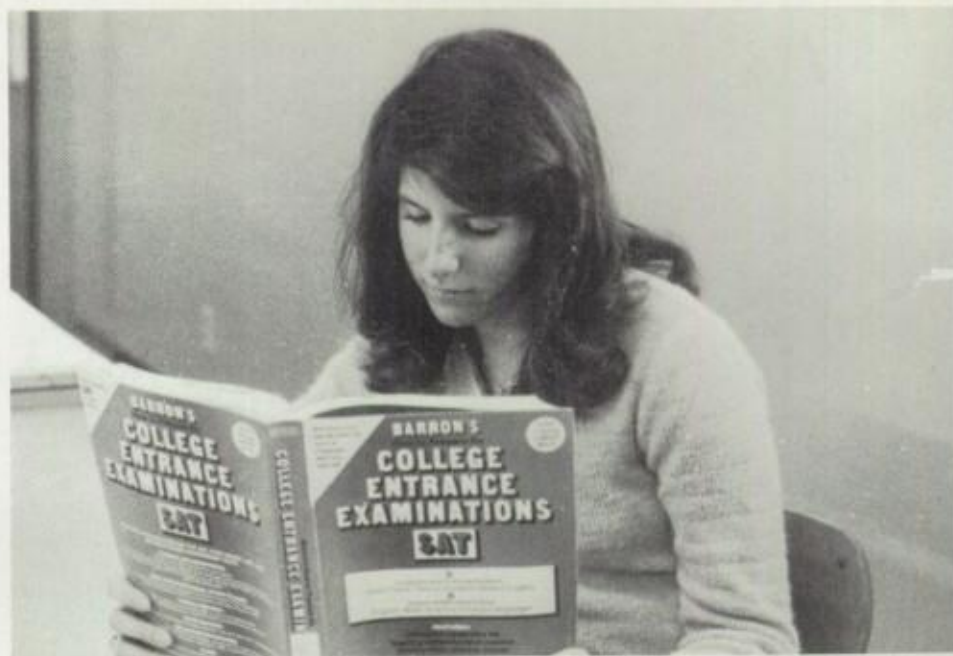

TOTAL BLAHSVILLE — Chuck Morrison put on the pretense of listening attentively at the senior class meeting, for a representative he felt it was his duty. ▲

RADIATION — Doing her part as a class of '80 Rep., Ines Warren, provided the true inspiration that her presence radiated. ▲

THERE WAS JUST NO USE — Like many of the seniors from all over San Bernardino, Dana Norquist came to the conclusion that trying to study for the big day was just a pain in the neck. ►

MENTAL ANGUISH

Squeezed in between the parties, football games, skiing and work, the seniors suffered through the taking of the SAT test. The famous question that bounced off the walls of the cold testing center was, "I'm supposed to know this?"

YOU MEAN WE WERE SUPPOSED TO KNOW THIS STUFF? — Taking the S.A.T. was hard work. As you can see Craig Fosdick is trying to find the answer to number one. ▲

THANK GOODNESS IT'S ALL OVER — Exhausted students left the test site, relieved when they finally conquered the monster of the S.A.T. ►

LENDING A HAND TO HELP HER COMMUNITY

Lending helping hands, most seniors contributed to the community through employment in the chaotic working world or by gracious volunteer work. Giving time and love seemed to be the most gratifying way to lend a helping hand to the community.

TENDER AND LOVING HEARTED — Volunteer work was especially easy for Judy Edge because of her natural talent in tender loving care.▲

ONE OF THE GOOD HANDS PEOPLE — With all of her many outside activities of service around her community, Judy Edge found her hands full with the homework and other pressing demands poured upon her as a graduating senior.▲

A FRIENDLY SMILE — Judy Edge always had a gracious lending hand in helping her customers pick out that perfect card.▲

come

THANK GOD IT'S FRIDAY —
After surviving an otherwise ho-hum week Pacific seniors made up for their boring times by hitting the pizza parlors to satisfy the "munchies," getting their exercise at the miniature golf parks, and relaxing to a tear — jerking show at the drive-in. ◀

THAT'S ENTERTAINMENT

Besides working, eating and sleeping, seniors miraculously found time to be social. Skipping off to the pizza parlor, movies, or the nearest miniature golf course with their bosom buddies was a regular routine. A senior year was a time to kick back and relax and the 1980 seniors did not let this commandment down.

SENSATIONAL SENIORS

AT THE END OF A TOUGH YEAR — R. Wolff J. Graham, S. Crane, R. Jordan, G. Kaseno, B. Roberts, L. Costello, C. Jones, D. Norquist, V. Gonzales, all of them agreed that it was a tough year, but after seeing the finished results of a yearbook, they all came out with smiles. ▲

A NEW DIVE?? — Varsity diver, Russell Rebmann, wants to get all the aspects of diving, . . . even if it means hanging upside down to do it. ◀

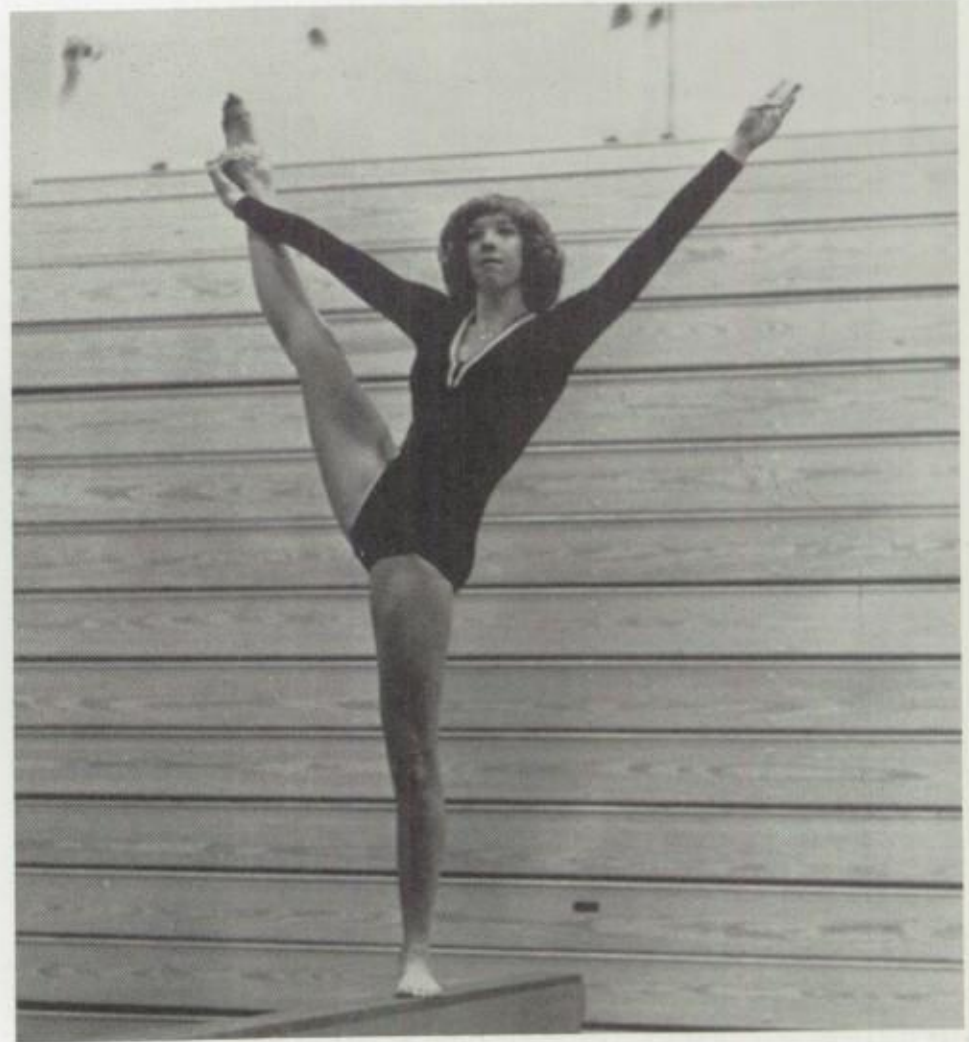

ASPECTS ON LIFE! — As Virginia Gonzales flashes the unmistakable peace sign she keeps all pirate enthusiasts well informed on our great basketball team. ◀

DAYDREAMER! — Thinking of the upcoming weekend, Keri Campbell does not always keep her mind on Mr. Martinez's American Government class. ▼

EMPTY THOUGHTS — As picture caption editor Barbara Roberts often runs out of eye-catching phrases. ▼

A REAL ARTIST — Brian Laub proved his talent by being found in the art room often. His drawings were found everywhere including the front of HI-TIDE. ►
TWIRL, TWO, THREE, FOUR — As Pacific's head twirler Susan Strailey often brought home many trophies from parades with the band. ▼

UM, UM, UM, — Gloria Davis proved more than once she had a way with words when it came to giving speeches. ►

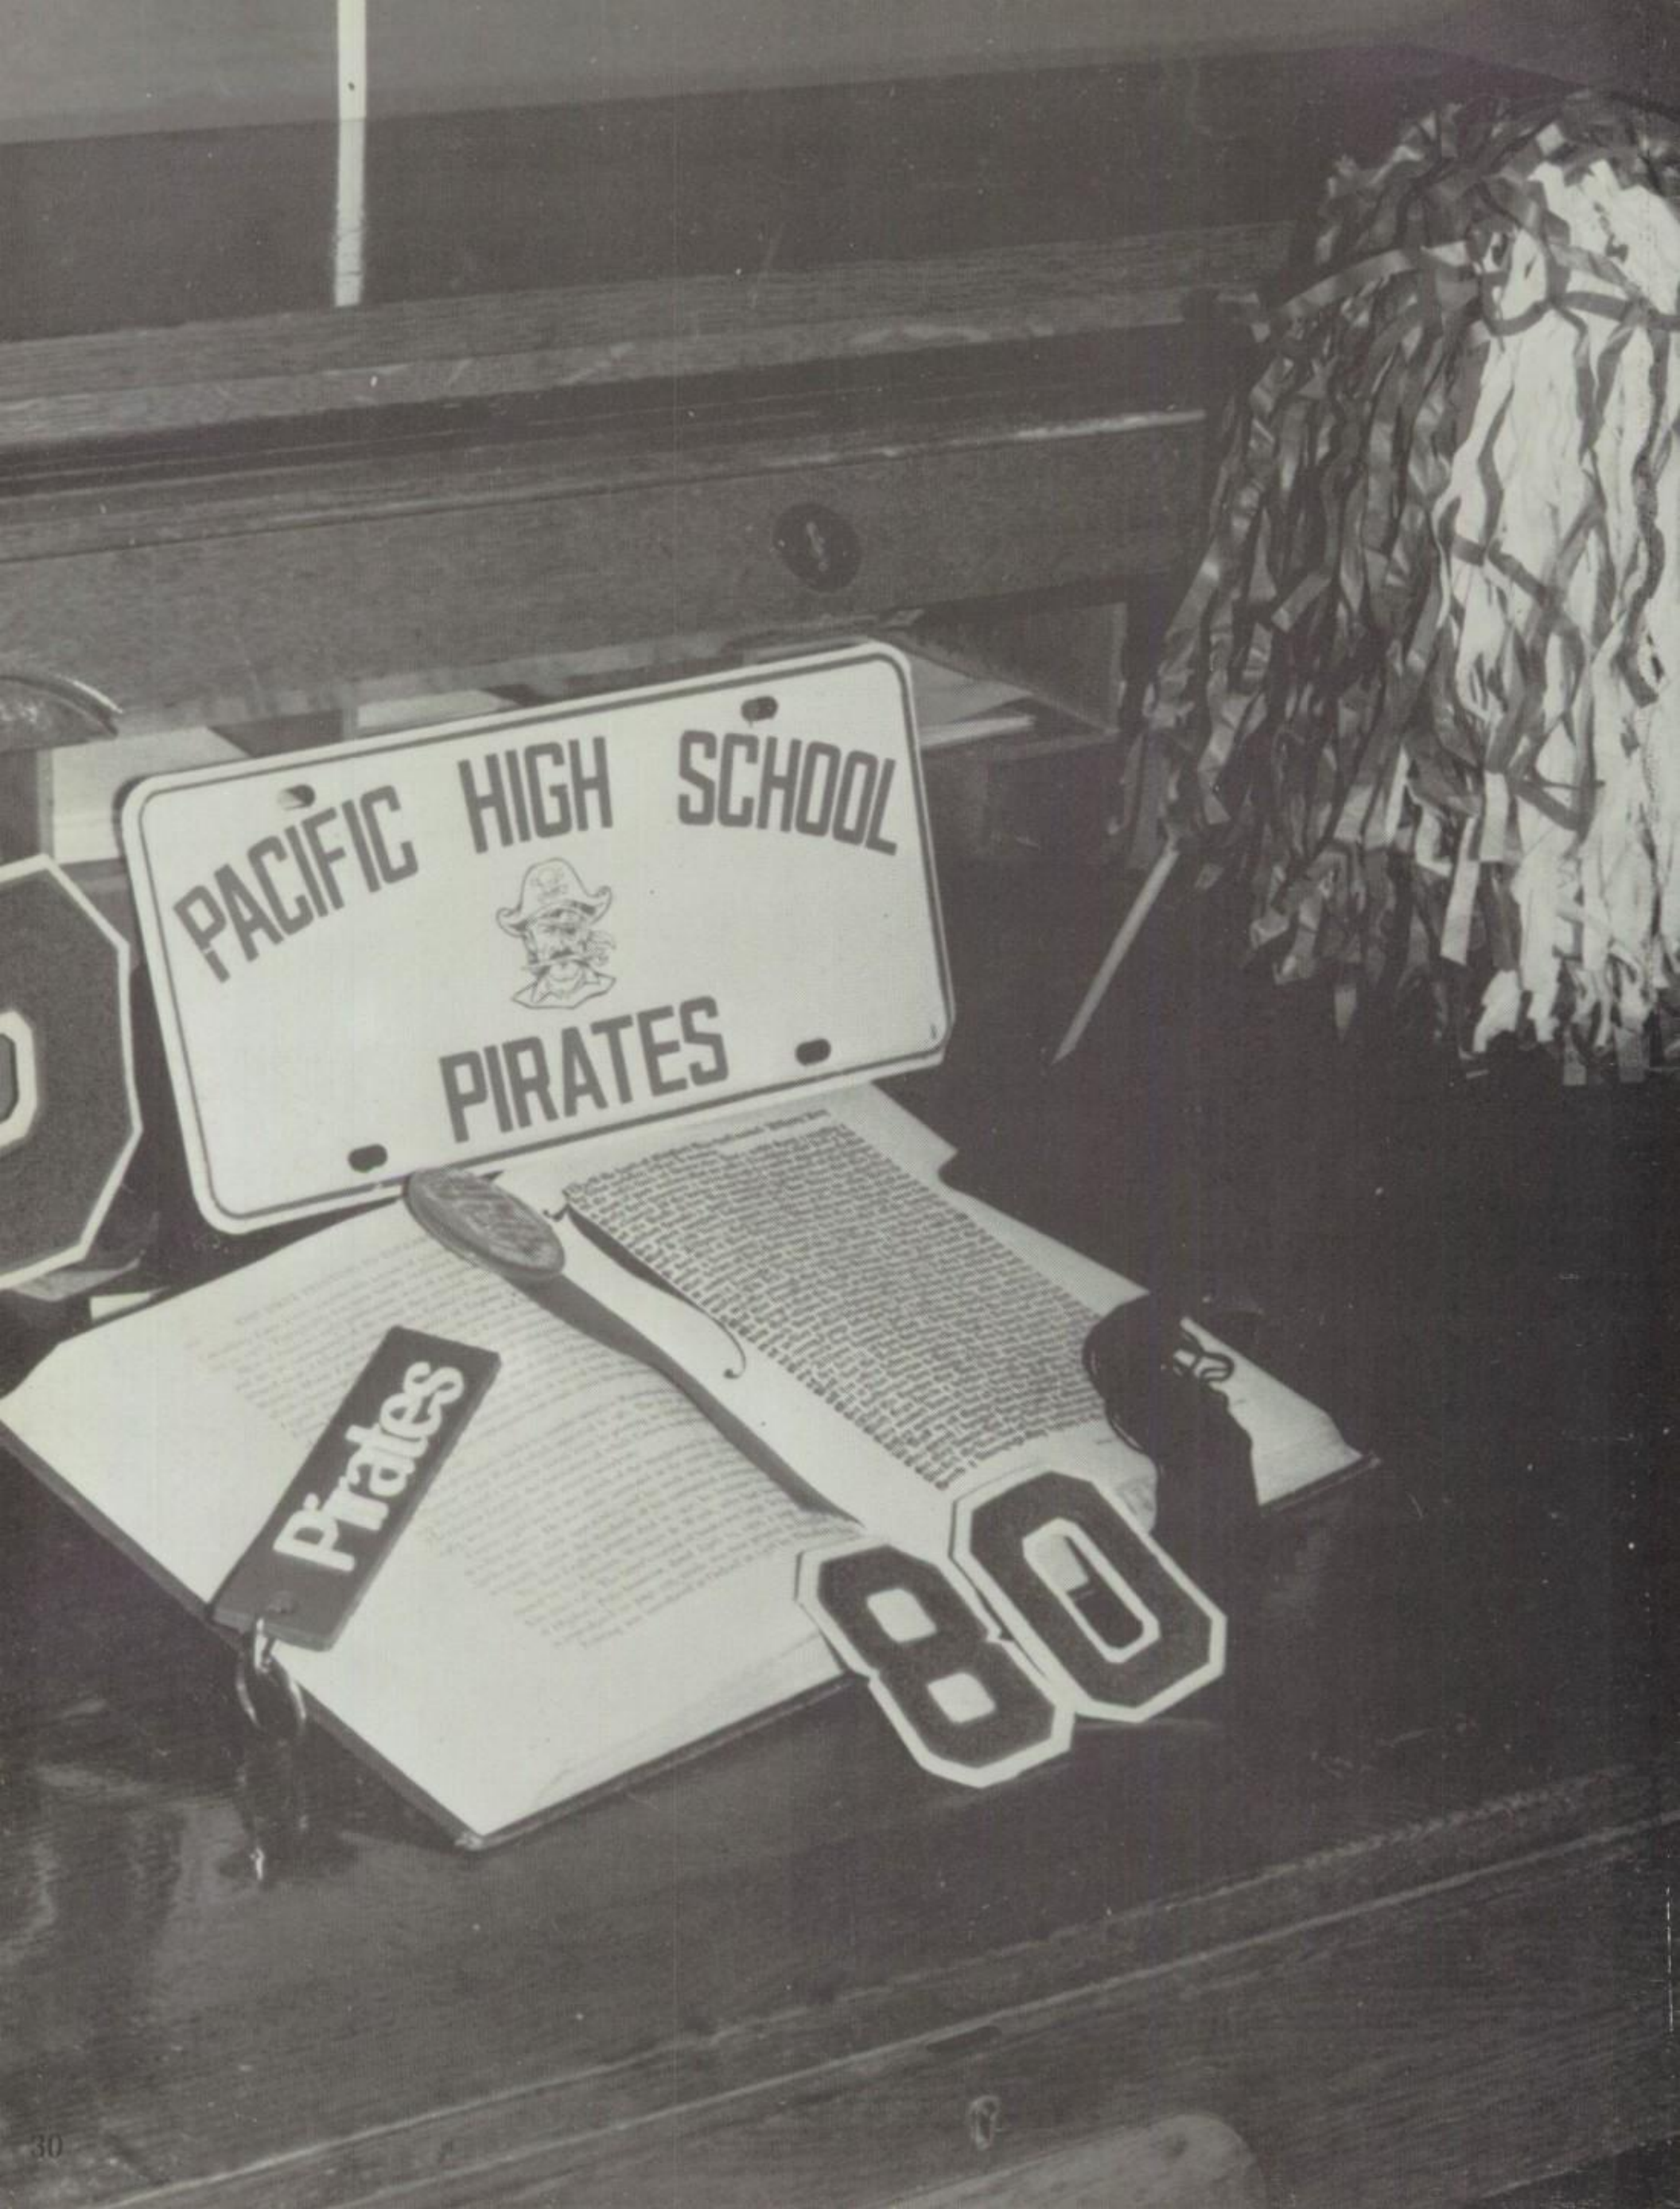

PAC HIGH WAS FULL OF TALENT

Every person has a talent, some just discover it sooner than others. Many seniors had found their gift and did their best to share it with the whole student body.

CRACK GOES THE BACK — Karen Ross spent many hours in the gym practicing her gymnastics.
DOE, RE, ME — With his gorgeous voice Dominic Young put many captivated audiences under his spell. ◀

IS IT BACH? BEETHOVEN? — With a little help from a friendly piano, Eric Fox proved without a doubt that he had lots of talent. ▼

As we now remember and look forward, we see how much we owe to others. These debts that can never be paid are owed to our teachers, but even more important, to our parents, who laid the foundation for school and life. And we thank you, too, Pacific. We will remember you and cherish our memory always.

Halls of Ivy

THE END IS JUST THE BEGINNING

ANXIOUS GUESTS — Family and friends gather to share in the proud moment of Pacific's 1979-1980 graduating class. ▲

THINKING BACK — The teachers of Pacific remember the special night many years ago when they were graduating. ▲

THE TIME APPROACHES — Nearing the end, the soon to be alumni pirates, think back on the four years they spent at Pacific. ▲

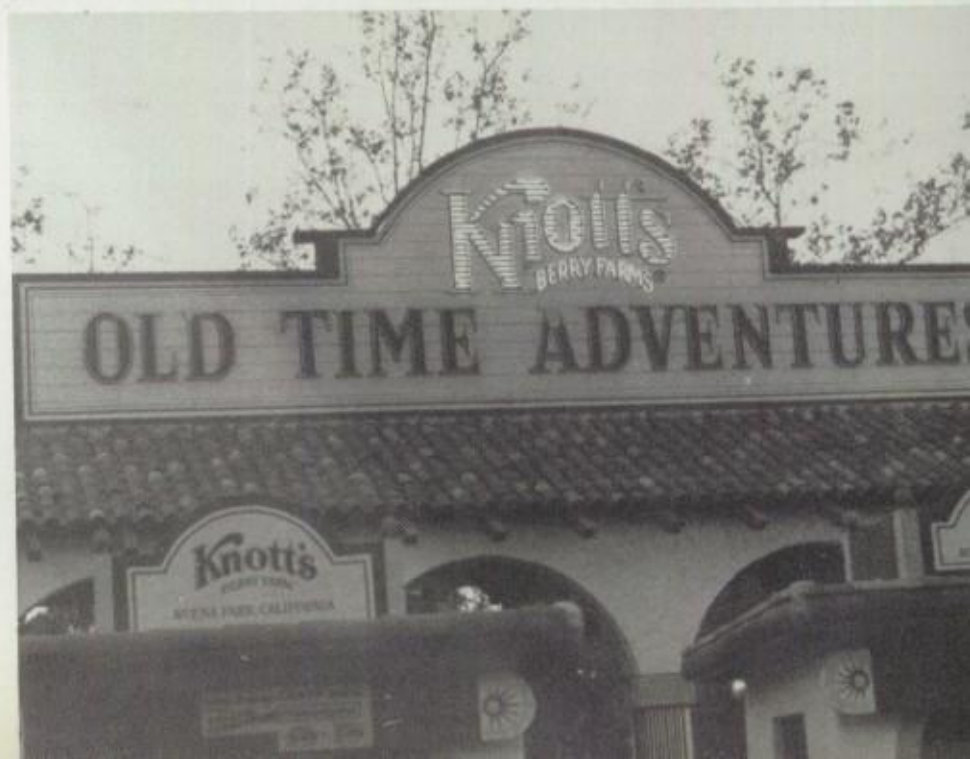

K IS FOR KIDS AND KIDS ARE FOR KNOTTS

"K is for Kids," so Knotts is where Pacific's 1980 graduating seniors spent their last rip-roaring evening together on the town. Losing their stomachs on scary rides, stuffing their faces with millions of munchies and dancing til' their feet couldn't go anymore were the highlights of the long night. Each senior returned home with their high school buddies united as the senior class of 1980.

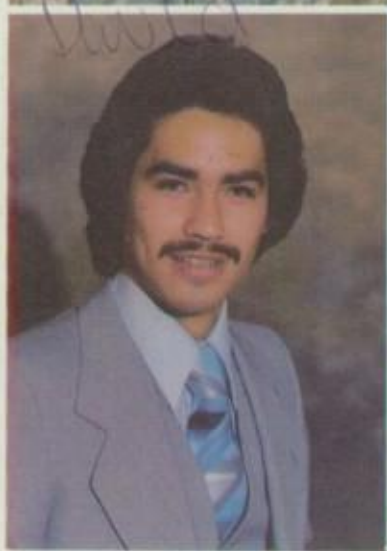

TAKING THE HEAT OFF — The beauty of the Log Ride scenes was nice, but was far outweighed by the cool relief the runs provided in an otherwise scorching hot afternoon. ▲
MORE THEIR SPEED — For a change of pace from all of the thrill — providing rides, these Pirates chose the tranquility of the Knotts Express which proved to be their kind of ride. ▲

"BOY," WHAT A HEAD RUSH!! — After feeling Montezumas Revenge, Judy, Lori and Rochelle decided that the Log Ride was more their speed. ►
LOOKING FOR TROUBLE — Being Rambunctious seniors, Rochelle, and Lori turned to the deserted streets of the park's eerie Calico Ghost Town to seek for some real excitement. ►
TIME FOR SOME FUN — Sneaking a day off from school, Rochelle Jordan Lori Costello, and Judy Edge decided to declare it "Seniors Day at Knotts," re-kindling their love for some old fashion fun. ►

CAMPUS PROFILE

NOTHING TO DO? — One of Todd Graham's advantages as the Annual's Sports Editor was having the authority to assign HIS work to his staff members. ▼

A CHANCE TO BE ME — Ceramics was a favorite of the talented Jackie Deam because it enabled her to really express herself. ►

FIND YOUR WAY — This map comes in handy for many students that can't seem to find their way around campus. ►

PACIFIC'S FINEST — Beaming brightly, Loreise Espinosa was crowned Queen of Pacific at Football Homecoming. ◀

A LOT TO BE PROUD OF — The artistic ability of David Aranda was a great asset to our art department, as was his association with our head cheerleader to the spirit. ▲

SENIORS, READY FOR ANYTHING

DYNAMIC DUO — Fellow seniors, Greg Kaseno and Tony Ramirez, commonly shared a dynamic personality, a dazzling smile, and a funky hat. ►

ON GUARD — Senior Pirate, Sandy Siperstein, shows her aggressions in defending her Pacific Pride. Steve Wilson made the mistake of insulting her costume. ►

HERE COMES TROUBLE — Tough Pacific was essentially a quiet campus. We had our share of problems. Some required the protection of outside help. ►

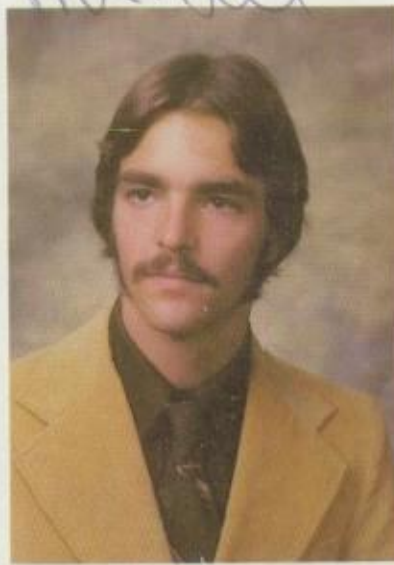

A SERENE SCENE — Despite all of the hubbub of the rest of the quad, there were a few mellow places that were surprisingly peaceful.

Hey Macdonald,
you really
are a fun person,
especially when we road
the bus together! Thanks for being a good friend!
Love,
Bob Pierazek

10 Ammte!
your a real cool
in sweet person I met in 6th period math. Maybe next year we can have a class together, see ya next year. Your friend
Cheryl

The instructional portion of the year is normally locked up safe and sound inside a teacher's filing cabinet until the following year. At the beginning of the year our teachers trudge off to school several weeks before the students and sweep away the dust surrounding their education tools; test, chalk, text books, etc . . . Ready to expand the minds of millions of pupils they put their plan into action with homework galore. At the conclusion of each year the students leave their classes bottled full of knowledge to hibernate in their brain cells until September.

FACULTY

MRS. WINTERS KEPT THE SHIP SAILING THROUGH ALL SEASONS

WHAT'S NEXT ON THE AGENDA?

— Having the demanding job of vice principal, Mr. Davitt reluctantly checked through his list of things to do. ►

CHECKING OUT THE SCENERY —

Mr. Regalado went for an afternoon stroll on campus to make sure everything was running smoothly. ►

MORE THAN ENOUGH — Once in a great while, Mr. Singer has more than he can handle in his office during the afternoon trying to take care of all the pirates. ▼

ROBERT SINGER
Vice-Principal

JOHN REGALADO
Vice-Principal

ONE RINGY DINGY — As principal, one of Mrs. Winter's tedious jobs that occupied most of her time was making a lot of phone calls. ◀

TAKING IT EASY — Mr. Davitt went to the faculty room to relax before he went aboard the ship that morning. ▼

ORVAL WINTERS
Principal

MIKE DAVITT
Vice-Principal

Without Mrs. Winters and three hard working vice-principals, the student body at Pacific would have had no one to look up to as a symbol of authority and guidance.

ANCHORS AWAY FOR PACIFIC'S COUNSELORS — Trini Aceves, Barbara Bailey, Dick Coffin, Mary Jane Swenson, Eleanor Taylor, John Will, Calvin White. ▼

Many special people contributed to making lives of confused students orderly. When the pirate ship left harbor on Sept. 10, mass chaos prevailed. Shipmates desperately needed schedule changes, lockers etc. . . . Spontaneously students ran to these people, who successfully maneuvered our ship into calm waters.

AN ORIGINAL CAPTAIN

THE REFLECTION OF EXPERIENCE — Having been in the teaching profession since 1954,
Mr. Harbaugh had developed a polished technique that showed all of his many years of experience. ▼

A MAGIC WAND — Known for his expertise with a directors baton,
Mr. Harbaugh magically brought forth beautiful harmony from the musicians under his instruction. ▼

HE'S STILL THE ONE —
Directing the concert band occupied most of Harry H's time in his earlier years at Pacific. While the 80's found him relaxed, enjoying his retirement from the history department. ▼

“The time comes when all good things must come to an end.” After 26 years of teaching Mr. Harbaugh retired and put his teaching behind him. He has memories of being a band leader and a history teacher stored away, but his life of retirement opened new doors for more good things.

"IS EVERYTHING O.K.?" — As a waitress checks on the Drury sisters, Mr. Green and Mr. Reed discuss the day's events. ▼

A WELL-MATCHED PAIR — As devoted leaders of the 1980 Pac, it only seemed fitting to have ASB President, Lydia O'Campo, be the date of successful football coach, Tom Hoak, for the annual Faculty Feed sponsored by Sobobans. ▼

"SO WHAT'S NEW?" — Both being sports enthusiasts, Mrs. Olsen and Sheri Shellhammer found much to talk about during the exciting evening at Bings Cathay Inn. ▼

TWO ON ONE — Being honored with a beautiful woman on each side of him, Mr. Havemann gladly tried, but found it hard, to spread his charm to both of his jealous companions, Lima Long and Wendy Mee. ▼

March 12 was the night the Sobobans picked up their handsome dates. Bing's Cathay was the place, 6:30 was the time and the chinese meal was scrumptious. The evening gave the Sobobans an opportunity to know their teachers as people too.

A CASE OF STARVATION

EACH TEACHER HAD SPECIAL QUALITIES

A teacher is someone who instructs. Special members of the faculty added immensely to this weak definition. They were always there giving graciously of their time to a student that needed extra guidance, or when there was an odd job to be done. Each teacher had special qualities that he unselfishly contributed to making life at Pacific a little bit easier.

HE HAD HIS HANDS FULL — Mr. Martin ran out of patience with some of his students, and therefore, took out his aggressions on the mounds of clay. ►

WHAT WAS I TALKING ABOUT? — Current events was the topic of many of Mr. Martinez lectures, but most of his students verified that nothing occupied more of his time and thinking, than his love, Theda Bara. ►

I'VE HAD ENOUGH! — As this year's new athletic director, Mr. Elton found that he had more pressures than expected in his dual role which included advising student council. ▲

ANOTHER DR. JECKYL — The deranged Mr. Thompson cautiously added the final ingredient needed to finish his potion. ▲

MUSICAL MANIAC — In teaching the vocal music classes, Mr. Will showed his enthusiasm quite often through his own unique way of directing. He felt more at home doing his thing in the music department than in his office as one of the school's new counselors. ◀ YOU'LL STAY 'TILL YOU GET IT RIGHT — Randy Wolff began to tire as Mr. Taylor, his teacher for English 4AP, went over the correct outlining procedures one more time. ▲

PLAYING IN THE MUD

NOT ANOTHER MUSCLE — Tired of heaving mud, Mr. Uren rested on his shovel, almost wishing he was at home correcting history papers. ▶

TO THE RESCUE — Because of the mud slide disaster, Mr. Green, Mr. Petersen (a neighbor), Mr. Weiss, Mr. Uren, and Mr. Dickey, along with other faculty, came to the aid of their fellow teacher, Mrs. Frank and helped her son in clearing the intruding mud. ▼

Torrents of rain brought down the Harrison basin flood mud which surrounded one of Pacific's faithful instructors, Mrs. Frank. Clean-up crews from far and wide came to the rescue. Faculty members donated their time and shoveling muscles to clear the devastating mud away from the home.

LENDING A HAND — Using his sheer strength, former counselor, Russ Lackner, added a lot of help with his trusty tool in hand, shoveling the surrounding mud. ▶

TAKING A BREATH — With a cup of coffee, Mr. Wilson dreamed up a heroic tale to report to his social studies class about his part in the mud effort. ▶

WHERE DO I START? — Standing in the mud, Mr. Nielsen of the art department didn't know where to begin the task of cleaning up the mess. ▶

A CHANCE TO RELAX — Being a teacher, Mr. Uren uses his weekends for rest and excitement, regardless of where he was. ◀

A WILD AND CRAZY GUY — The true exciting personality of Mr. Pendergast was inhibited in his role as a science teacher, but when the school bell rang, look out. ▼

T.G.I.F.

Just because it was Friday was a good enough reason for the faculty of Pacific to gather at the Gourmet Restaurant and "party." Cocktails, an excellent meal, socializing were the highlights of the evening. The teachers who attended had an enjoyable time and wished that they could celebrate Friday's often.

IT'S PARTY TIME — When they all got together on Friday, Mrs. Broadhurst, Mr. Nielsen, Mr. and Mrs. Lackner, and Mr. Narramore really had a good time, setting aside all of the problems of the previous week. ▲

LETTING HIMSELF GO — Releasing the tensions of teaching English, Mr. Miller gladly joined in the fun and wished everyday could be "Friday"! ◀

OUR MRS. HILLMAN? — Though many people thought Mrs. Hillman's talents were confined to the homecoming field, she proved to be quite professed at the sport of skiing. ►

ALL AROUND OUTDOORSMAN — Besides being a successful, fantastic football coach, Tom Hoak enjoyed the great outdoors and the fulfilment of four wheeling. ▼

THERE'S MORE TO LIFE THAN TEACHING

Teachers unanimously agreed that they had no hesitations about what they'd do after an excruciating day of pounding the 3R's into the hard heads of many students.

AN EYE FOR ART — One of Mrs. Brooks' own personal pleasures was admiring the intricate works of sculpture of both amateur and the great artists. ◀

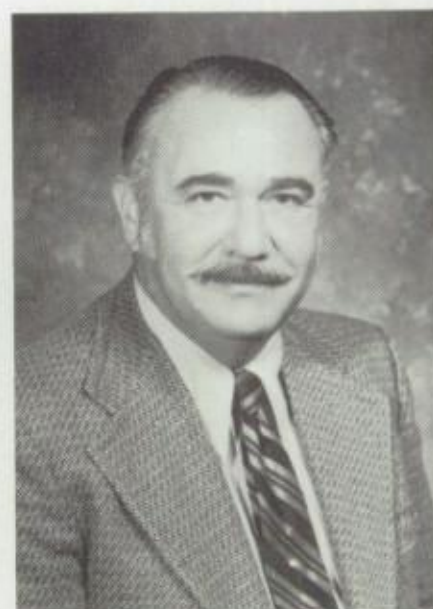

ANOTHER SPEED RACER? — Though supervising the print shop consumed much of his time, Norman Wenzel was very anxious to get home and work on his small but powerful sports car. ▼

WHO THREW THAT? — Mrs. Brooks regretted turning her back on her rowdy pupils as she wrote the day's assignment on the chalkboard.

DON'T WORRY GOODMAN'S — Mr. Brady was kept very busy in his class instructing his various students in the expertise of jewelry making.

MR. SHOW OFF — Besides being a math teacher, Mr. Bigham coached the gymnastics team for his third consecutive year. In his spare time, Coach Bigham enjoyed showing his own talent and strength in acrobatics.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

Exercise was the key to releasing tension, P.E. teachers helped students get the ants out of their pants.

GETTING INTO THE GAME — Mrs. Cooper showed her students what a really good volleyball player looked like. ▲

A TASTE OF HIS OWN MEDICINE — Is what coach Kalinich got when he realized that his team's swimming workouts were far from easy. ►

SHOOTING THE HOOP — Was Coach Bill Fox's true love, which he passed on to his C.B.L. WINNING girls. ▲

A LADY OF SERVICE — Mrs. Dominguez enjoyed playing tennis herself, besides providing her knowledgeable aid to her number one tennis team. ▲

FACULTY FRIENDSHIPS

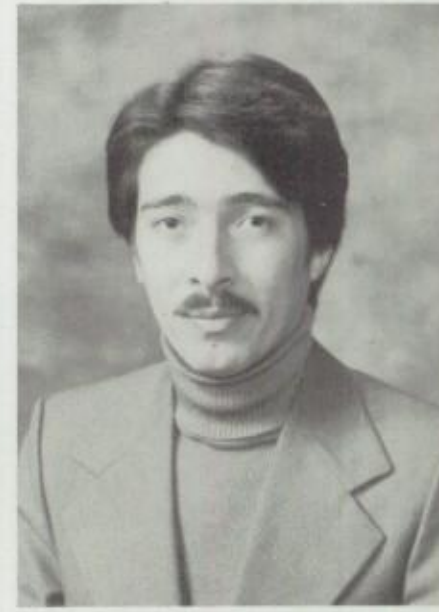

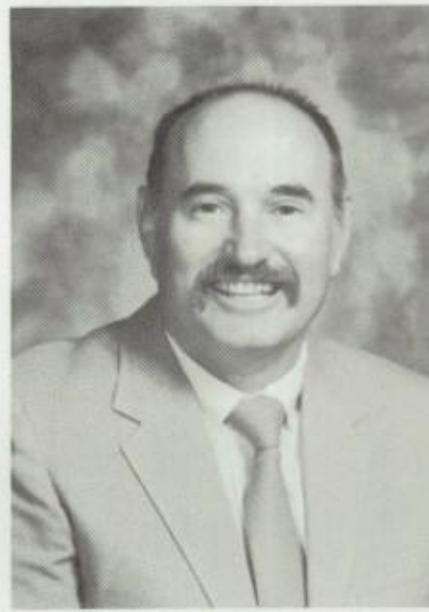

Friends are found everywhere, even on the job. Teaching was no exception. Together as friends, teachers worked towards the common goal of education, and laughed and played at the same time.

TAKING A BREATHER — Tiring of the normal routine of a social studies teacher, Mr. Harbaugh frequently relaxed with Mr. Will in a friendly game of bridge in the teachers' lounge. ▲

A REFRESHING CHANGE — Easing the pressures of a long day, coach Day and coach Hernandez casually talk in a relaxing jacuzzi. ▲

HI YA' PAL — Mr. Nielsen and Mr. Lackner reunited after Mr. Lackner had enjoyed his first year of retirement. ◀

TEACHERS OUTSIDE THE

Working the ticket booth at football and basketball games, supervising ASB dances, giving driving instructions and sponsoring clubs are just a few of the many extra things that teachers volunteer to do on after school hours. Teachers are special people. They gave graciously of their time and patience to satisfy the needs of the student body.

UNDERCOVER CHAPERONE?
— Trying to remain inconspicuous, Mr. Regalado mingled with the students, sometimes getting to his feet and clapping his hands, then remembering that he was only a chaperone. ▲

BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY
— Mr. Thames enjoyed taking his turn at an extracurricular duty of taking tickets, because he got to watch the basketball games free of charge. ▲

A NEW EXPERIENCE EVERYDAY — Teaching Drivers' Ed was one of the more challenging subjects for the teachers at Pacific, though Mr. Wise admitted that some of the challenges were experiences he would've rather missed. ◀

CLASSROOM

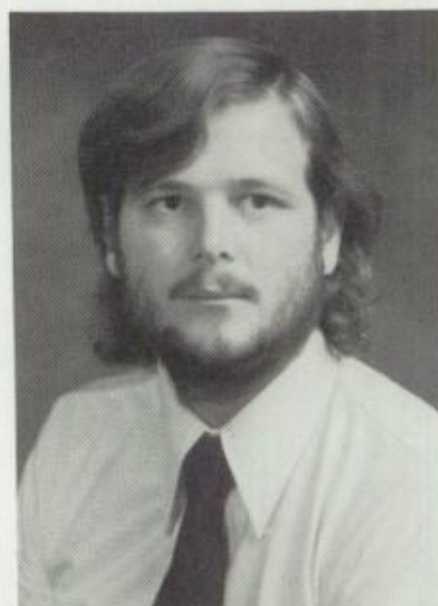

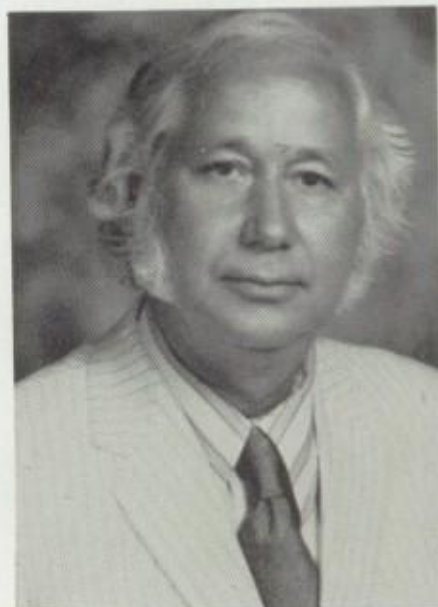

Due to the low salaries, many teachers were forced to take on a second job. "Hi, Ho, Hi, Ho, it's off to work we go" is the valiant theme song sung by several teachers at Pacific. They start their days with teaching and after they work up a good sweat they're off to another job.

NOT JUST A LIBRARIAN — For all those who knew Mr. Jones as Pacific's efficient librarian, just as many saw him in his car as a private driving instructor as shown here with Lisa Nielsen at wheel. ▼

PROFICIENT PROFESSIONS — Being as proficient at reale state as he was as a science teacher, Mr. Meade was liked by both his clients and students. ◀

POLITICS AND TEACHING — Because he was district councilman, Mr. Wheeler was able to apply his political knowledge and experience to the social studies lessons that he taught. ◀

SECURITY TAKES OVER

Security guards, secretaries, janitors and custodians kept the poop deck swabbed, spick and span. Security guards kept the crew from abandoning ship. The secretaries did everything from paperwork to receiving complains from seasick parents. The janitors and custodians never failed to miss a stray banana peel.

FAITHFUL FACES — The security staff consisted of Daymon Brooks, Ellis Brown, Carol Gionnotti, and Judy Gillespie whose faithful faces always seemed to have an uncanny sense for trouble. ▲

BUT I DIDN'T DO IT — Security officer, Judy Gillespie didn't swallow the story Ken Simon fed to her about his innocence in the case of the Security officers missing set of wheels. ▲

THE SOUL FOOD FEST

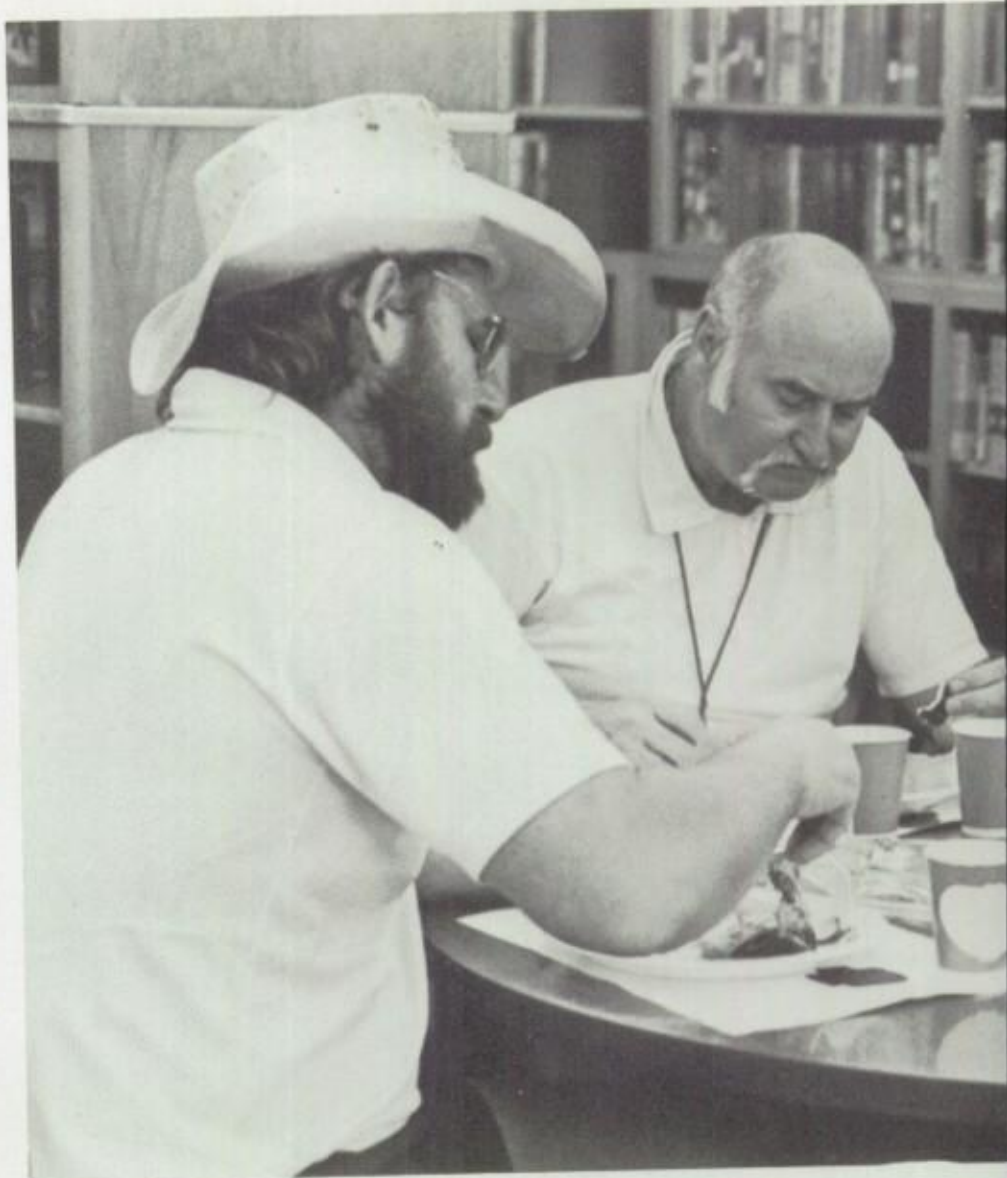

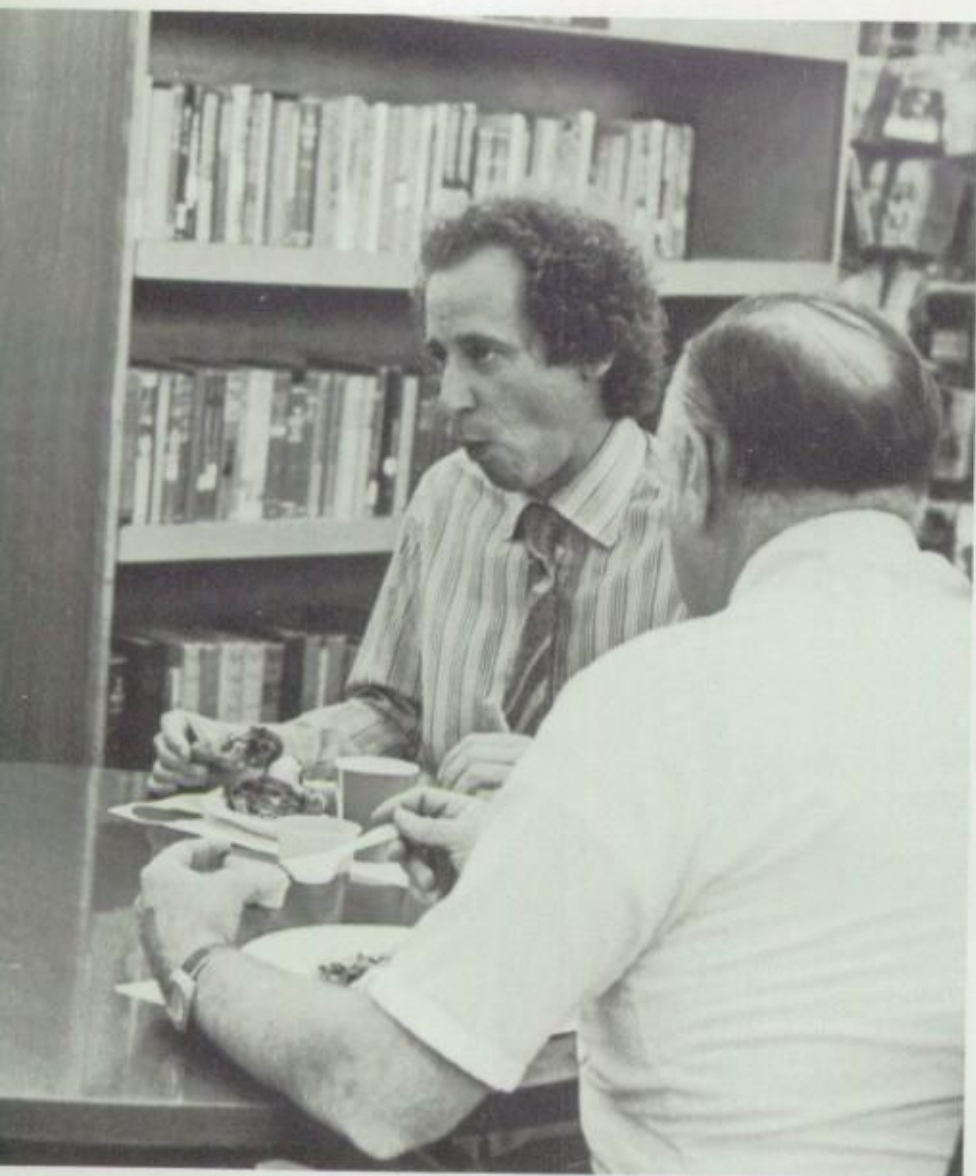

TWO OF A KIND — Teaching side-by-side at Pacific, the Cereceres' sisters were often mistaken for each other except for the times when they joined together for the faculty activities. ▲

HARD TO SWALLOW — Listening to one of coach Finazzo's wild stories, Coach Fox, Mr. Davitt, and Mr. Jones found it hard to swallow the results of his weekend fishing trip. ▲

LOVE THEM GRITS — Satisfying his craving for some genuine grits, Mr. O'Brien expressed his thanks by gratefully accepting his share of vittles. ▲

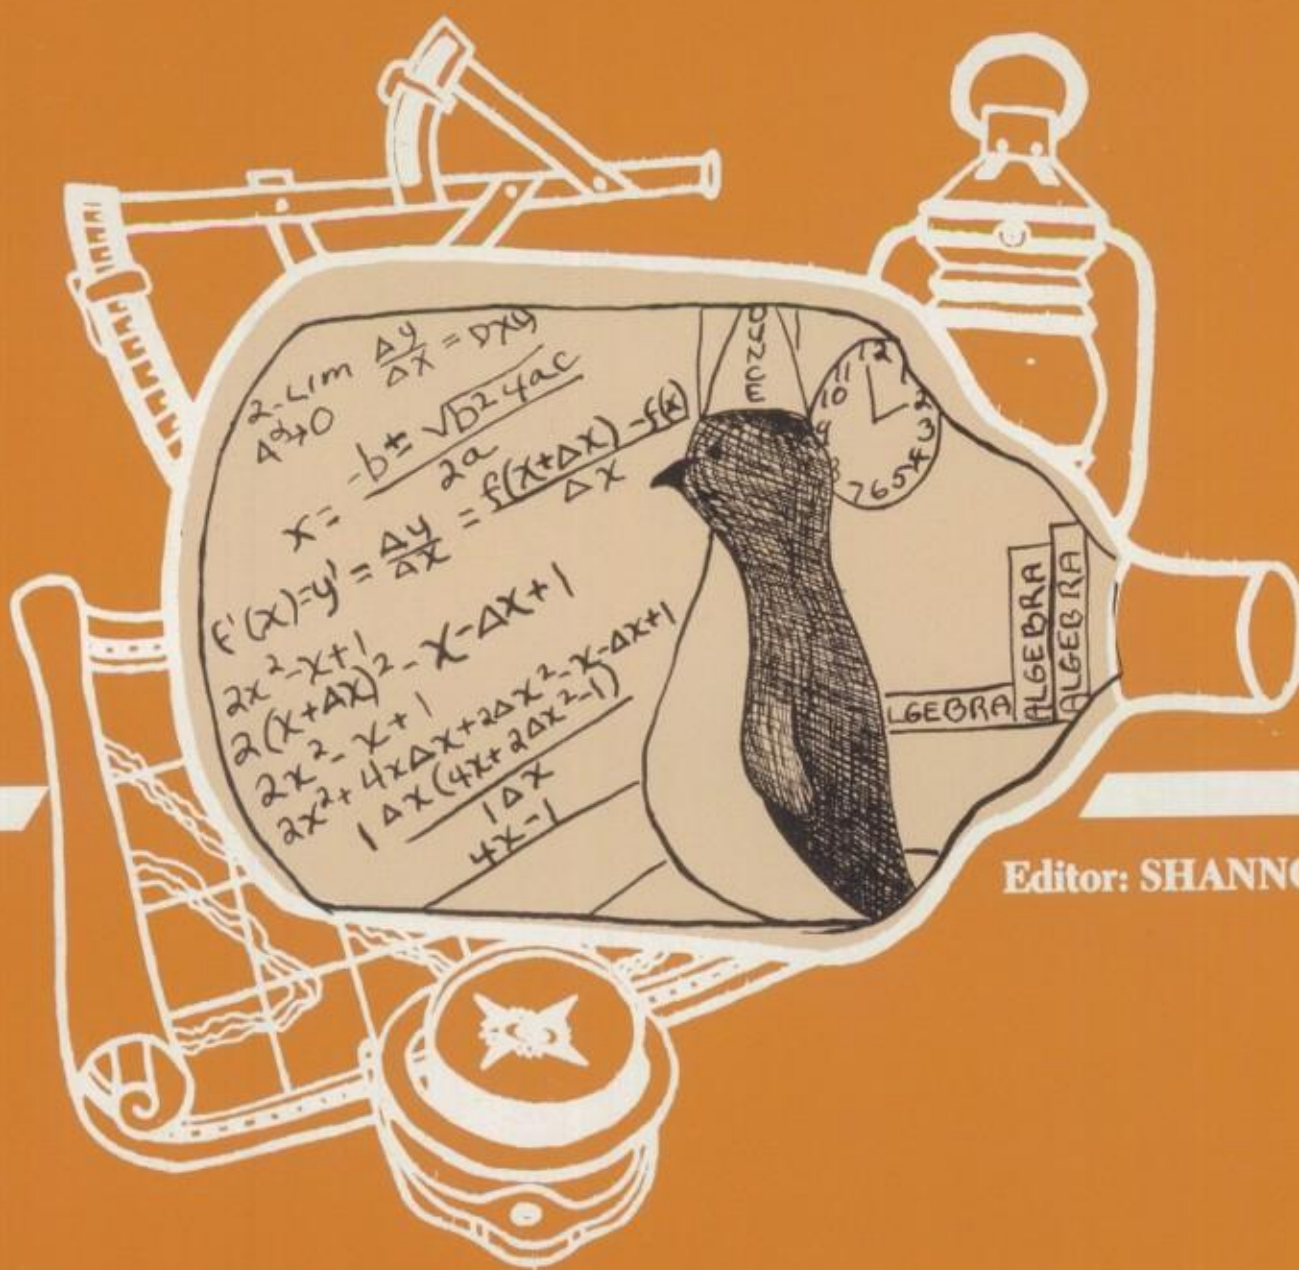

Hospitality was graciously shown to the faculty members at the Soul Food Festival put on by Libs. These students put their hands to work in the kitchen to come up with many appetizing dishes. Every teacher who attended left the library with their bellies stuffed to the brim.

A TASTY TREAT — Enjoying the break in their everyday activities, Mr. Martinez and Mr. Harbaugh relished every bite of their soul food sampling. ◀

PLENTY FOR ALL — The faculty so enjoyed the cooking that many were seen to line up again for a second helping. ▲

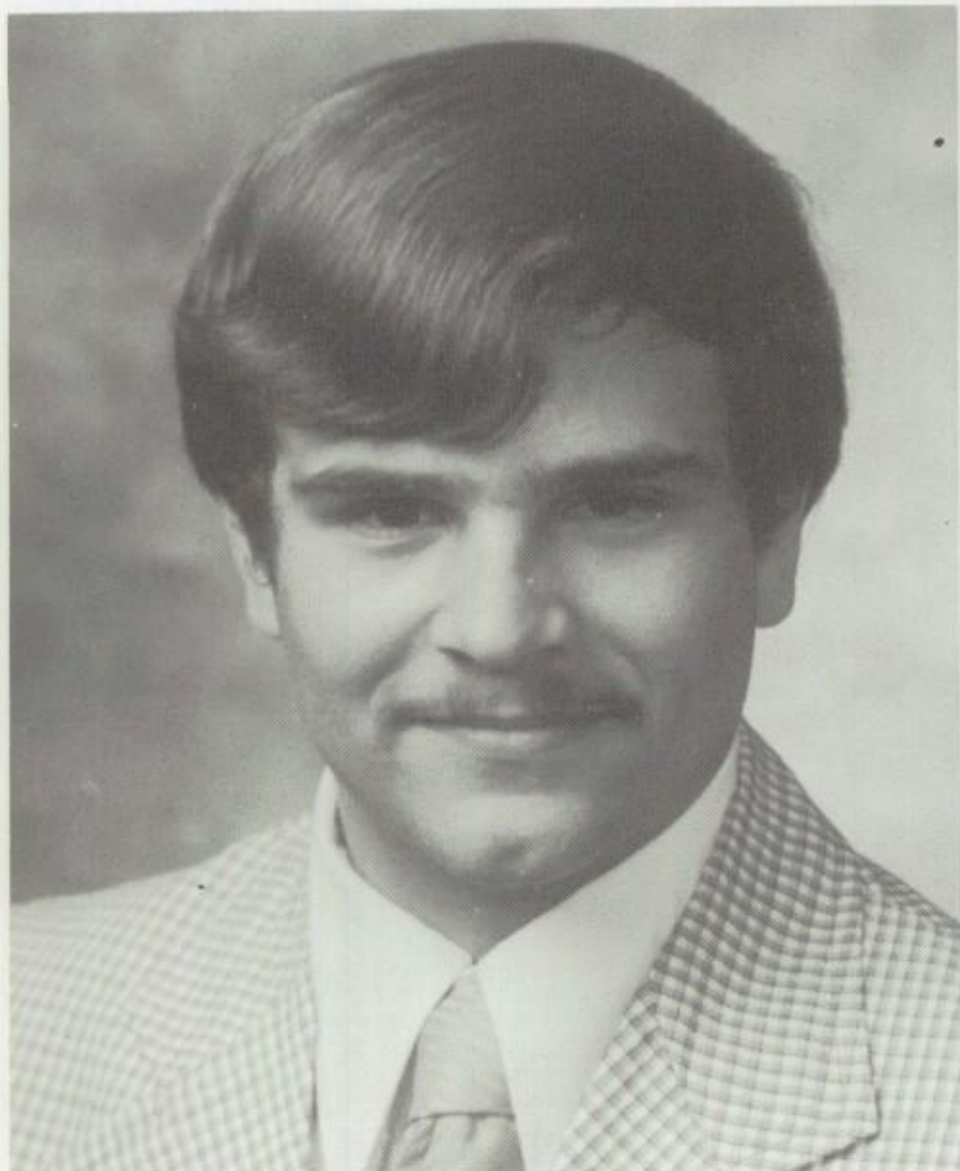

Editor: SHANNON DeROSIER

The 3 academic R's were applied and absorbed. Teachers strategically executed their lessons with hopes that their pupils would become enriched with the fruits of knowledge. Students had to attend their classes with a sponge — like attitude in order to pass and stay out of P.A.S.S. class. All in all academics were well received in the gradebooks of teachers and in the brains of students.

ACADEMICS

VALEDICTORIANS

WELL ROUNDED — Being bored was one meaning Eric Fox knew nothing about. Besides being in many clubs on campus, he gave piano lessons in his spare time. His future goal is to attend UCR, become a physician, and practice medicine. He also wishes to further his career on the piano. ▲

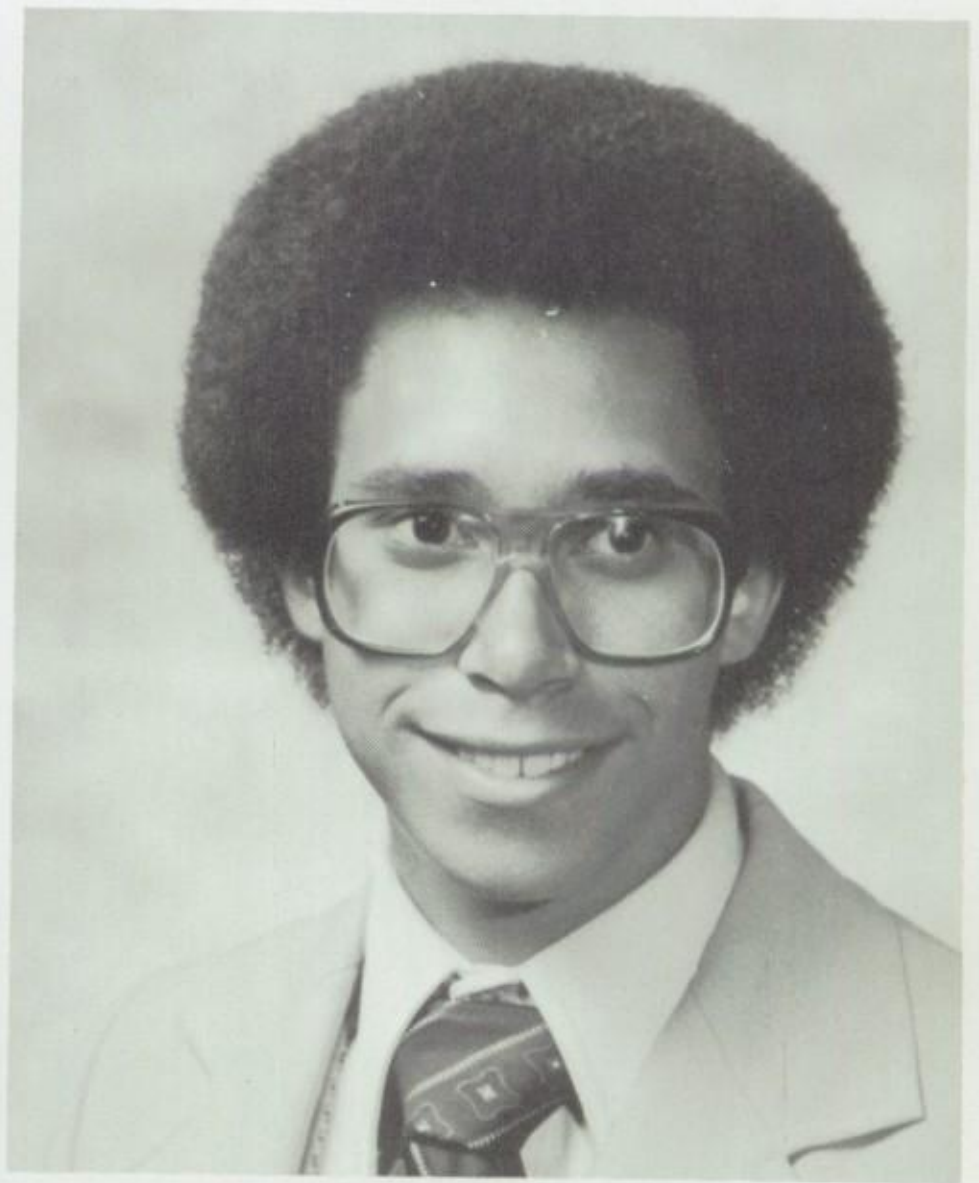

ERIC FOX

ALWAYS ON THE GO — For Greg Kaseno it was something hectic, but he always seemed to manage. Being Editor-in-Chief of the Pacificana and President of Quill and Scroll, and a member of Interact, NHS, CSF and Lehis, Greg still found time to stay active in baseball and water polo. He plans to attend U.C.L.A. and become a radiologist. ▲

Graduating Valedictorian and Salutatorian is the highest honor a senior can obtain. The males took the titles for the 1979-80 year. Their four years of impossible homework and groggy late nights paid off when they led the class of '80 down the isle the night of graduation.

SALUTATORIANS

AN OUTSTANDING CADET — Being an outstanding student in R.O.T.C. helped Richard make his way to being a Salutatorian. Richard plans to pursue a career as a pilot and an officer in the United States Air Force. He plans to attend SAF Academy and major in Computer Science. ▲

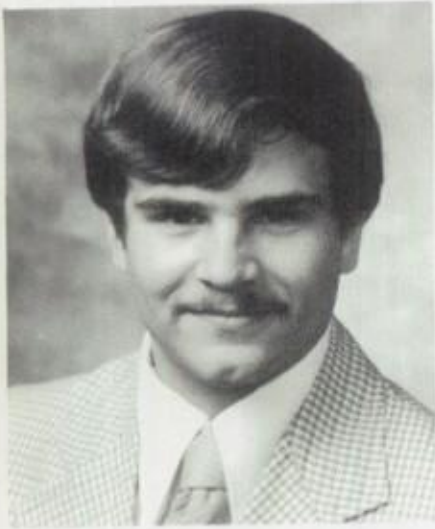

RICHARD LAMB

ASPIRING TO STANFORD — Working his way to success as one of Pacific's smartest students, David was involved in many school activities and clubs. He was a active member of the Bowling team and swimming team. He plans to attend Stanford University and major in Political Science. ▲

OUR POLITICIANS

When the first period tardy bell rang, the meeting was called to order. Business was attended to and the high school politicians stepped into action.

Mr. Elton overlooked their every move with a cautious eye ready to give advice. Many ungracious students let it slip that they thought council didn't do anything. Feeling sympathetic towards these few, the council members just laughed in their faces instead of defending themselves. As the years progressed the council accomplished two major goals. The ASB card and second their own round table with a student store to benefit the whole school.

A NEW WORLD

Pacific offered many opportunities for students to expand their worlds and acquaint themselves with lifestyles in foreign countries. Three such groups were American Field Service, the Tachikawa Sister City program and Foreign Study League.

PIRATE PRIDE — Hideo Uenishi enjoyed the atmosphere that Pacific provided. ▲

TYPICAL TOURIST — Seeing the sights, like the Chinese Theater with all the stars autographs, was still hard to believe for Hideo. ▲

WAY UP HIGH — Being on top of Mt. Fuji was really something for Susan and her friends. ▼

A SPOT OF TEA — The Japanese had many traditions and enjoying the informal tea ceremony were Erika Peters, Susan Hedman, and Martha Stoppewerth. ▼

FULL HOUSE — Playing poker was just as popular in Japan as it was in America. ◀

Frustrating arguments and agonizing deadlines were just a beginning of the mind busting crises that arose in that classroom. Mr. Nielsen occasionally slipped out of his cave to remind the non-workers that there were a million and one things left to do. Those with wise heads jumped and instantly found something to occupy their precious time. The book was completed and those editors that earned gray hairs will never forget room D-4.

PUTTING IT ALL TOGETHER

DUMBFOUNDED — The mass confusion of annual was never too much for Greg Kaseno to handle. ▼
DOOMSDAY — Meeting the deadline was a hectic time for Dianne Heston. ▼
SAY CHEESE — Being on the opposite side of the camera was a new world for Annual Photographers Dan Fox, Randy Wolff, Cindy Plaut and Raja Ali. ◀

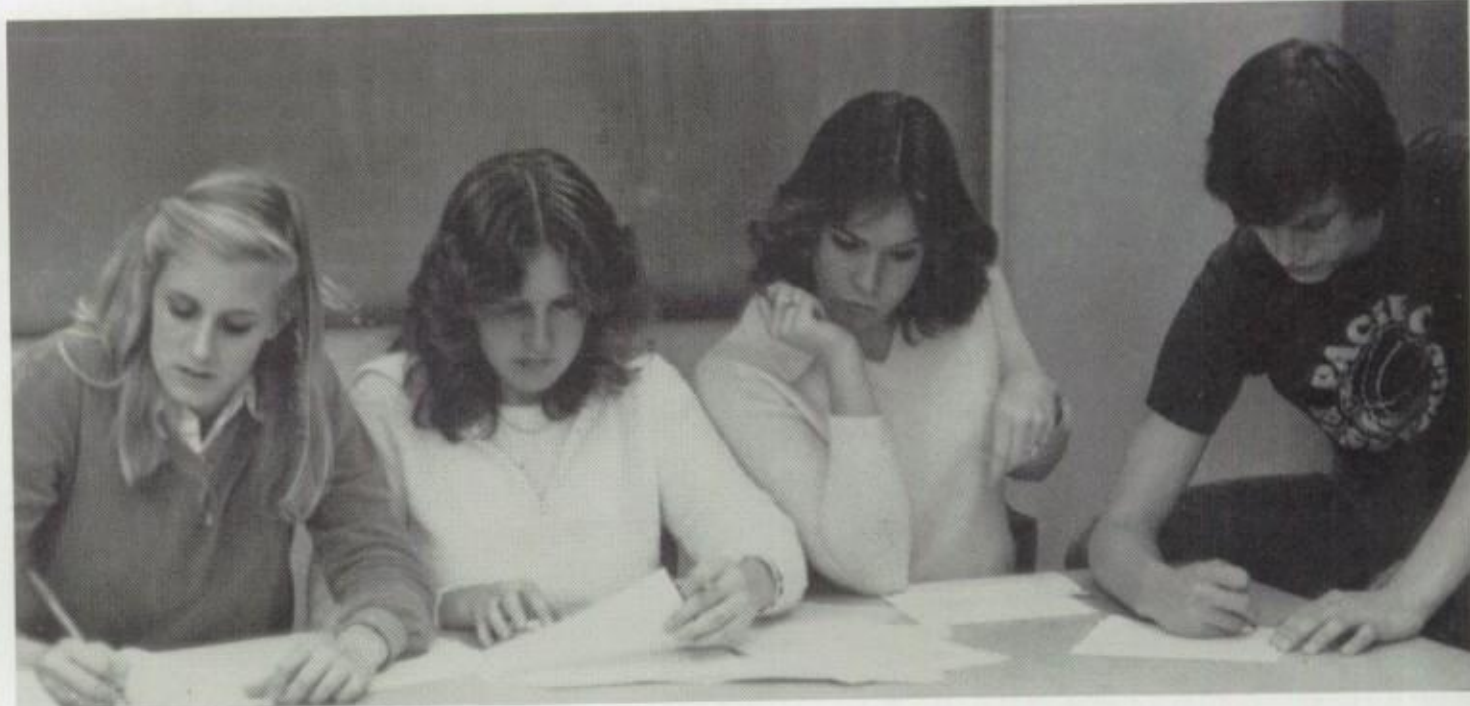

WORKING AS ONE — The annual staff and the future editors of next year worked hard to make things easier for their editors. Top to bottom Michelle Gaiche, Mike Northern, Dan Fox, Alisa Drury, Debbie Bryan, Angela Hammer, Alesia Atkinson, Shelly Craig, Lisa Thomas, Jolene Barlow and Jennifer Johnson.

EXTRA! EXTRA! READ ALL ABOUT IT

THE MASTER MIND — It took someone special to be able to produce a successful school paper and that was Mr. Haveman. ▼

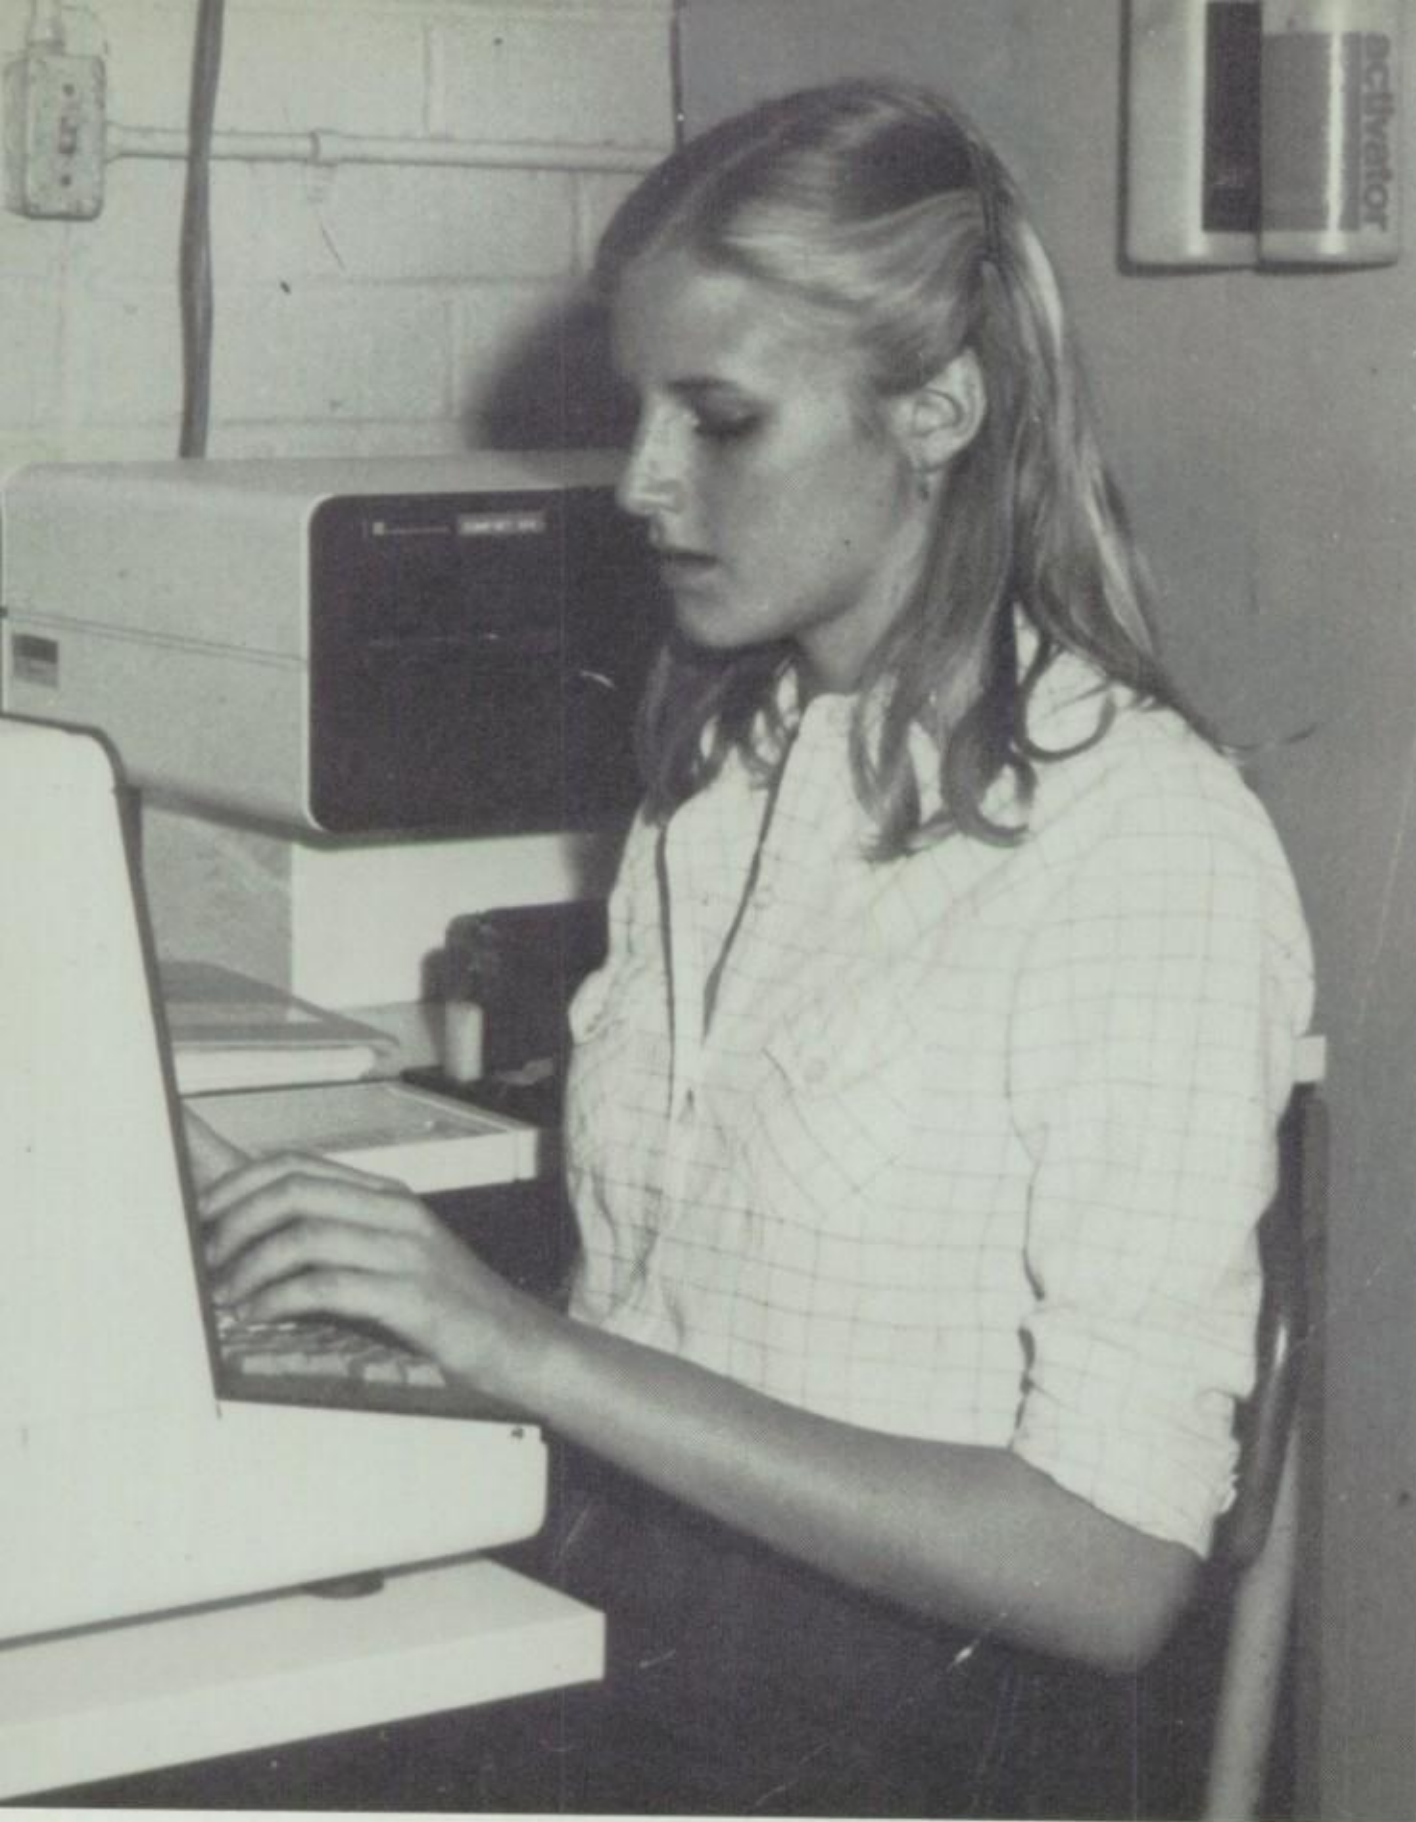

HI-TIDE EDITORS — Lisa Thomas, Marlaine Hudnall, Nancy Blechinger and Howard Davis, worked hard to make each edition unique and special. ▼

A GREAT SUCCESS — Working on the paper for numerous hours was worth it to the Hi-Tide staff after they had seen the finished product. ▼

Once upon a time there were 25 reporters that roamed the campus for stories. Under the direction of Mr. Haveman, they built a campus newspaper called the Hi-Tide. With the assistance of print shop the Hi-Tide kept the student body up to date on campus life.

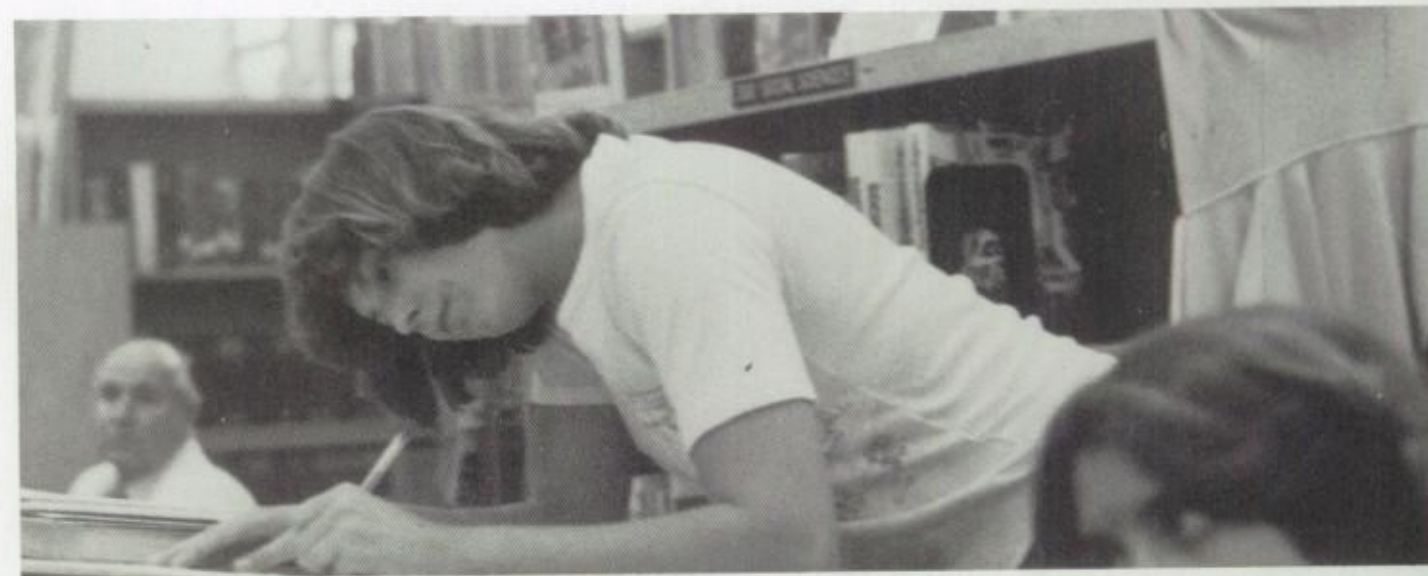

WHAT A COMBINATION! — Lisa Thomas, like the other super editors, relied on the new $14,000 compset for much of the necessary information they needed along with their own talent to create the Hi-Tide. ◀

VOCATIONAL PRINTER — Dan Woods found the paper to be both informative and entertaining. ▲
A MAJOR ROLE — The vocational print shop had a big part in making the school paper. ◀
THE FINAL COPY — With the benefits of an ASB card or even a dime the students could easily obtain the Hi-Tide. ◀

OUR PROBLEM SOLVERS

The "voice of the students" was heard throughout every House of Representatives meeting. The House of Reps was the communication device for expressing major protests concerning the campus in hopes that these complaints would reach the "big wigs."

TIME TO LISTEN — Mr. Davitt liked to sit in on the meeting to find out the problems students were having. ▲

TAKING CHARGE — Being the Speaker of the House was hectic for Lisa Olmer, but she found it was a challenge. ▲

SHOWING SPIRIT — During lunch some of the Reps got together and showed some Pacific pride. ▲

TEACH A MIND, READ A BOOK

BEING THE LIBRARIAN — Mr. Jones takes his job seriously from greeting the students to finding the books they need. ◀ library was very fortunate to be supplied with new tables and chairs. These were only the beginning of its valuable contents. Catching paintings and murals were scattered throughout the room. Mr. Jones, our able librarian, gave extra time to help students locate special information. But most precious of all was the knowledge hidden within the pages of books.

LIFE OF AN AID — Stamping books and getting magazines, Kathy Coletti found it a routine. ▼

A NEW ITEM — The students seemed to enjoy the sharp new tables that the library had gotten during the summer. ►

REACH FOR YOUR GOALS

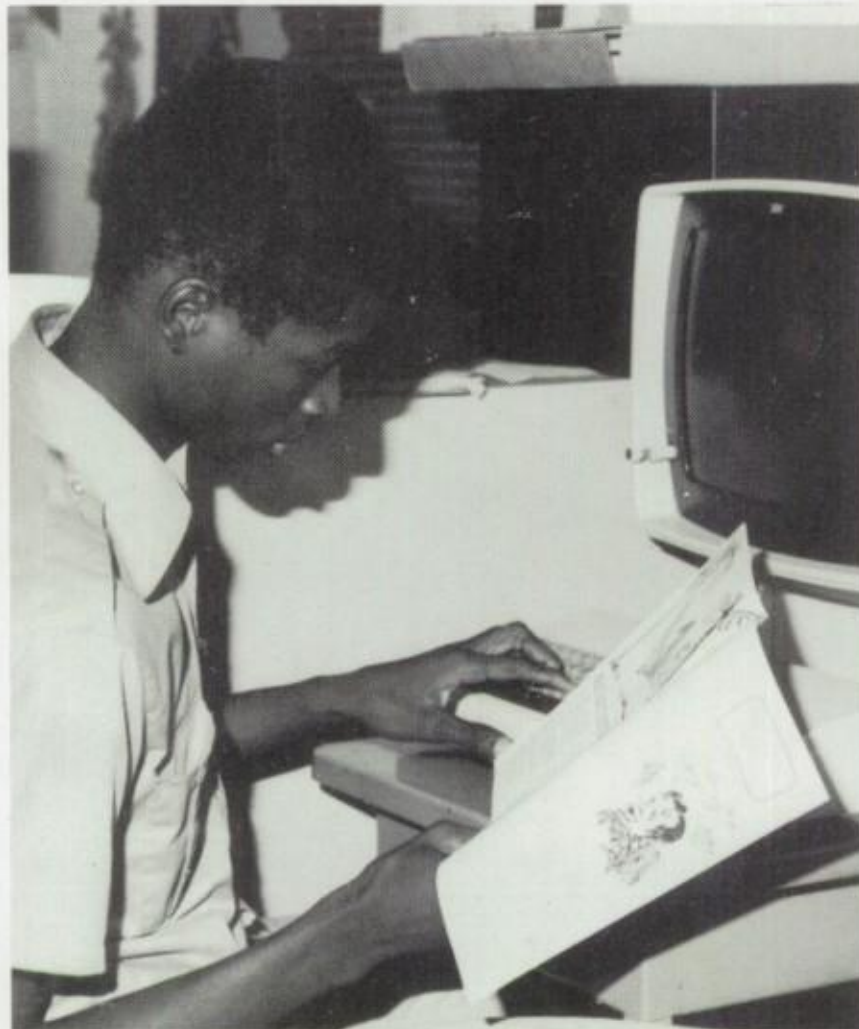

ALWAYS BUSY — Mrs. Jeffords was constantly checking on jobs for students that wanted to work. ►

For many students the career center made the decision-making process less complicated. When it came right down to the “nitty gritty,” it was between pursuing a college degree or getting rich quick by means of a job. But whatever the decisive conclusion was, the center proved to be more than helpful.

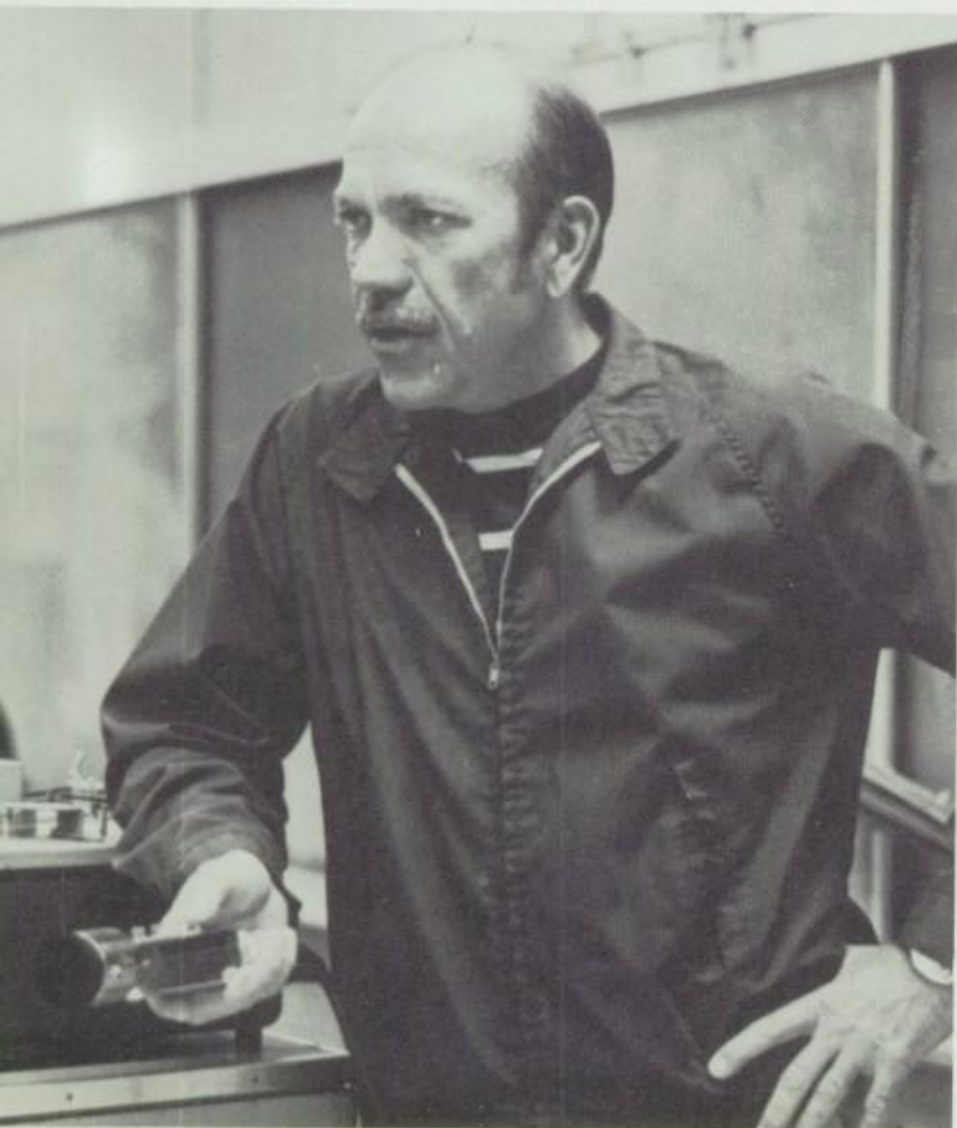

DECIDING ON A GOAL — By taking advantage of the resources that the career center supplied, future occupational goals were found. ►

HELPING HAND — Filling out work experience papers was a daily occurrence for Mrs. Golstein. ►

HAHA! — One of Mr. Reed's better talents was telling bad jokes and balancing on his stool, all at the same time. ◀

A WAY TO COMMUNICATION

The college entrance board decided to "pull a doozy." Beginning with the incoming freshman, four years of English was crucial for acceptance. Those students that excluded college from their future plans still sweated through three years of English courses in order to graduate.

CAPTIVATED — While trying to read one of Mr. Taylor's "interesting" books Barbara Roberts and Ines Warren dream about their upcoming weekend. ▲

A NEW DISCOVERY

GENIUS? — Physio Lab was a hard class, but Karen Ross needed it to enter college. ▼

ONCE UPON A STAR — When it came to moon rocks and space creatures, Mr. Wise knew all. ▼

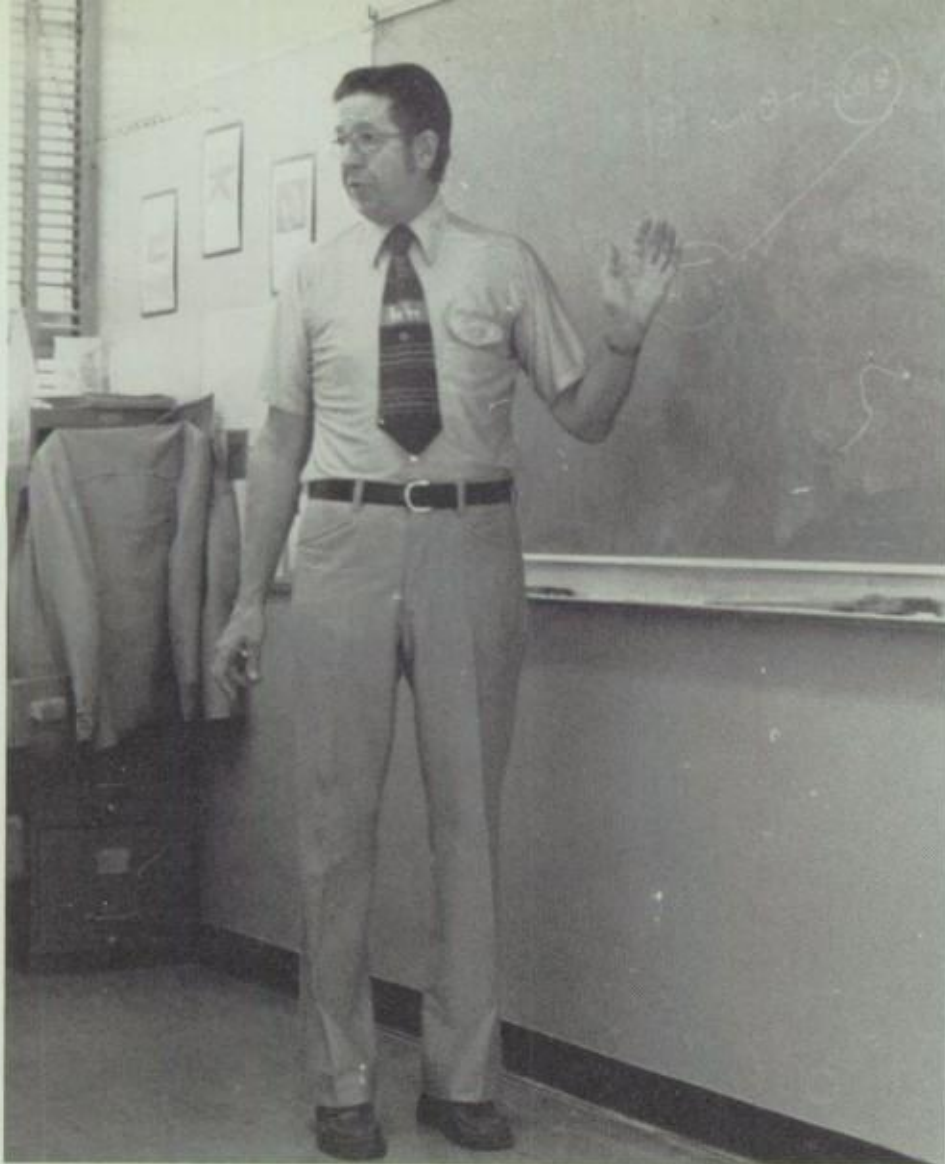

Mad scientists were the “back bone” of this department. They made it through the year without a major blow up in the lab or broken bones in physio. Science classes taught students to look beyond the obvious and to get into the “guts” of the experiment.

IN THE DEEP BLUE SEA — Teaching oceanography was great fun for Mr. Pendergast. ▲

JUST HANGING AROUND — Life was one empty closet to the next, for this Ol' Soul. ▲

JUST A WIZ — Mr. Krabil worked hard to show his students anything from Algebra to Trigonometry. ◀

X = HARD WORK WHEN YOU ADD IT ALL UP

Most human students did not understand the brain twisting formulas that were crucial to that dreaded subject 'MATH.' Long hours in a day were spent programming the mind to do death defying feats with geometric angles, and algebraic logs. But for miraculous reasons, most students were able to crawl through the vital tests and impossible homework.

STRAINING HER BRAIN — Sophomore Paula Cobb hit the geometry books. ▲

DETERMINED FRESHMAN — Becky Shvemar was always eager to show her work at the board. ▲

ALWAYS HAPPY TO HELP — Geometry teacher, Mrs. Frank, often used the overhead projector to illustrate theorems to her classes. ◀

THE GREAT PERFORMANCE

"All the world's a stage; and we are merely players." The drama students plunged into the acting world with the debut of the haunting production, Dracula. The special effects, led by Mr. O'Brien, were a main attraction to their faithful fans. One "hit" was not enough, so the drama club brought Snoopy and his friends to life in the play Merry Christmas Charlie Brown. Under the direction of Ms. Stathis and Mr. O'Brien together with the enthusiasm of the drama students they kept their audiences entertained.

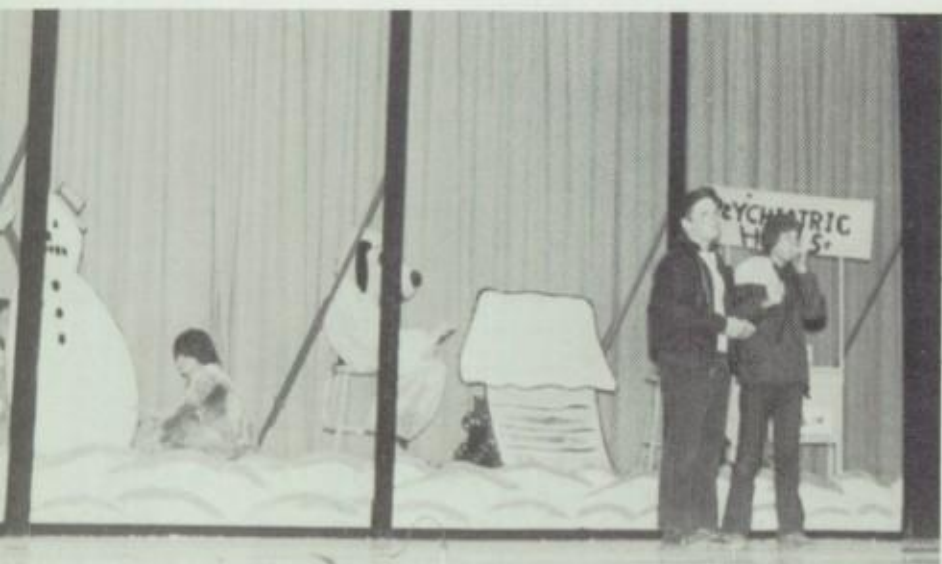

VICTIM OF LOVE? — Victim indeed, for Jana Kinney falling into Dracula's possession was one mistake too many. ▲

LOOK INTO MY EYES — Being the star of Pacific's hit play, "Dracula," was Mark Sisson who found it a bloody thrill. ►

A DOG'S LIFE — Dino Andrade found playing Snoopy was one bone after another. ▼

MERRY CHRISTMAS — Charlie Brown, (James Chapman) and Linus, (Robert Thompson) discussed the true meaning of Christmas. ▼

A MECHANIC'S LIFE

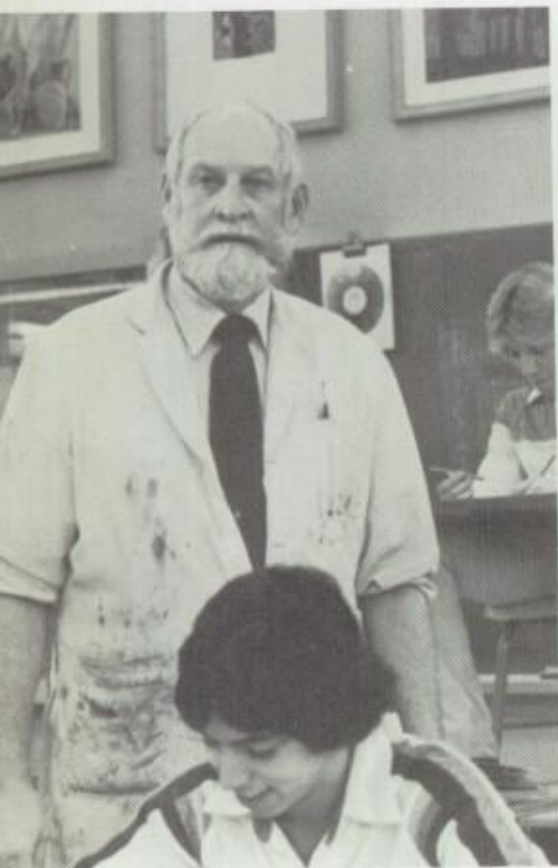

The autoshop and printshop played a huge part in the functions at Pacific. The autoshop's student mechanics worked on faculty cars and tuned up their own. The printshop students were always willing to print up anything for on-campus organizations.

THE START OF A MASTERPIECE

Art lies within the individual. Whenever a person allows creativity and imagination put their hands in motion a masterpiece begins to form. A work of art may relate to some and be a reasonable facsimile of trash to another. Many kids tried their hands at art to see if they too had the makings of a Michaelangelo.

▲ HERE WE GO — Pacific's color guard was proud to carry the flag into the games. ▲

"... GREAT OUTDOORS"

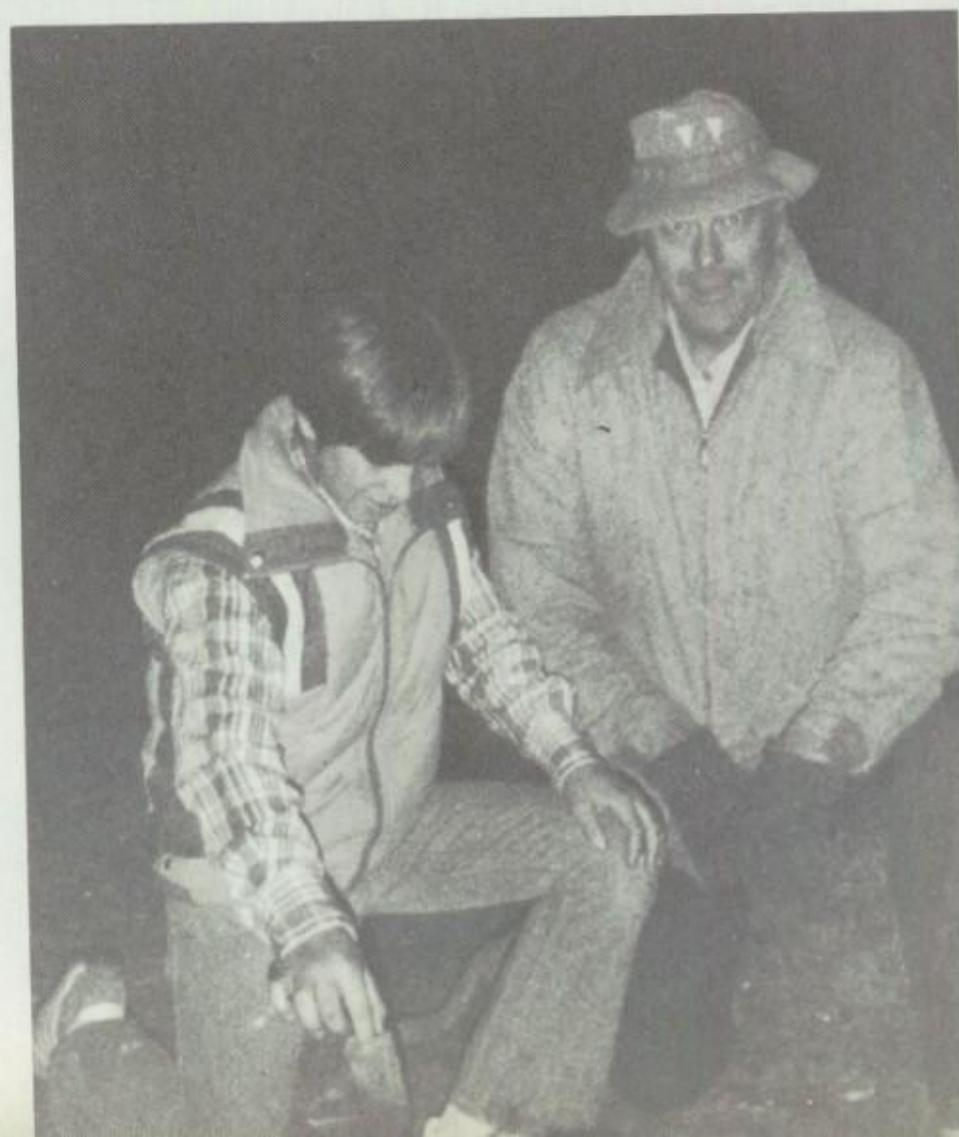

One of the most sought after classes that Pacific had to offer was Outdoor living with Dr. Brickley. It brought many different students together to share and experience wonders that nature had to offer, from roasting marshmallows, telling ghost stories, all the way to bunking out in the restroom when the weather was too unbearable to stand.

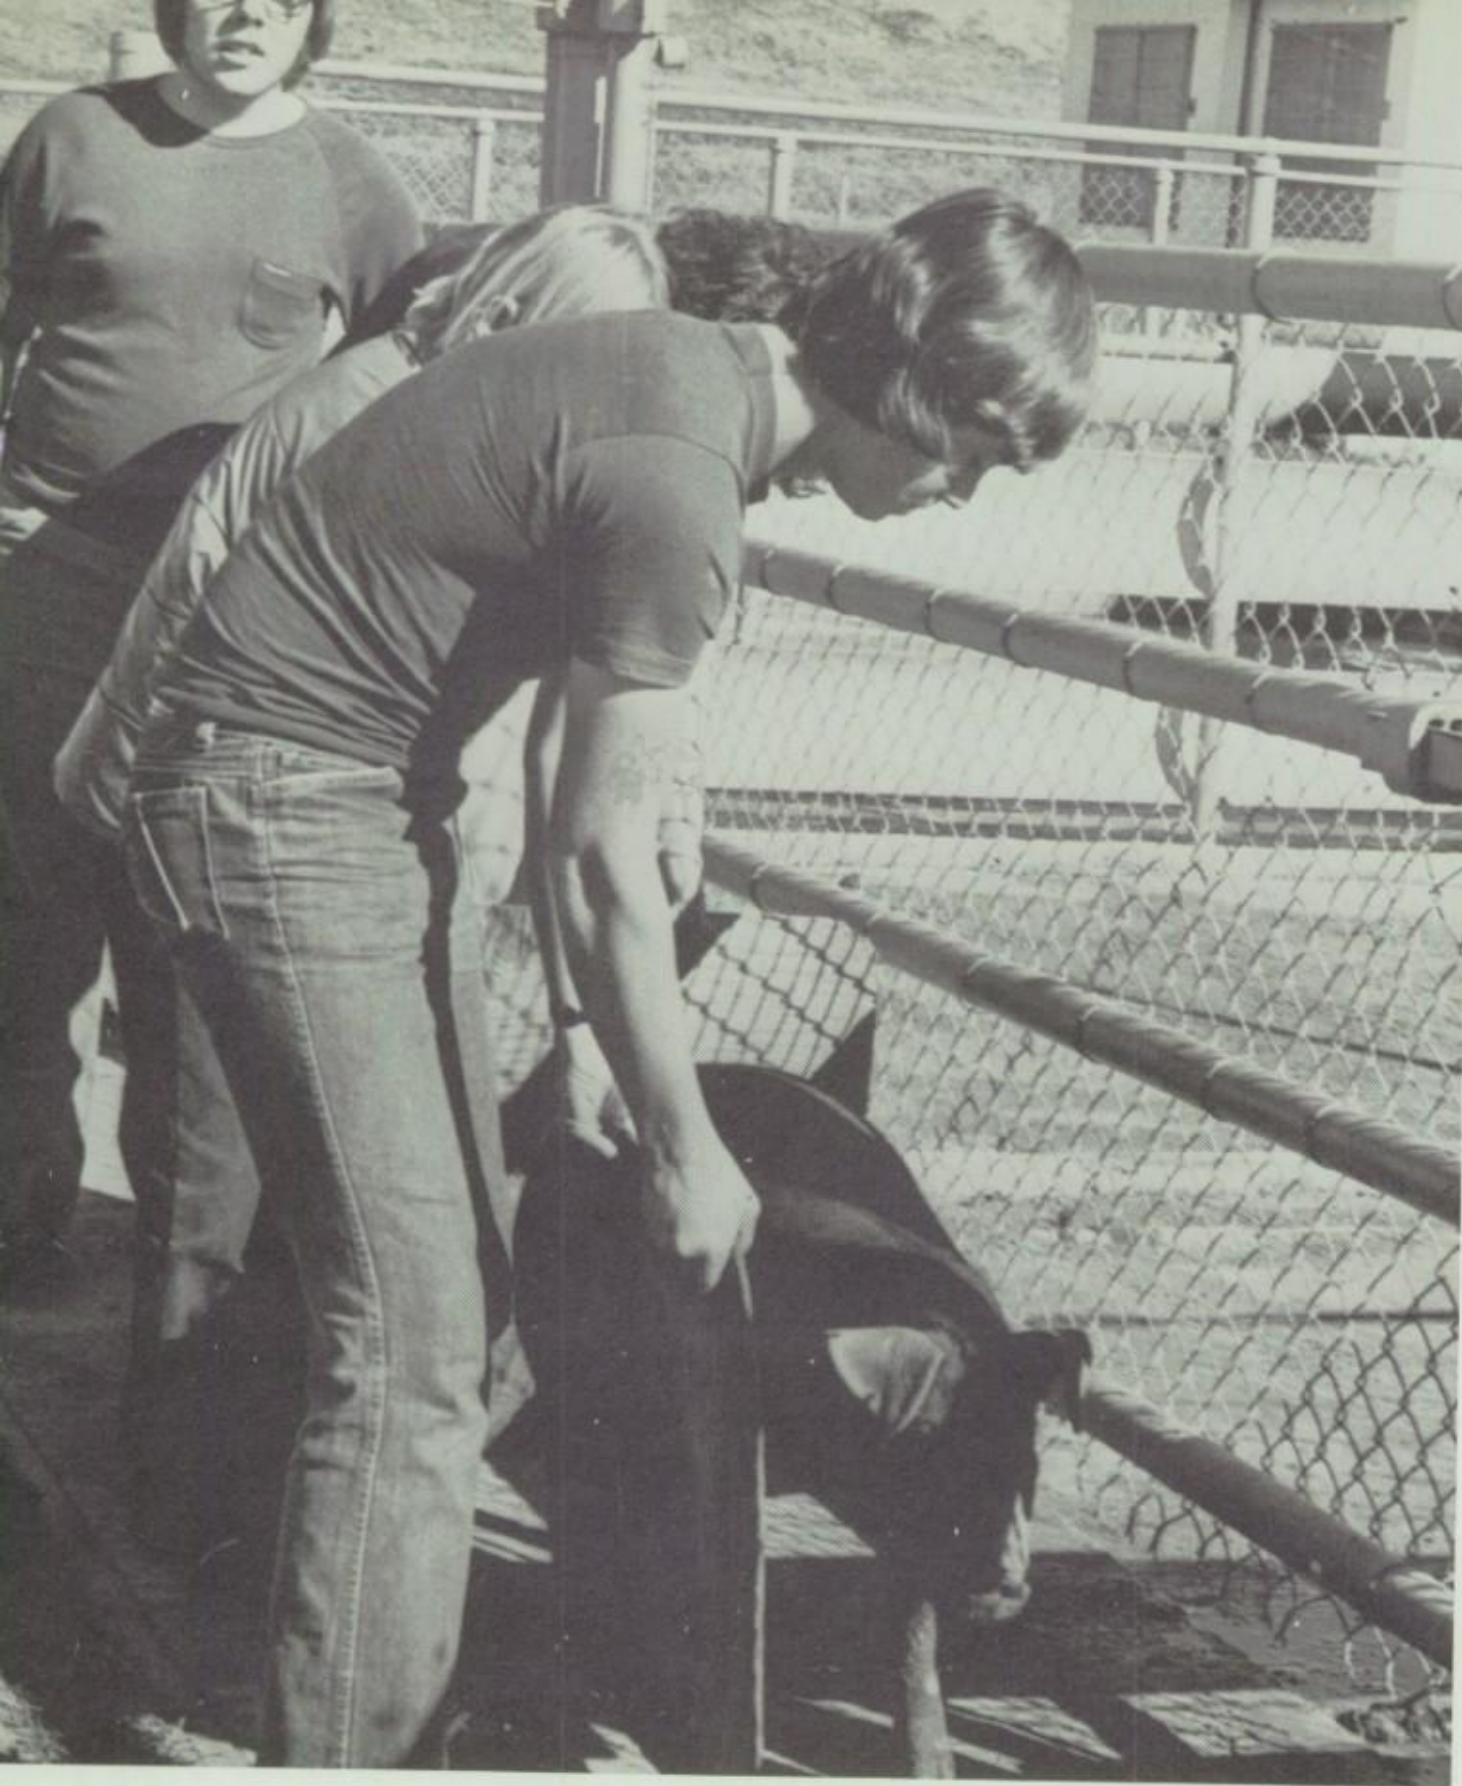

THE MORNING BLUES — Gathering around the campfire and sipping hot chocolate was essential for Dr. Brikley, Jackie Cooper, Theresa Livezey and Robin Krumwide. ▲

THE THINKER — Staying warm took deep concentration and wishful thinking for Robin Krumwide. ►

ROASTING MARSHMELLOWS — Night fall brought Jackie Cooper and Dr. Brickley closer to the campfire. ►

OUT TO PASTURE — For those involved, the agriculture department provided an opportunity to work with animals. Caring for this lovely creature was Charles Brown's responsibility. ◀

WORLD OF LANGUAGE

Language can be the separation of barriers between individuals and the key to new friendships. It all depends on whether the same language is spoken. Foreign language classes gave students a new awareness to faraway cultures and began bringing them closer to world they had only heard about.

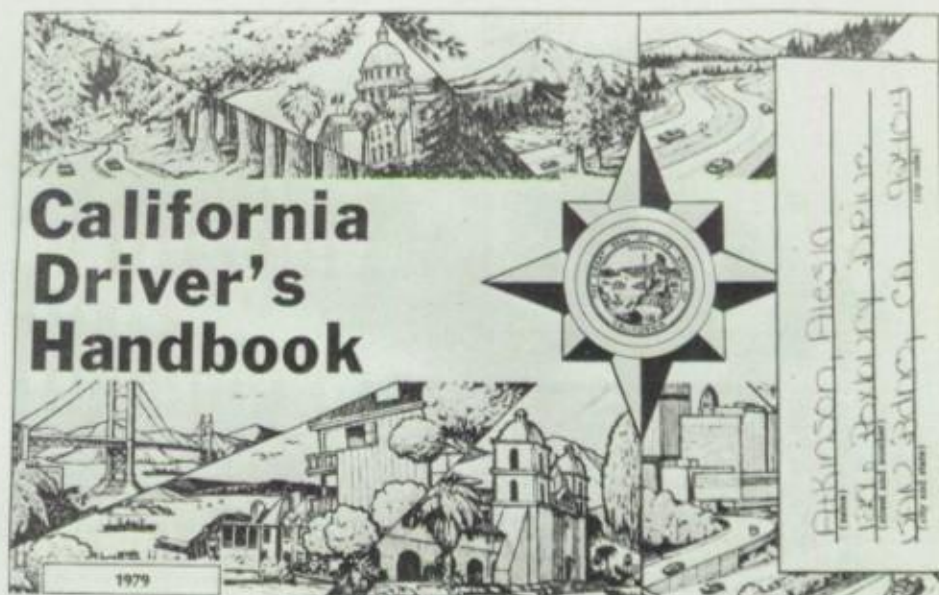

LET'S HAVE A PARTY — Mrs. Sztaray's French II class enjoyed delicious fondue. ▲

MUNCHING OUT — Enjoying some French delicacies and learning how to cook many more, was just a small part of being a member of Mrs. Sztaray's French class. ▲

A OLD LANGUAGE — Latin was a small class but when it came to making their verb tree they were great in quality. ▲

Once upon a high school dream there was the driver's license. This card seemed to be the only solution to hundreds of problems. But in actuality, more dilemmas constantly arose. Gas rationing, insurance payments, and suddenly running a private chauffeur service for every person on campus seemed to be only a few of the head-splitting situations.

TAKING TO THE ROAD FOR THE FIRST DAY

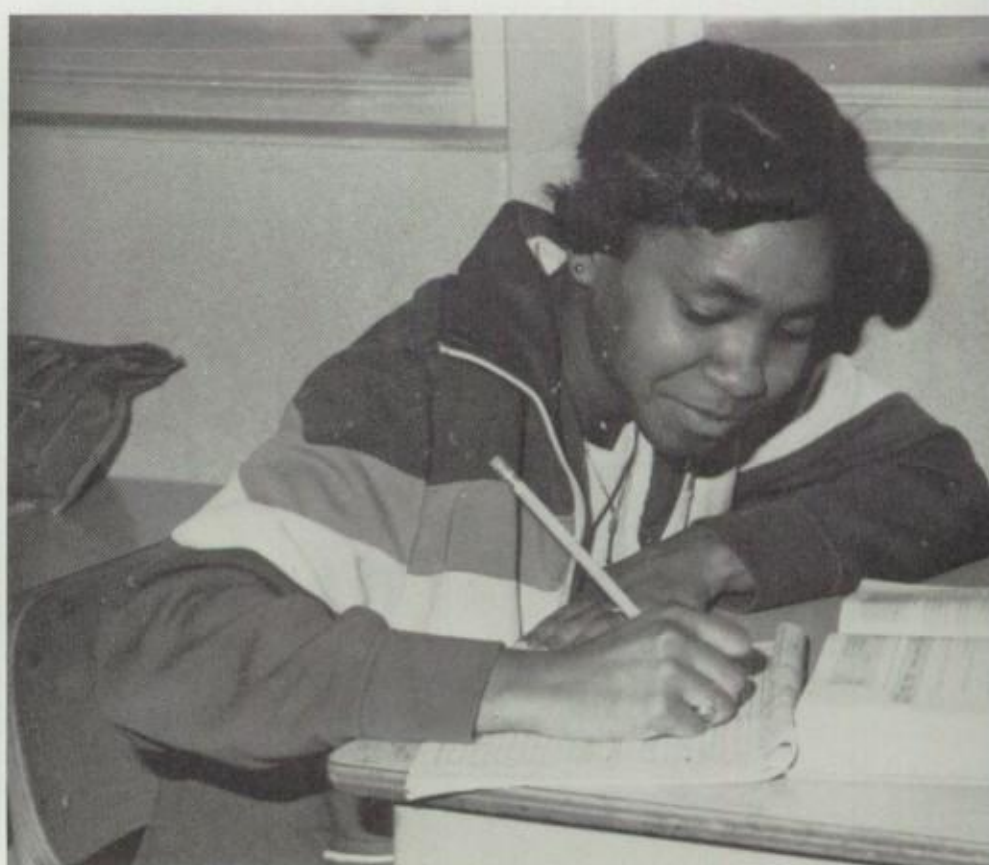

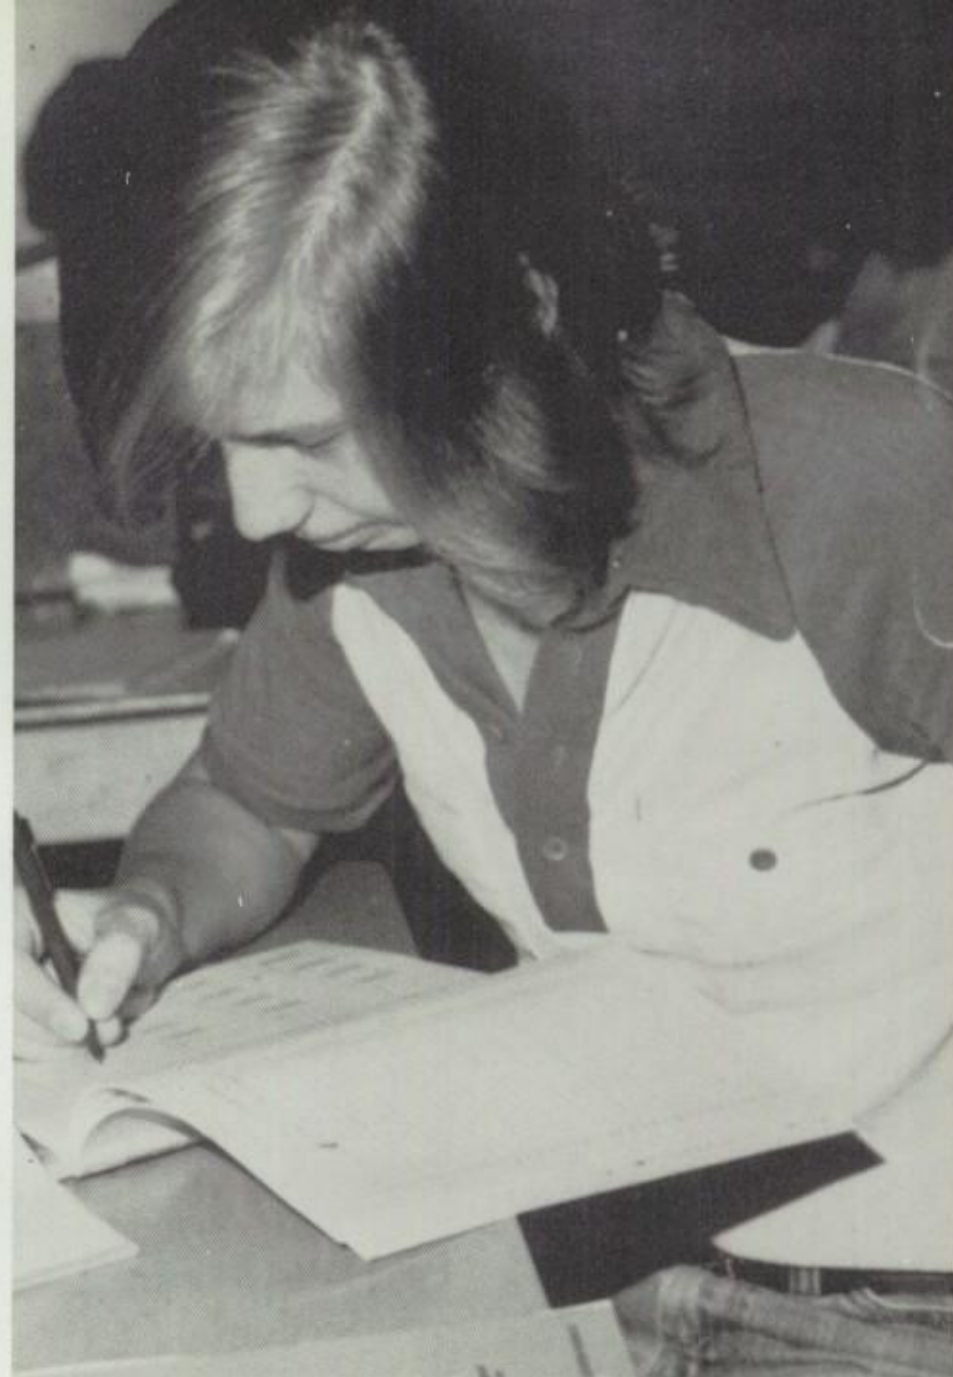

GETTING READY — The simulators prepare students by showing hazards that can happen while driving by using films. They are put into the simulators before actually driving in a car. ▲

BUTTERFLIES — The thrill is all for the student; the nervous stomach came with being the driving instructor. ▲

DEVELOPING A USEFUL TRADE

The business department offered a wide range of courses designed to fit the students needs. Bookkeeping, Office Training, Accounting and typing all prepared the student to advance into the competitive business world.

HOMEWORK? — Not for Chad DeRosier. He balances all his books in accounting. ▲
GOOD SAMARITAN — Coming to the rescue of her students, Mrs. Fiegenar makes things easy. ▲

RUNNING ERRANDS — Going for class to class, giving call slips is a part of office training. ▲
ALWAYS PREPARED — Coming to record keeping was the best part of the day for Donna Brown. ▲

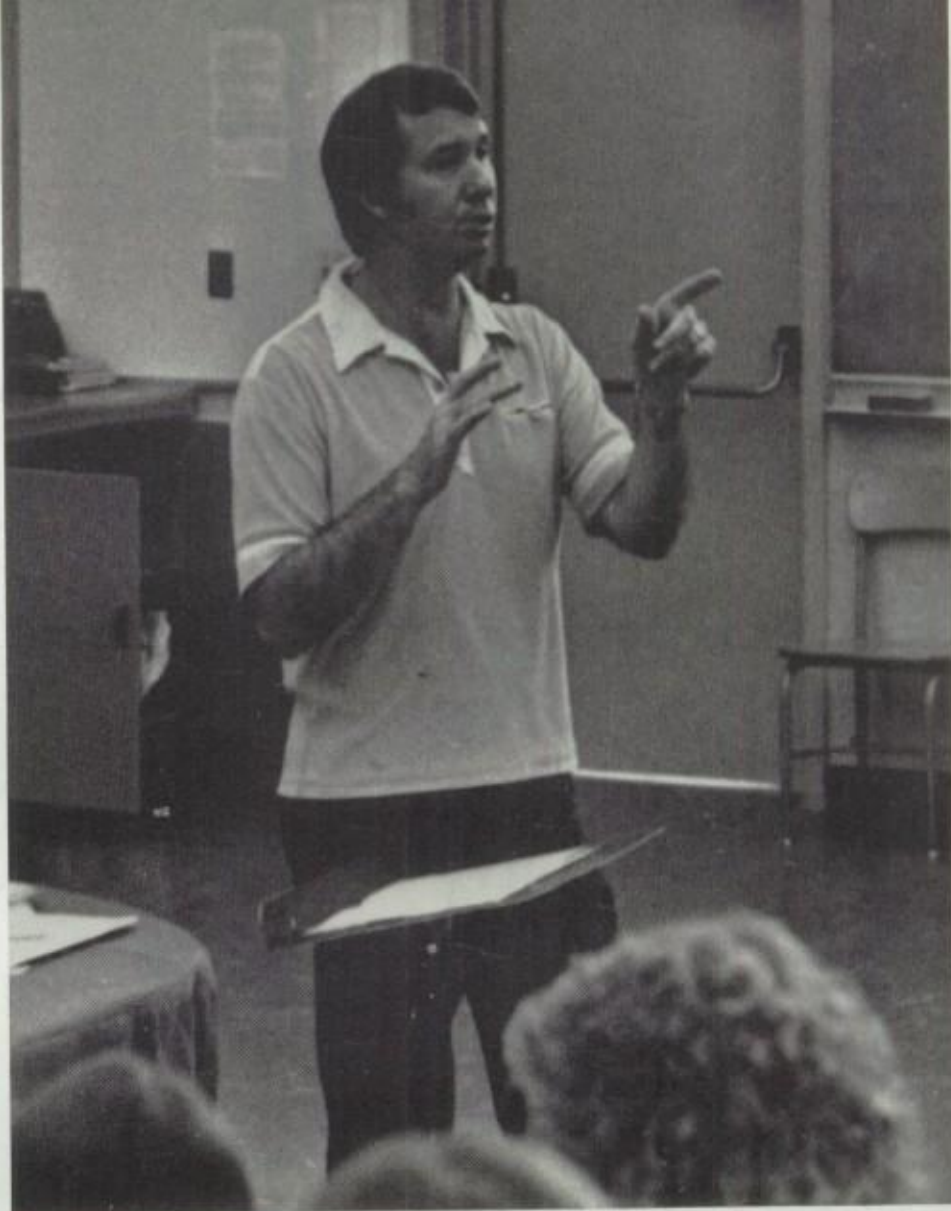

SPEED TYPIST — Doing 50 words a minute is a breeze for Theresa Livezey, so to her, typing is merely a pass time. ►

THE SOUND OF MUSIC

"I'd like to teach the world to sing," thought Mr. Will as he accepted the proposition to be a choral instructor. He taught students to express themselves through music and together they sang to their hearts content.

ALL IN HARMONY — In chorus, each individual voice was essentially lost but when blended together to produced beautiful harmony. ▼

A DAY TO REMEMBER

"Do you, Kevin McCurry, take Debi Littlejohn to be your pretend wedded wife?" This was the big question that was popped for the benefit of the marriage and family class. The wedding and celebration took place among the romantic scenery in the cafeteria on Nov. 7, 1979. Congratulations Debi and Kevin, best wishes.

Editor: TODD GRAHAM

1980 was the year America strove physically to get into shape. Athletes from all over the country gathered up their training, endurance and skill, and took off to the Winter Olympics in Lake Placid. These competitors brought honor and victory to the people of the U.S.A. Pacific High School was no exception to this world wide competitiveness.

The Pac, just a spec on our country's globe, gathered up their coaches, ability, and teammates, and took off to terrorize the Citrus Belt League.

Pacific's athletes gave the student body pride and spirit that was bottled up in trophies, ribbons, medals, and the heart of every pirate.

FROM T.D.'S TO TACKLES

Once upon a time there were thirty timid boys, and a coach named Hoak. Together they stumbled upon a challenging sport called football. Once those boys touched that ball they suddenly turned into thirty incredible hulk's, using their best strategy during each game to conquer their opponents. They lived victoriously ever after.

LESSON FOR THE DAY — David Ruiz agreed that it was always great to get some expert advice from his idol, Coach Hoak. ◀

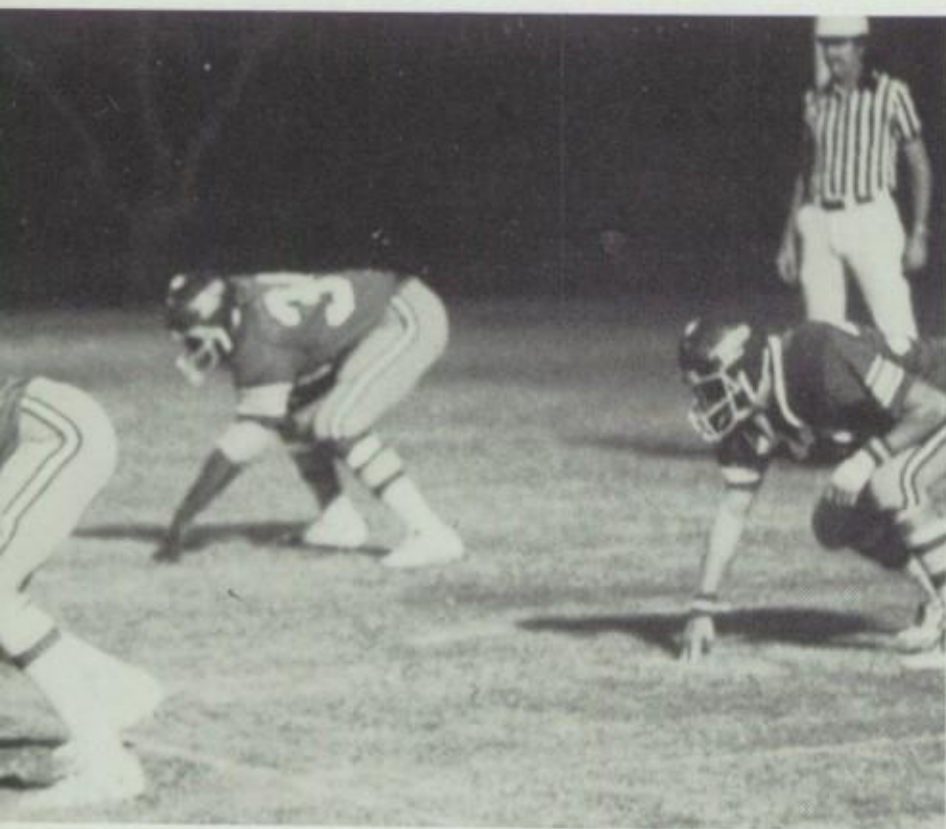

THE MAGIC OF "34" — To pirate spectators, the number "34" came to be associated with big yardage gains and eventually six points. The power house that belonged to that number, running back Curtis Peete, easily dodged tacklers and ran away with the award for best offensive back for '79.

LEADERS OF THE PACK — Quarterback David Ruiz, linebacker Robbie Mella, and defensive end Craig Fosdick were the outstanding captains of the 1979 football squad.

◀ GEARS ARE CLICKING — David Ruiz, Pacific's quarterback, relays Coach Hoaks' strategically planned play to the rest of the offense team.

PACIFIC ROMPED THROUGH C.B.L.

"Winning" was the one thought that was computerized into the scantron minds of our thirty varsity robots. Pacific's robots romped through CBL. They destroyed Eisenhower and pulverized the king planet Redlands 13-12. These varsity robots couldn't have given the pirate martians anything to be prouder of.

LAST MINUTE DECISION — Much of the success is based upon David Ruiz's ability to read the opponent's defensive strategy. ◀

NO STOPPING US NOW — When Victor Washington got the ball, the Indians knew immediately that their efforts to stop him would be useless because "you can't stop our purple machine." ◀

EATEN ALIVE — Like others, the Eisenhower runningback unsuccessfully tried to escape from the jaws of Pacific's defense before he was eaten alive by two of the pack. ◀

THE PIRATE SUPERBOWL

"CIF! CIF! CIF!"—With excitement of having made it to the CIF playoffs for the first time in over ten years, the pirates showed their enthusiasm in the pregame huddle.

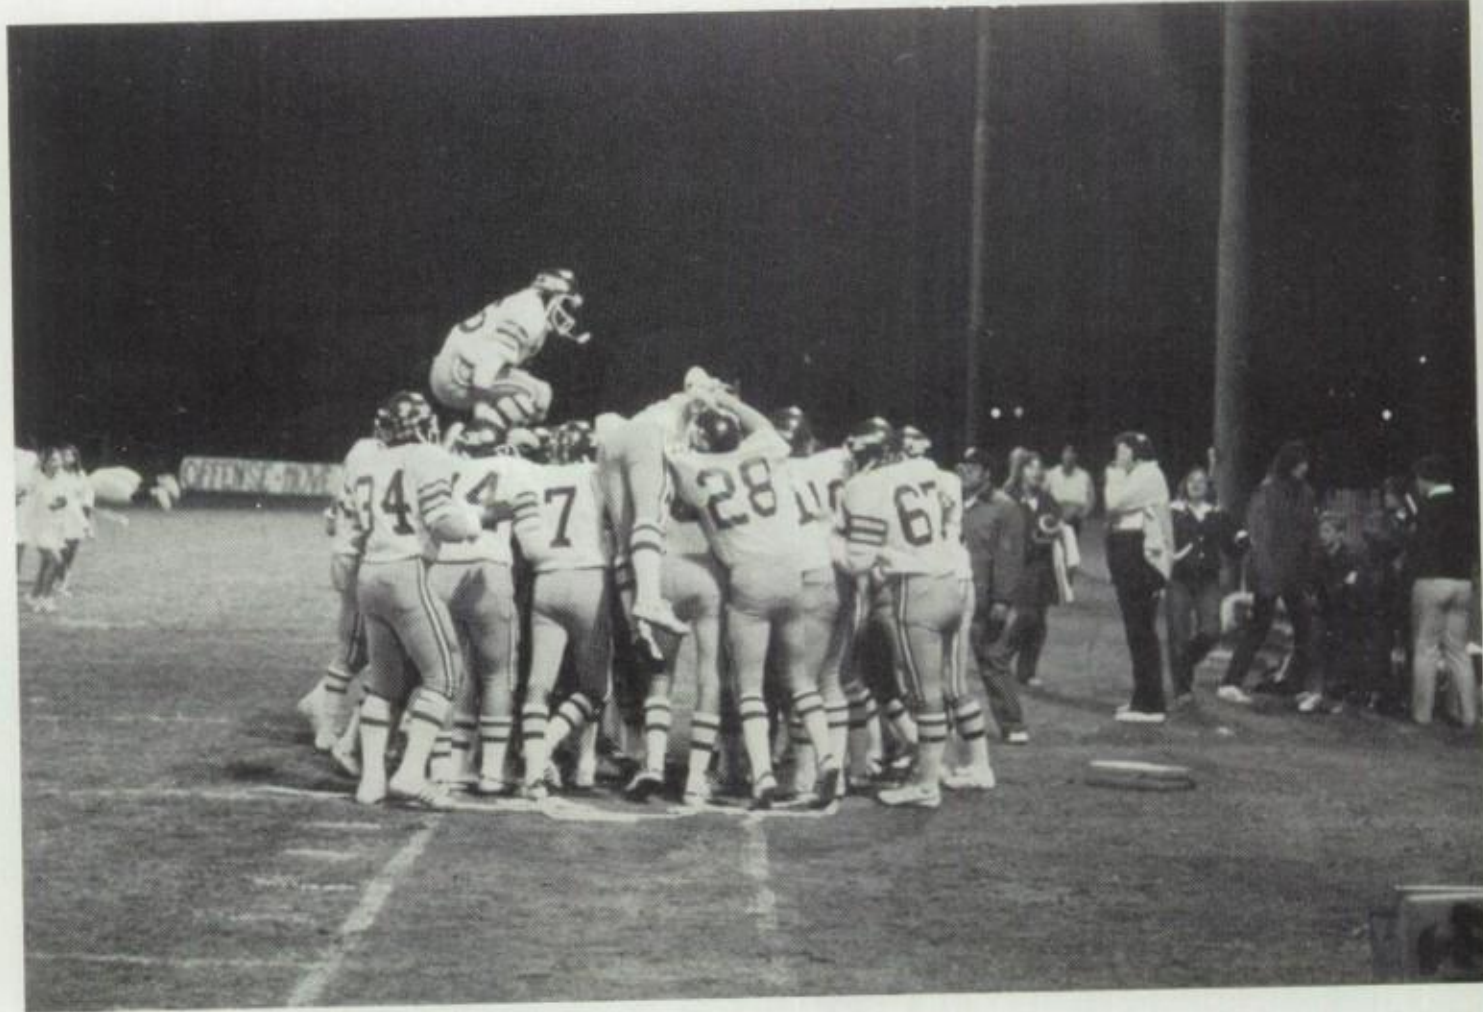

The announcer's voice sounded over the speakers as the crowd sat engulfed in suspense, awaiting the battling CIF game. The dream was born in the hearts of a coach and thirty tough guys.

Their dream grew closer the night they beat "the king" Redlands with a 13-12 victory. Pacific fans boasted about this accomplishment until they crushed their rival, San Geronio, with a score of 24-20.

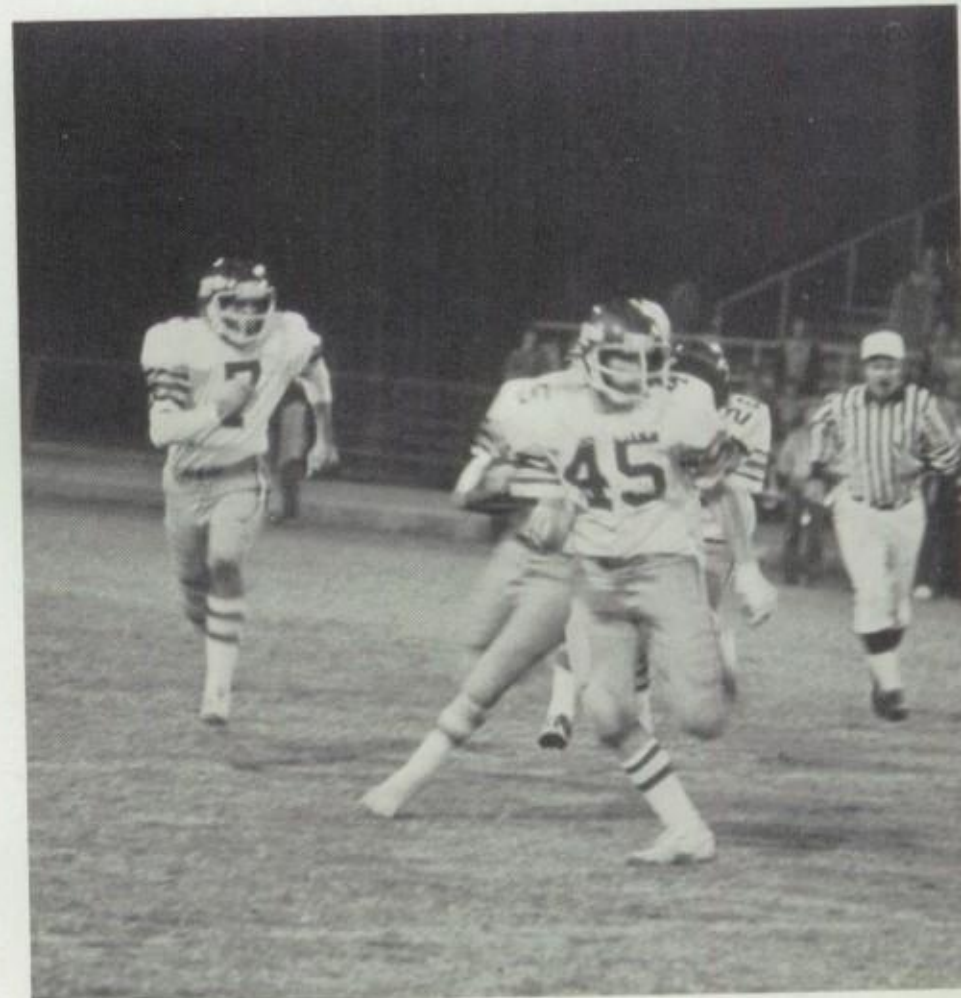

A week later it was a dream come true. For the first time since 1966 Pacific High School fans and football team were fired up and ready to rip at the CIF game with Marina High School.

The 13-26 loss was a disappointment, but our football team instilled a warm sensation of pride and devotion which burns in the heart of every Pirate never to be doused.

THE PAC ATTACK—Having their share of tough breaks, pac members Robby Mella and David Ruiz were charging for the kill after the Marina defense intercepted on of Ruiz's passes.

TURNOVER TIME—Despite Marina's excellent use of the draw play, their drives were worthless when pirates made use of their error by recovering an important fumble.

THEY HAD TOP SPIN ON C.I.F.

Tennis stars, Sheri Shellhammer and Carol Pat Christian, sweated their way into the CIF girls' tournament. They took the title for the second year in a row at the finals in Irvine. They made Pacific proud.

Hairgrove goes for it in an agonizing game with Barstow.
GITCHY, GITCHY, GOO — Pat
Pruitt stretches to all ends to give the ball to his teammates.

Our guys went out to terrorize CBL again. Victories were plentiful. Redlands, San Geronimo, Palm Springs, and Corona were just a few teams registered in the obituaries. Berdoo was a major upset with a losing score of 72-81. But Coach Kay and his 11 basketball superstars didn't let one loss get them down and they went on to prove pirates are number one.

J.V. BASKETBALL SHOT INTO ACTION.

Durability was a key factor in preparation for each game for the J.V. basketball players.

With their skillful outside shots, rebounds and tight defense, they stopped their firey opponents.

THE SAUCE WAS HOT — Because his teammates were always hitting "The Sauce," (Jimmy Saucedo), for two more. + V SUPER-SOPH. — As a sophomore, Jim Saucedo, showed off his talent in basketball where his great strength enabled him to rise to great heights. ◀

"25" HE'S OUR MAN — Adding to the racing score against Cajon was Kurt Russel (25), who somehow always seemed to be sinking another two, driving a big hand from the crowd. ▼

Striving to be a reasonable facsimile, of a “gumby” is a major goal for wrestlers. Practices everyday after school, matches twice a week, and tournaments on the weekends, were only a small chunk of a wrestler’s busy schedule. In the long run the hard work was rewarding. Coach Finazzo and his team didn’t fail to become “the champs” once again.

AWESOME AS EVER — After thrilling the league with the outstanding season he had as a sophomore, 105 lbs, Joe Botello returned to turn out some awesome performances. ◀

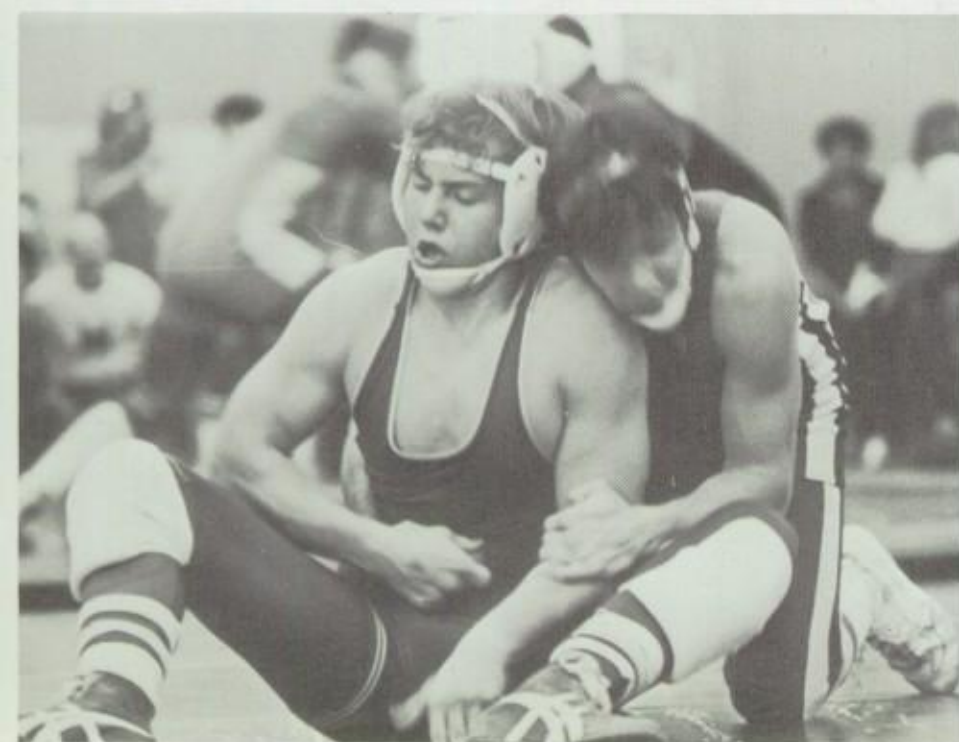

THE ADVANTAGE OF EXPERIENCE — Wrestling for his fourth year at Pacific, senior Danny Palhegyi had the advantage of experience and talent behind him which helped him overcome his opponent. ◀

POWERFUL PAT — For his height, Junior Pat Major was extremely powerful and an expert wrestler who very often ended his bout with a pin. ▼

MAN OF THE MAT — To get a better view of things, the referees often met with the mat as in this case where Junior Joe Botello worked on another pin. ◀

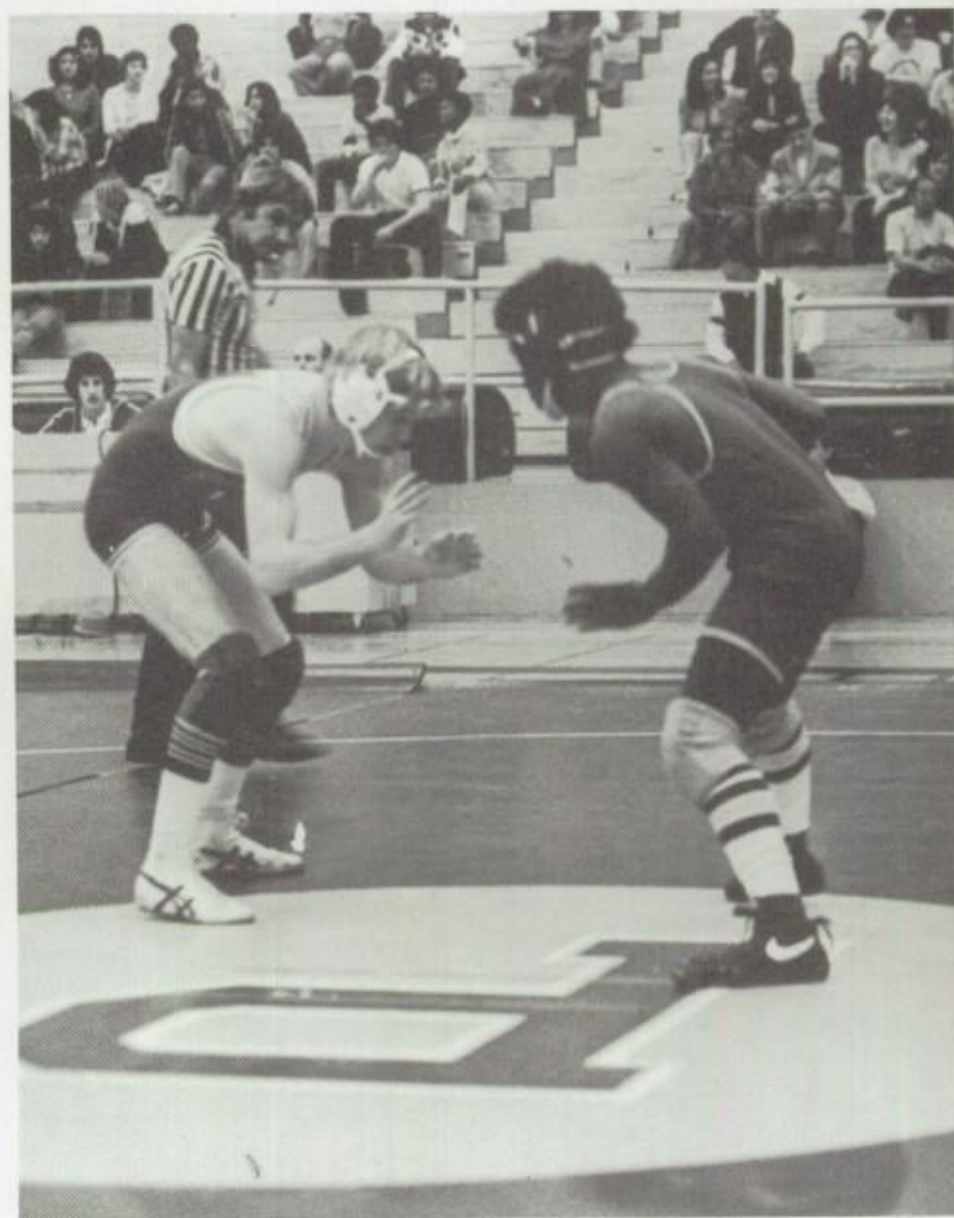

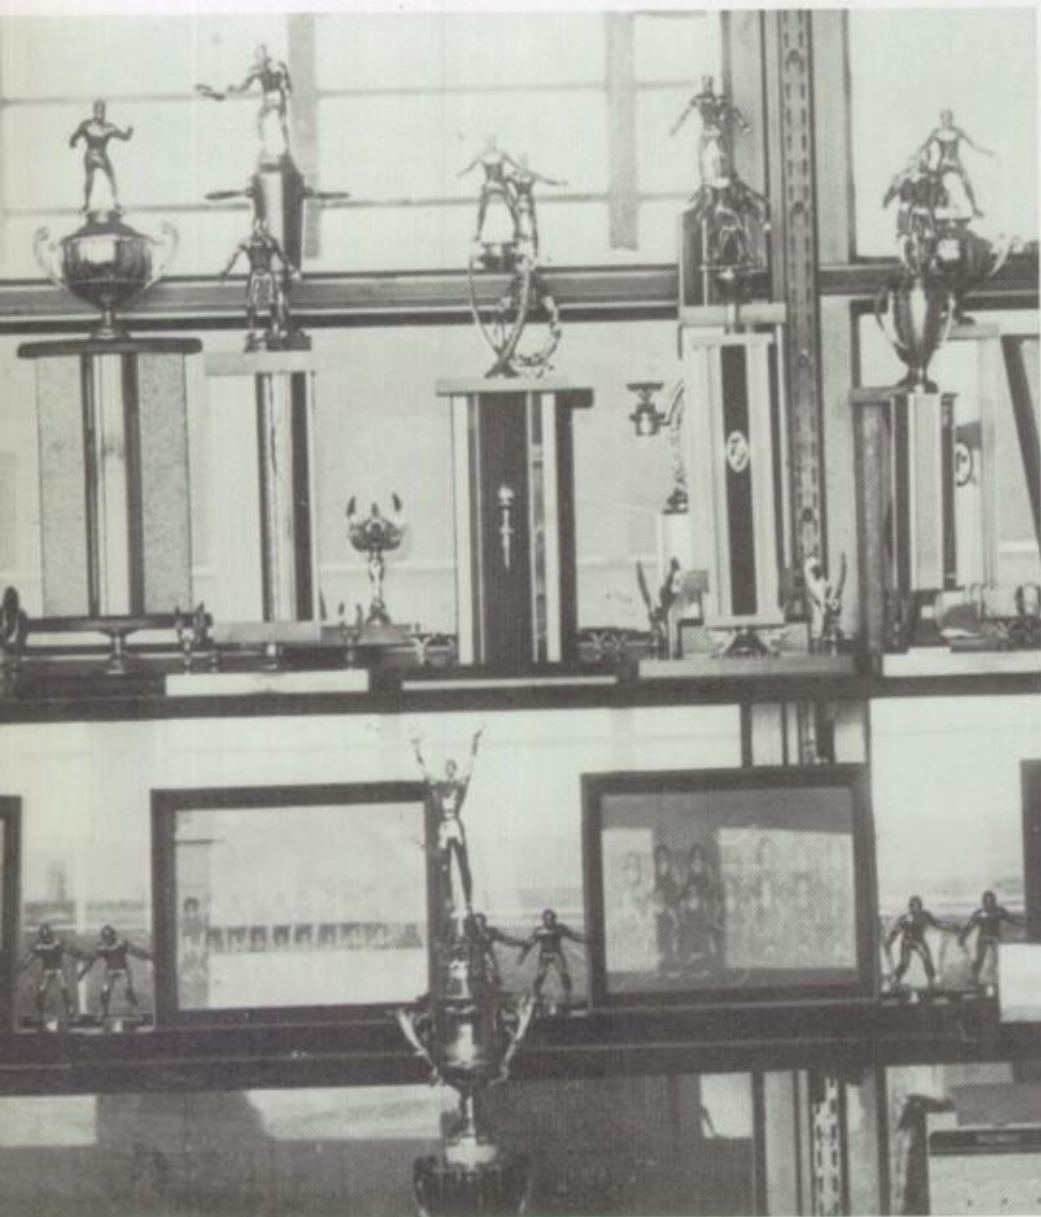

BREAKING AWAY — With the skill and finesse of a true wrestler who knew the moves, Ricky Beers broke away from his aggressor for an escape and another point. ▼

INCREDIBLE STRONG — Exerting tremendous pressure on his grimacing opponent, 167 lbs Ricky Beers used his incredible strength to win the tournament round. ▼

STRENGTH AND COORDINATION HAD ITS REWARDS

Starvation, running, building up muscles, and following coach Finazzo's every order was the routine plan for the wrestlers daily workout. Building champions came as a natural job for coach Finazzo.

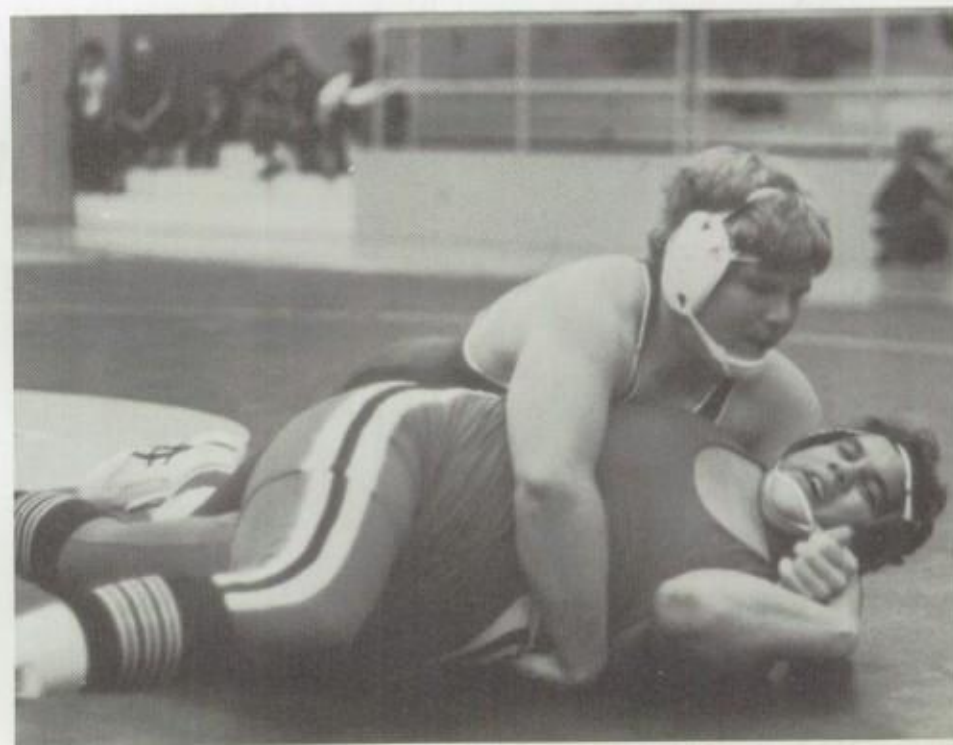

SYMBOLS OF VICTORY — Throughout the many years since wrestling first began at Pacific, Coach Finazzo's mat men won many tournaments and titles. The huge collection of trophies accumulated in the coaches office is only a small symbol of their many exciting victories. ▲

BIG MAN OF THE PAC — As the heavyweight wrestler of the infamous Pac wrestling squad, Kevin Anderson set the example for the little guys building up for another pin. ►

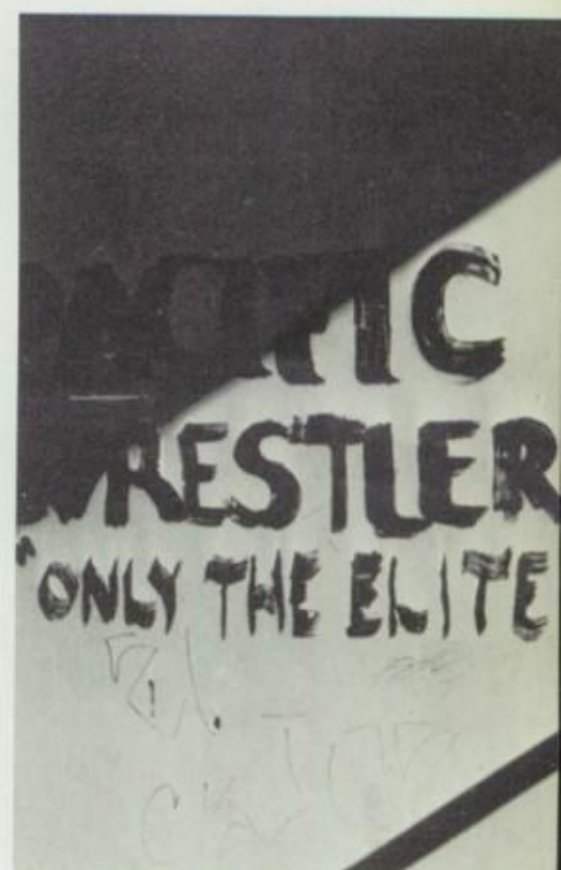

FAMILIAR SIGHT — The scoreboard was a familiar sight at the matches showing another Pac win. ►

READY FOR ANOTHER WIN — Outstanding Junior, Pat Major, was always prepared for his matches. ▲

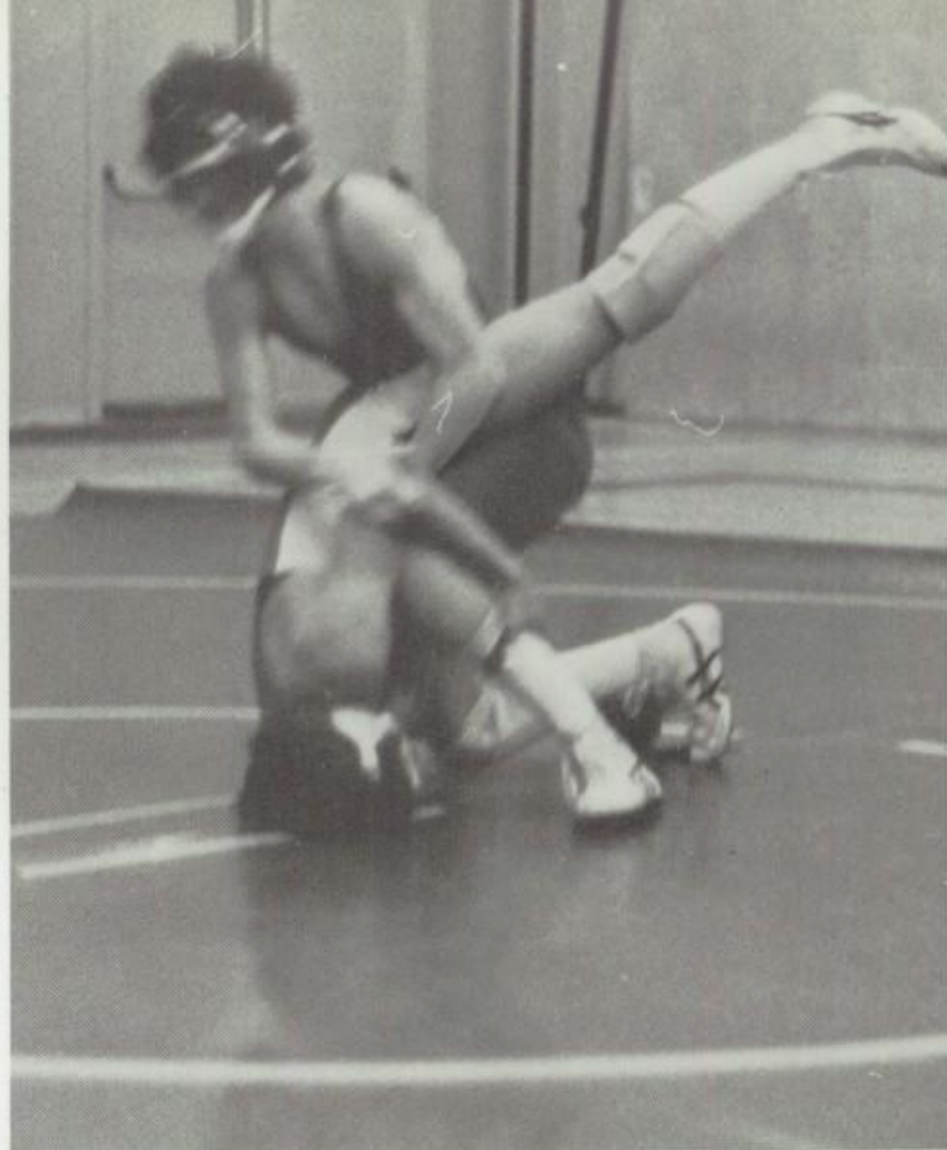

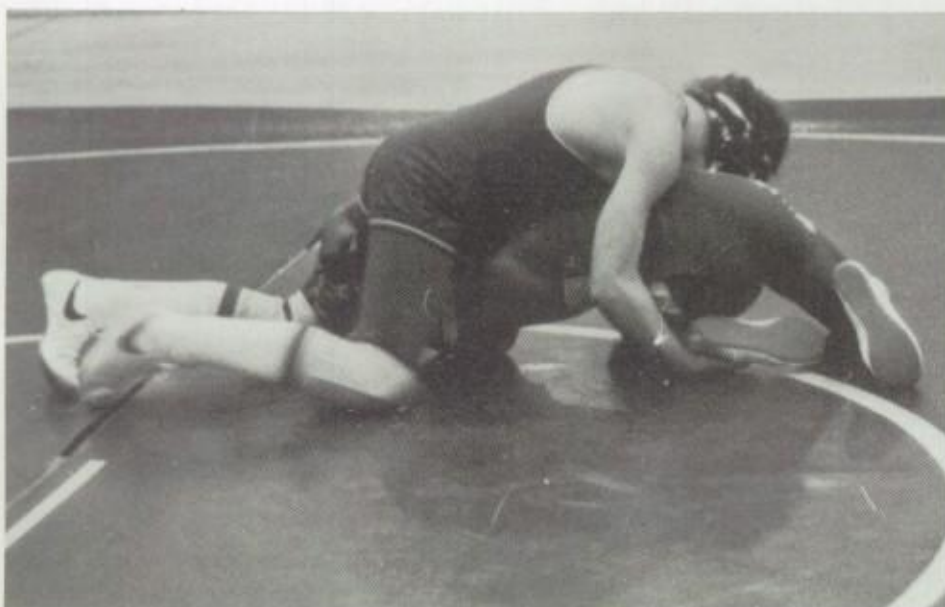

THEY HAD "IT" — Pacific's Varsity wrestling team had what it took to be the best. Their talent and hard work gave them the right to call themselves "The Elite." ▲

All the tennis jocks in San Berdoo gathered in the early spring to start the year going. Pacific had their own reunion, under the coaching of Mr. Havemann the guys sprang and dove for that rocketing tennis ball that always seemed to come from the other side of the net. Whether they played singles or doubles, winning came easy.

40-LOVE — Richard Henderson could often be seen practicing before and after school proving to be a valuable asset to the team. ►

I THINK I SEE IT — Wondering where the ball went, Mark Greco, shaded his eyes in an attempt to find it. ►

UUMMPH — For that extra power, Ty Coniglio combined a little sound effects with a two-handed backhand. ►

TENNIS WAS THEIR RACKET

FOLLOWING THROUGH — Returning a tough backhand was Pierre Ferland to follow through with a victory. ◀

STRETCHING OUT — Displaying a little speed was John Johnson stretching out to return a wide serve. ▼

IN THE SWING OF THINGS

Aiming at a microscopic ball in the midst of high green grass was an art for golfers. The chances of getting the gold ball to glide to the general vicinity of the hole was numerous for the golf team. Riding around in the speedy golf carts was the highlight of their year.

KEEP ON RUNNING

"Keep going feet, pace yourself," were common thoughts of a wise trackster. The field events demanded that extra inborn spring. Whether it was in the shotput arm or the high jump and broad jump legs, sweating, grunting and huffing and puffing were all clues to winning for the Pirate track and field team.

IT'S A BIRD, IT'S A PLANE . . . —
As Lord of the long jump, Willie Husband flew through the air with such finesse, he often turned out some remarkable distances. ►

EPPSY DAISY — Mastering the pole vault took a lot more uumph than expected, as Robert Brownlee quickly discovered in his first attempts at the sport. ▼

ALL AROUND SUPER STAR — Having been named Pacific's best defensive back wasn't enough for senior, Sherman Jackson, who again never ceased to amaze the track spectators when he performed the long jump. ▼

RARING TO RUN — Running the 880, Robert Schauf, Jeff Burbine, and Terry Chadwell proved to be superior over the other "joggers," often maintaining the first three positions of the last leg to the finish. ▼

POWER PUTTER — Though shot putting called for a tremendous amount of strength, sophomore, David Holiday, knew what it took to send it soaring into the sky to reach great lengths.

WIDE WORLD OF SWIMMING

By popular demand, Pacific's swimming team went coed. With the idol "Aqua-person" in their eyes, boys' and girls' alike swam to win. Both sexes found that they could swim together and still have a prosperous chlorine season.

WHO SAYS I HAVE OUTSIDE HELP? — Psyching up before a race, John Devries took on a devilish look. ◀

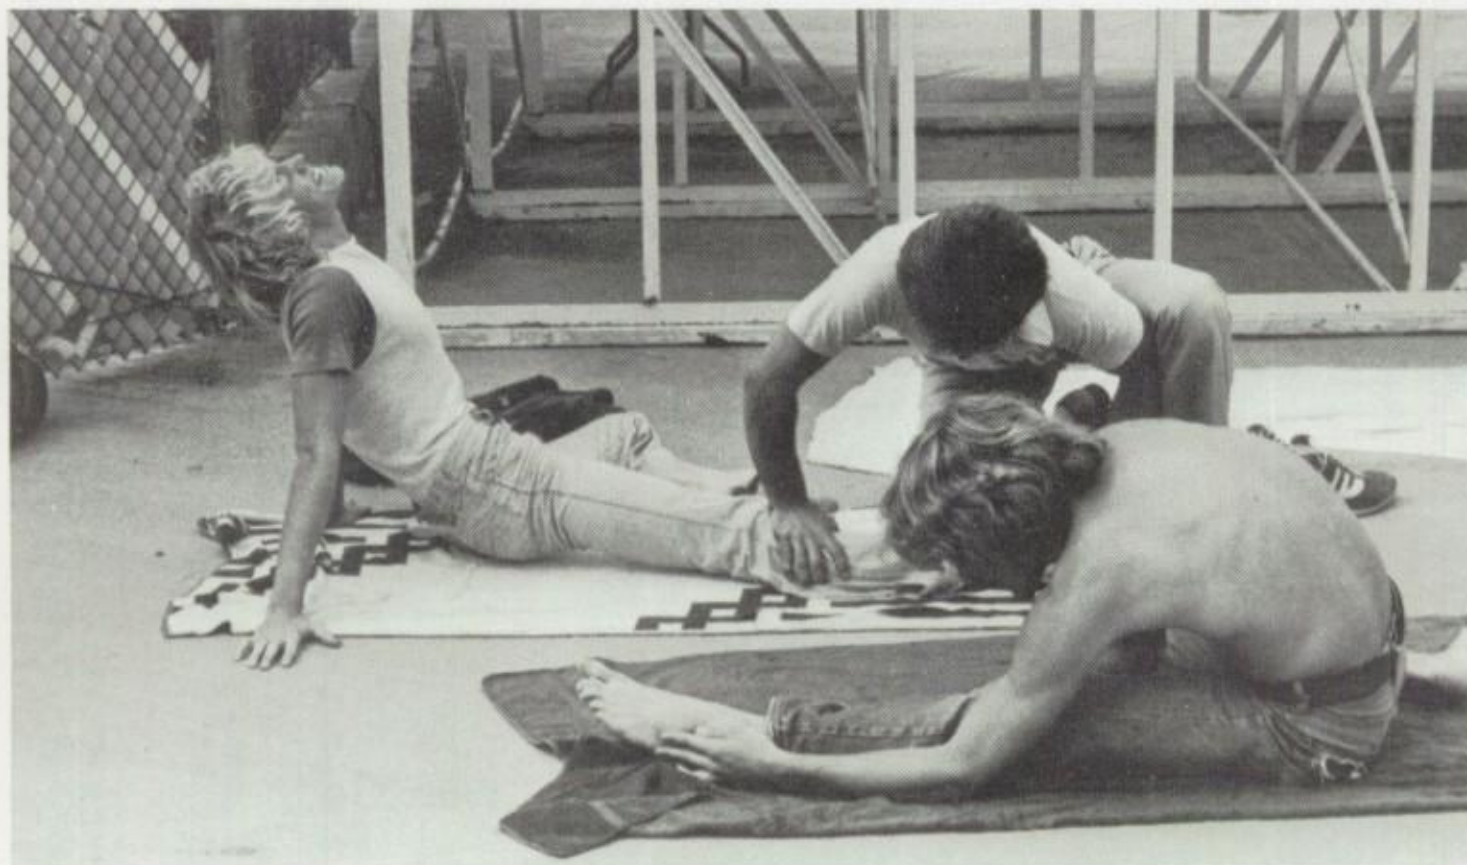

WHAT IS THAT? — always a cautious swimmer, Kathy Botello takes a short view of the end of the pool. ▲

AQUA BEAR — A worried opponent looks over to see Mittie Toller gaining on her in the 200 I.M. ▲

FLYING THROUGH THE POOL — Showing off his favorite stroke, John Devries dominates the butterfly stroke easily. ◀

SUPER STUDS? — Gene Conley, Dan Fox, and Tim Vincent all seemed to think so, but it probably depends on your point of view. ▼
S-T-R-E-C-H-O-U-T — Coach Doug Simon looks on as Russel Rebmann and Terry Whitener try to stay limber. ▼

HIGH DIVER — Showing just how good he is, Russell Rebmann floats in mid-air, and executes a perfect handstand on the water. ▼

They spring off the diving board into mid-air, struggle to keep their graceful form and quickly thrust into the awaiting water below. The life of a diver is a unique experience. With the diving board and speedo as their best friends', the divers captured the taste of victory.

TAKE THAT! — Making the play look easy, second baseman Greg Kaseno refused to let any Terrier get away with safety stealing his base.

NEED SOME HELP? — Looking for an easy out, Curtis Peete attempts to nail a slow runner. ◀

PUT IT RIGHT IN THERE — Confident that the batter will miss John Denton's fork-ball, John Deetz waits for the ball to land in his glove. ◀

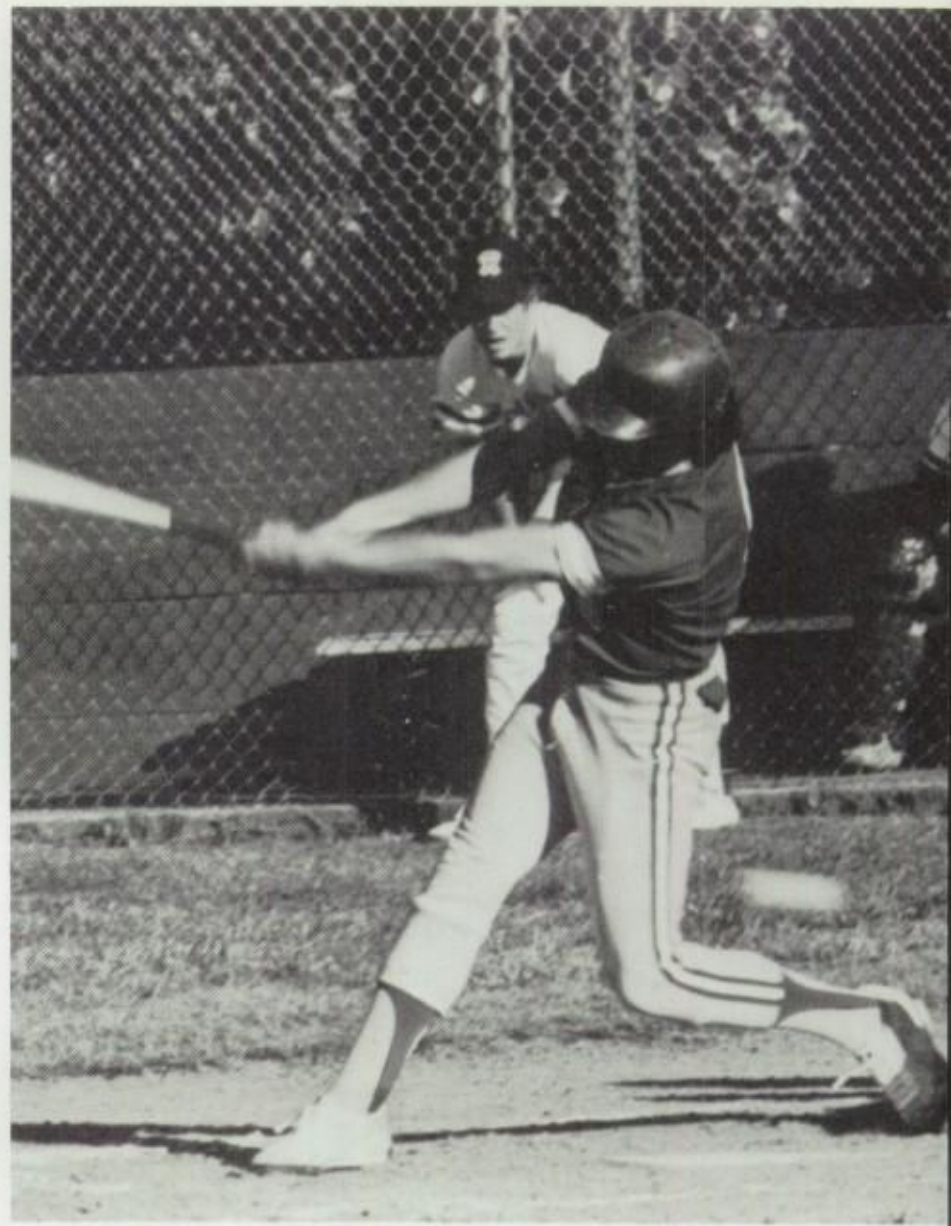

COMIN' THROUGH! — Curtis Peete gives a fair warning that he is on his way, but unfortunately, the 2nd baseman didn't get out of the way in time. ◀

THE MAN WITH THE GOLDEN BAT — Putting super power behind his bat, Doug Whittaker hoped for a home run. ▼

There was more to baseball than running to first to second to third and eventually, with luck, home again. Yes, this was the object, but meeting the bat with the ball, catching it in a leather glove and being quick to react were definite musts. Due to the rain the first month of training was in the gym. Games were cancelled because of the rain, but that didn't stop our guys from pulling through with victory.

HEY BATTER BATTER — Eagerly waiting for a chance to prove himself, Captain Walt Overholt stood with the ominous look of a linebacker, just daring the ball to come into his territory. ▲

BIG NINER — Two-time, All-League and Varsity MVP, George Cordero, had the sweetest swing in baseball once again, which brought many a pro scout to Perris Hill Park this season. ▲

GOT YA — With a swift scoop and a deep stretch, Junior Walt Overholt made an easy out. ▲

CRACK — It's a good thing that Robert Reed was using an aluminum bat, or he'd have run up quite a bill. ◀

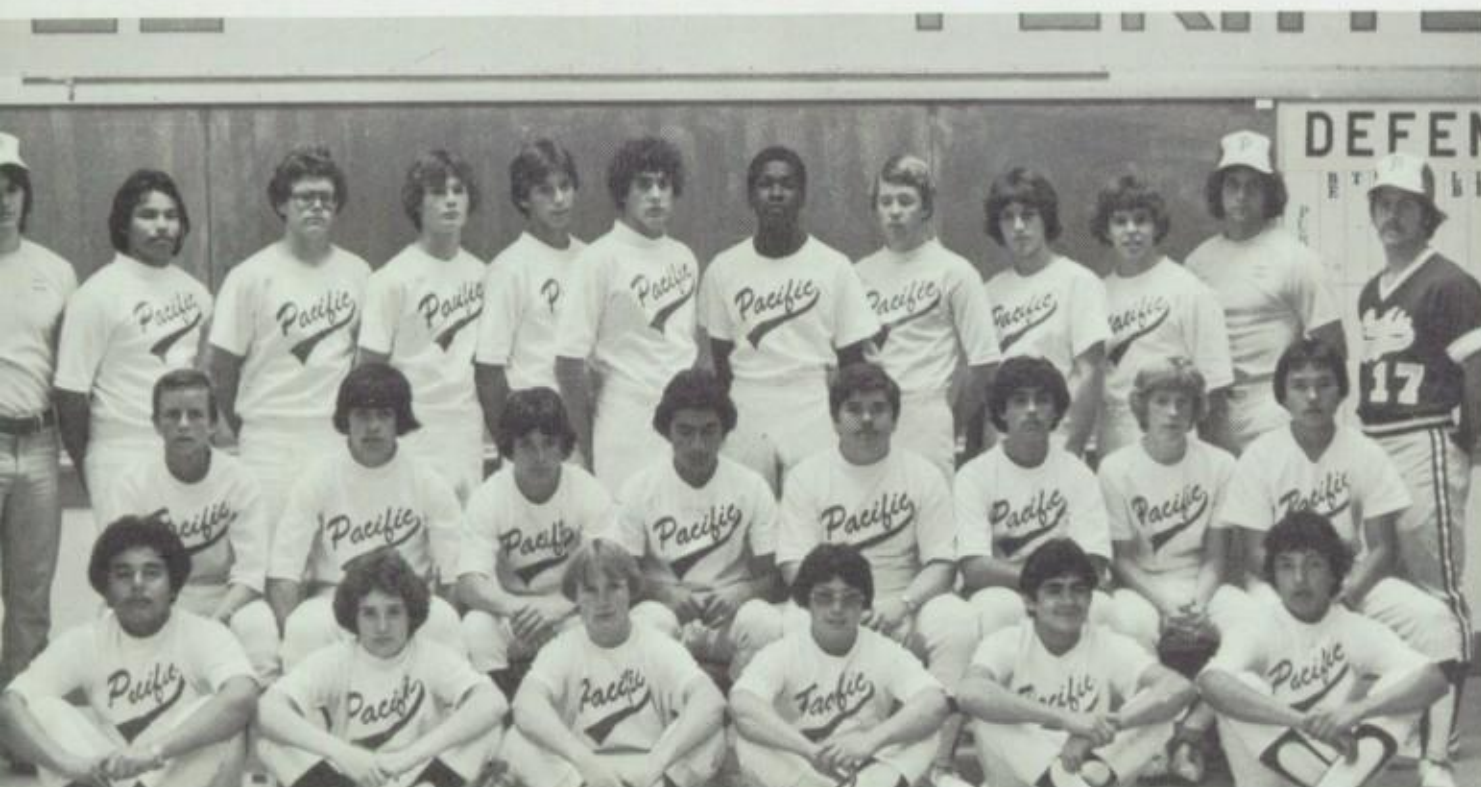

LAY IT ON ME — Pete Avalos had an important job on the J.V. Baseball Team. It wasn't easy to call the pitches and throw down runners at second base. ◀

To break up the monotonous academic regimen, students went “head over heels” into school activities. Everything from rallies to parties cured their fidgets for fun. Almost the impossible had to occur in order to keep these active kids at home. Friday and Saturday nights were devoted to their social lives. Football and basketball games, ASB dances, special forums, the donkey basketball game, rallies, and drama performances, filled up their weekends. These active days in high school are always the most treasured when they are looked back on later in life.

HOMECOMING CANDIDATES — The list of 1979 Football Homecoming Candidates included Pam Snyder, Sandy Siperstein, Barbara Roberts, Hedi Martinez, Lydia O'Campo, Cindy Jones, Kathy Hynes, Julie Fox, and Loreise Espinosa. Stephanie Davis, Carla Collins, Gloria Davis, Lisa Chakos and Tracy Darkens (not shown). ▼

A voice boomed over the loud speaker quieting the packed crowd seated on the bleachers. As the court was announced one could feel the excitement and anticipation in the air. Who would become the 1979-80 football homecoming queen? With a drum roll came the name, "Loreise Espinoza" and the applause broke out.

SHE INSPIRED THEM TO VICTORY — Our very own head cheerleader, Loreise, is the inspiration needed for our victory over the Eagles even though she had to sit out on the cheering. ▲

LORIESE ESPINOSA 1979-80 FOOTBALL QUEEN

ISN'T SHE LOVELY! — Loriese Espinosa is truly a queen, indeed. As head of leadership she lead the spirit and kept it going throughout the whole year. Due to her warm and friendly personality Loriese was a very special person at good ol' Pac High! ◀

ONE QUEEN TO ANOTHER —
 Sandy was honored to have last year's queen, Tammy Kircher, put the queens robe on her. It will be Sandy's honor to present the robe to next year's queen . . . ? ►
A ROW OF BEAUTY — Being crowned, this year's homecoming Queen Sandy and her court received a well deserved applause from the crowd. ▼

KITTY ARNOLD — 1st Princess

KATHY MENDOZA — 2nd Princess

CONGRATS! — It is our honor to present Sandy Siperstein, 1980 basketball homecoming queen. Being the beautiful person she is added the finishing touches to an eventful evening, a lot of pirate pride, a victory and a queen. ◀

SANDY, A TOUCH OF CLASS

On the night of Feb. 8, 1980 a traditional ceremony took place in the gym, the crowning of the basketball homecoming queen, Miss Sandy Siperstein. Her court of two princesses were announced during the half-time ceremonies honoring the candidates. After the excitement of the evening, a queen, a court, and a victory for the school was won. As the night went on in a memorable evening for Sandy, Kitty, and Kathy.

12th ANNUAL STUDENT ART SHOW

Doodling on their pee-chee during class was not classified as art, but to our surprise some students found that there were courses in which you could doodle for credit. Although art seemed so simple, a lot of time was spent on each piece. These went into the art exhibit held in the library Feb. 18-29. Some realized that painting could be done without numbers.

ART EXHIBIT — The many talents of our students appeared in an art exhibit that was put on in the library. Sketchings, paintings, prints, and jewelry of all sort made up the showcase, for everyone to see. ►

ART IS HEALTHY — Healthy for those who couldn't find anything better to do with their hands. Students spent long hours on their masterpieces and it showed in the exhibit put on by Mr. Nielsen and Mr. Brady's art classes. ▲

IT TAKES ALL KINDS — Pacific had a variety of people with lots of spirit and big goals and here we see Margo Delion, Pam Bailey, and Patty Garcia as they might look when they grow up. ◀

PRETTY PIRATES — If only George Cordero, Kurt Carlson, and Lance Hairgrove were not seniors, I'm sure Mrs. Lemon would have been delighted to have them try out for cheers for the following year. Too bad guys. ◀

WE HAVE SPIRIT, HOW 'BOUT YOU

At approximately 11:35 on Oct. 31 in the quad, the bewitching hour had begun. Crazy costumes, and ice cream eating contests were the haunting activities that brought out the "trick or treat" blood in all the students.

THE HORSEMAN RIDES AGAIN — Nancy Myers didn't have anything to wear on costume day, so she got together a horse and a feather and ended up winning most original in the costume contest at lunch. ◀

THE PERFECT COUPLE — This happy go-lucky-couple, Virginia and Wally Wudette, are the winners of the newlywed game in which they won a a fabulous all-expenses paid trip to San Bernardino. Here they marvel at the fabulous sites of the Pacific campus. ◀

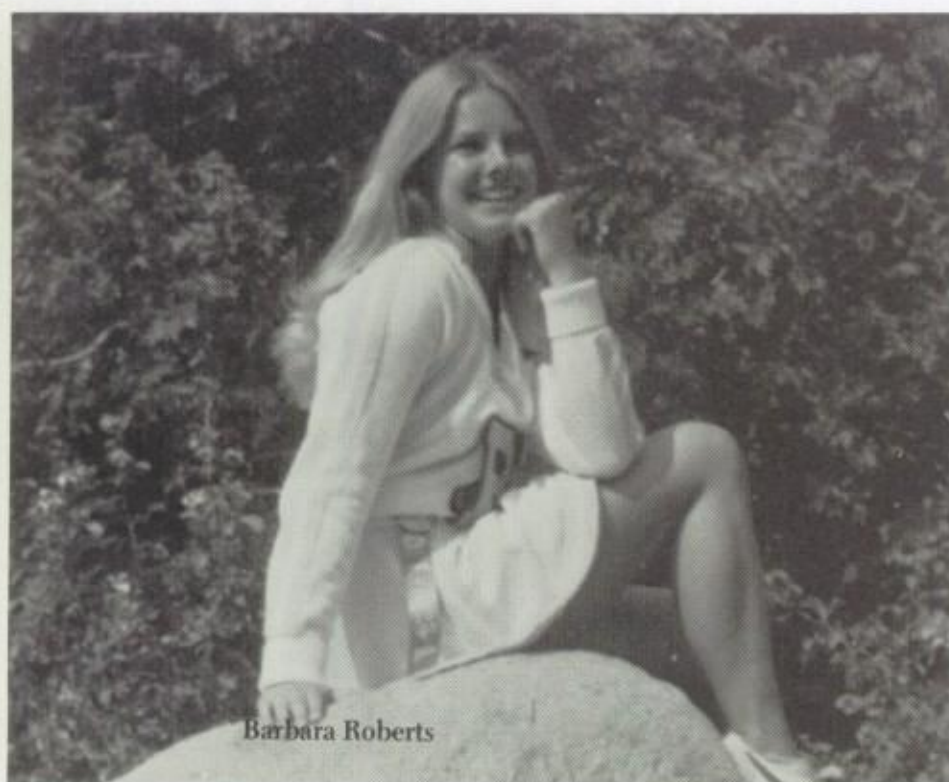

VARSITY CHEERS SHOW THEIR PRIDE WITH SPIRIT

The hard work, the competitions, and the trophies the varsity cheerleaders received helped separate this year from all others. Under the leadership of Loreise Espinosa the girls practiced five to ten hours a week keeping their pep jumpin'.

J.V.'S ARE STEPPING OUT

The J.V. cheers proved that they were not a crowd. Together they riled up spastic spirit for victorious J.V. teams.

HANG IN THERE! — Together Tracy, Annette, September, Loreise, Danysa, Barbara and Arlene led all the rallies and provide a winning atmosphere at Pacific. ▲
ALRIGHT!! — As head of J.V. cheers Laura Saucedo always has her squad lookin' great with big friendly spirited smiles. ▲

Eager and filled with ecstatic, pirate pride
the J.V. poms swirled daintily through the year. No matter where they cheered, they added
special spirit to everyone.

SHAKING THEIR POMPS TO VICTORY — Becky, Lisa, Susan, Karen, Gloria, Terri and Alisa show that their great routines not only did well with Pacific, but also won them some trophies at a summer camp. ◀

VARSITY POMPS KICK IT UP WITH SPIRIT

Varsity poms "took the cake." During the summer they attended a pom-pom camp at Loyola University. Bust'n with pirate pride the girls came home with two trophies and a dream come true. On August 18, 1979, the poms kicked up with spirit the packed Rams stadium at the Rams versus Seahawks football game.

BEES SPIRIT IS SKY HIGH

They may have been the underclassmen, but boy did they have lots of enthusiasm. The bee cheerleaders let their spirit roar sky high through the sporting events and spirit-building pep rallies. The bee cheers had their bubbling spirit spill'n onto all of the Pirates.

SHE'S GOT WHAT IT TAKES —
As head Bee cheer, Patricia Drury exemplifies the exciting spirit that the infamous Bees always maintained.▲

GO GET 'EM BEES — Lisa Norquist, Patricia Drury (head), Lori Glick, Julie Sessions, Carole Dolan, Wendy Reed, Angie Miller, Linda Cameron, and Shari Lewis.▲▲

VARSITY FLAGS HAVE IT, EVEN IF THE TWIRLING'S TUFF

It took a lot of co-ordination to keep those poles twirling. Being a flag required hours and hours of patt'n a head and rub'n a stomach at the same time. But from the stands it looked like they mastered it because miraculously they didn't bean each other in the head with their moves.

THEY DID MORE THAN JUST MARCH

Winning and dining at the Officer's Club on Norton Air Force Base was a night to be remembered. The ROTC Ball was a special social event for all of the cadets in the program. An opportunity to dress up and be with that someone special was a long awaited evening for those who attended the ROTC Ball.

AN AIR OF DIGNITY — at an ROTC parade, our pirates proudly represented Pacific displaying their banner with great class. ▲

SOME ENCHANTED EVENING — For most members, including Robert Schauf and Socorro Moreno, the ROTC ball at the officers Club proved to be quite a romantic affair. ▲

SIT UP STRAIGHT HONEY — Trying to keep his date in line, Mike DeMarco decided to sit out the next dance and stick to the dinner table. ▲

Cinco de Mayo translated means the fifth of May. On May 5th, Mexico declared it's independence. Even today this great moment in history warrants celebration all through the nation. Everything from dances to parades were held in remembrance of the day Mexico was granted freedom.

"SO THIS IS MEXICO" — Was the title of the play that some students, Liz Gudino, Miguel Ramos and Pablo Arechavaleta, put together as part of their celebration in the Cinco de Mayo. ▲

BONITA MEANS BEAUTIFUL — And these two girls, Maribell Acosta and Armida Valenzuela are! They were part of the six dancers who did dances like "Jarabe Topatio." ▲

OLE' — These six students Maribell A., Armida V., Pauline R., Jamie L., Antonio Q., and Pablo V., all danced to their hearts content. ▲

GRANDE PACIFICO — Part of another dance team Maria O., Shelia G., Josefina S., and John G., found a nice tree to pose by . . . or rather to rest by. ▲

MEXICAN INDEPENDENCE DAY

DRILL TEAM ROCKS TO THE BEAT

Routine dance moves were the constant practice of every member of the drill team. Performing at parades, pep rallies and football games were just a few of the many responsibilities they took on. With Mrs. Olsen, their faithful sponsor, the girls kept the good times roll'n.

BOOGIE OOGIE — Learning the routines was a hassle especially in the quad but it is worth it in the end. ▲

LOOKS LIKE A WINNER — Lynn Lebernight plays a big part as head of Drill team. It shows in their routines. ▲

BOOGIE TO THE BEAT!

Pacific's dances were all disheartening flops, but to fulfill their responsibilities the A.S.B. kept planning dances for the special occasions. Students just couldn't stand to put on their dancing shoes for one evening.

RISQUE — Throughout the year the A.S.B. found bands to play at our dances, "Risqué" was one of the few local bands who played for our Valentine's Dance. ►

HOLD THAT POSE — Disco Dance lessons, did well for Danny Fox and Alisa Drury as they display their talents on the ol' Cafeteria floor at one of Pacific's famous dances. ►

BLACK HISTORY WEEK

Preparing for the forums and events that went on during Black History Week, students became one in sharing and learning the racial backgrounds of others. The events that went on throughout the week were a Soul Food Day, College Fair Day, a Forum presented by speech students, members of L.I.B.S. and B.S.U. in honor of the great Martin Luther King. Along with other events that went on through the week it proved to be very meaningful and great experience.

YEAH, I'M WORKING — Members of L.I.B.S. and B.S.U. got together and put on a College Fair Day for Black History Week which was held in the cafeteria and even Warren Henderson was found giving a helping hand. ▲

SO WHERE'S THE FOOD? — Being part of the black history week program, there appeared to be a lot of students to help eat the food for soul food day. Unfortunately, it wasn't McDonalds, and they had to wait for chow. ▲

"I HAD A DREAM — Gloria Davis presented the poem, "I had a Dream," for the Martin Luther King forum. An excellent speech student, Gloria Davis had everyones undivided attention, and left the audience. ▲

THE THRILL OF VICTORY —
After the donkey basketball team experienced the agony of the feet, arms, legs, and tush, they proudly received the donkey award. ▼

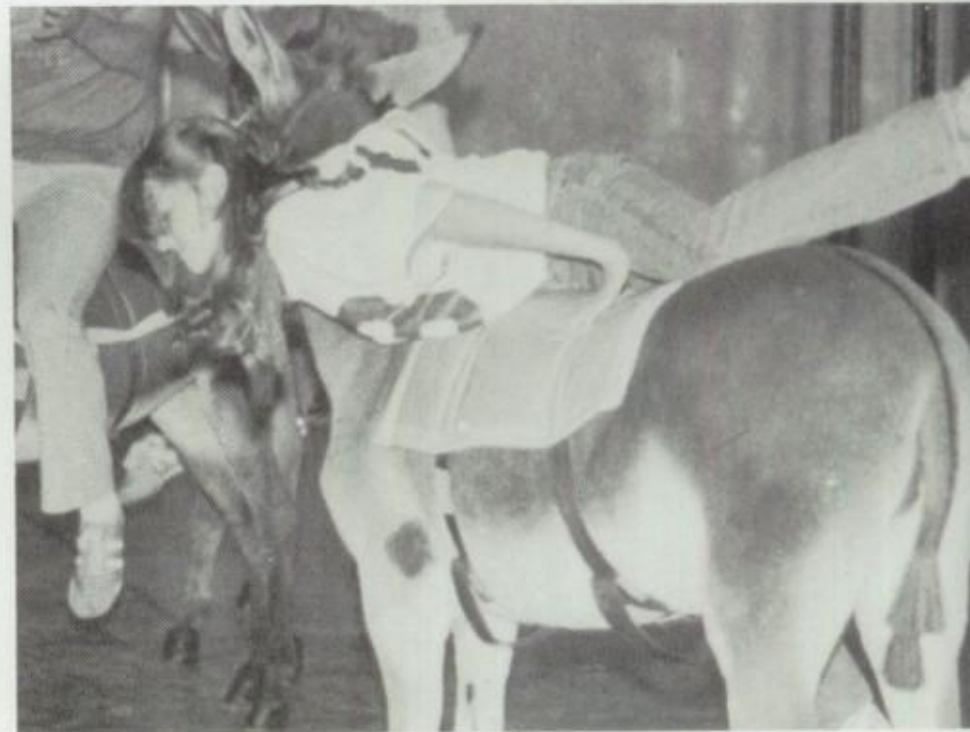

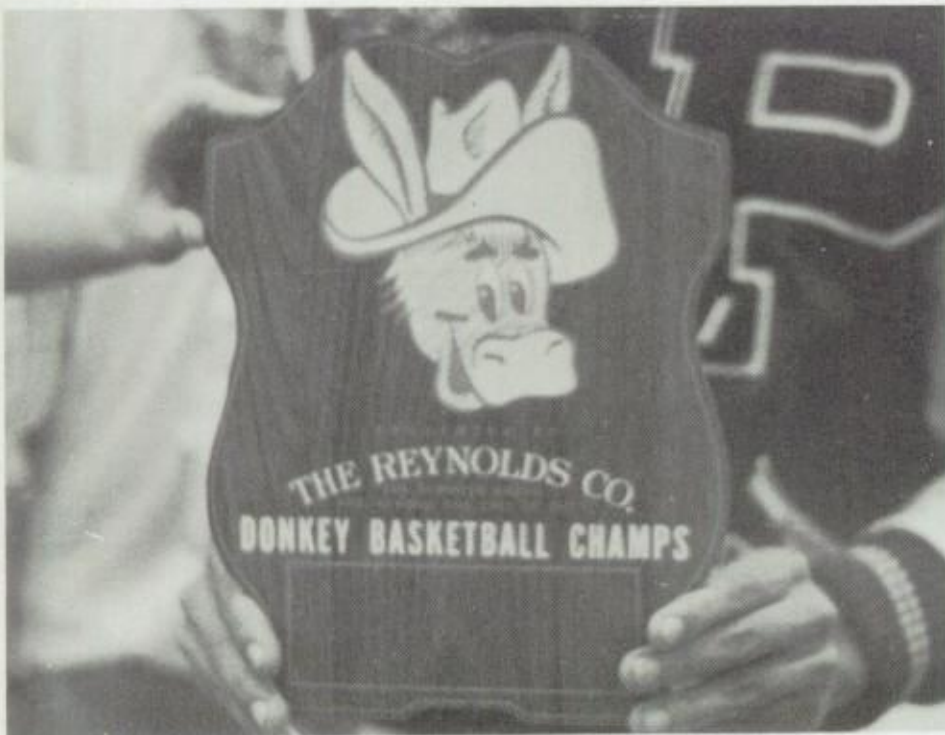

THE '79' TEAM — K. Carlson, L. Halgrove, S. Siperstein, D. Dolan, K. Clark, D. Dalhegyi, F. Fletes, T. Darkens, E. Fonzi, J. Deetz, B. Johnson. ▼

OH NO — NOT AGAIN! Kelly Clark is one of the honorary lettermen who seemed to be constantly dismounting her donkey — in one way or another. ▼

WHO'S THE BOSS? — Lance Hairgrove and Danny Dolan instantly discover the rigors of donkey training though neither of them mastered the feat of letting them know who's the boss. ▼

LETTERMEN KICKED DONKEY

The letterpersons proved once more that they could kick donkey. Against the police department, the letterpersons battled valiantly with their bullheaded beasts and complete with bruised bodies, they won the close game.

X-MAS MEANS LOVE

Dear Santa, please
bring me a Porsche 924,
new ski equipment and a straight A report card.
Love, your deprived student.

I DON'T BELIEVE IT! —
Belonging to Dantes, Sandy Pendergast and Sheri Bunch had fun passing out carnations but they couldn't believe some of the hilarious cards they received from their secret admirers.
OUR VERY OWN TREE — Donated to Pacific, this tree was primed up by student council.
Isn't it Beautiful.
LOOK OUT, HERE WE COME
— Many students will remember the festive spirit girls' chorus, led by
Mr. Will, spread through the school.
They will also remember that one person who was off key.

SPIRIT, SPIRIT . . . LET'S HEAR IT

NOT ANOTHER PEP RALLY? — To a lot of underclassmen, the pep rally was the highlight of the day! To others (seniors) the pep rally meant a quick donut at Winchells or egg McMuffins at Mac's! Without all of our devoted students and their spirit the pep rallies would have never made it alone. ▲

IN MEMORY OF . . . — The pirate student body gathers at the services prepared by Student Council on the morning of Nov. 2, 1979. The memorial was held for the Eisenhower Eagles, who dreadfully awaited that night, when the pirates would finally put them out of their misery. The Eagles suffered from the terminal disease, losing-itis which was brought on by a sprained morale, a strategy deficiency, and a widespread fear of being "the pirates next victim." ►

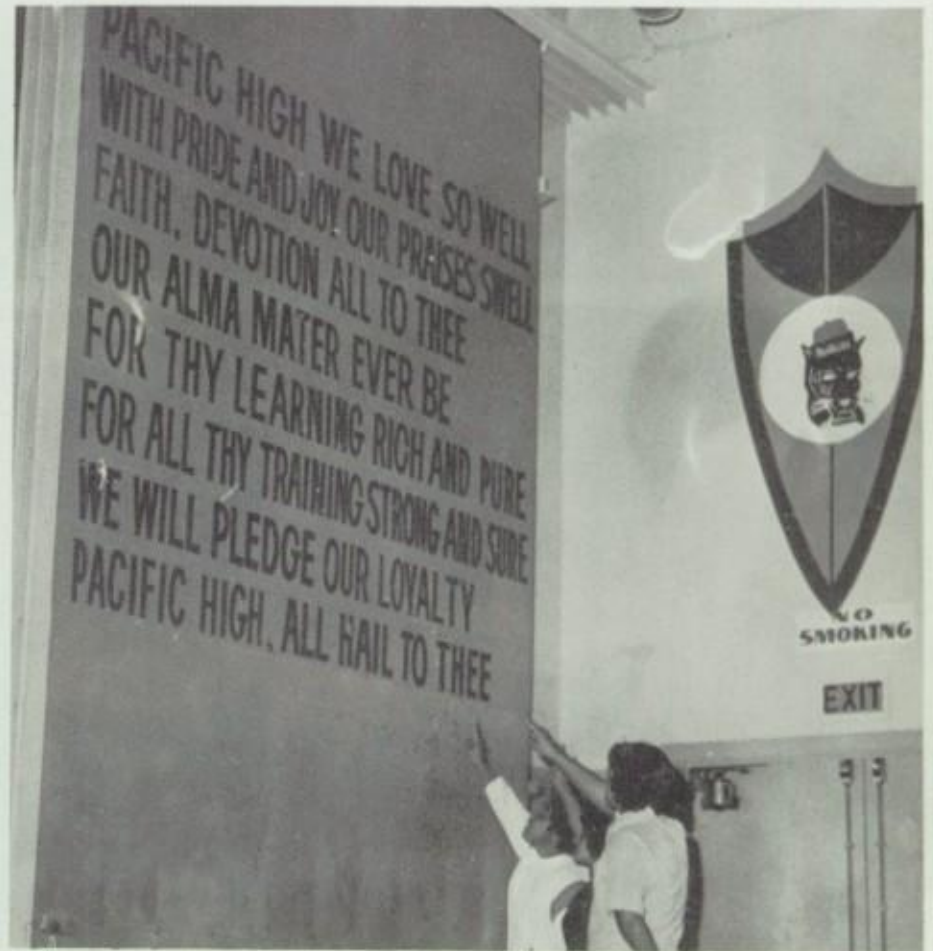

WE MUST GO ON! — Super pirate, Steve Wilson, covers up his remorse at Ike's funeral and conducts the services in a manner of which even "the Big O" was proud. Being senior class president and very involved in other school activities, Steve knew he had to set the example for the rest of the pirates by showing that he still has spirit. ►

WATCH OUT BELOW! — To a visiting student, the gymnasium during a rally seems like an airport. The many talented students put all of their skill to work when they carefully engineered and piloted paper airplanes to their destination — the gym floor. Though it was not appreciated by many students and faculty members, these antics did contribute to the spirited fun of the rallies. ►►

At these weekly gatherings, the kiddies got it all out of their system. Screaming at the top of their lungs and throwing paper airplanes seemed to be the key to releasing tension. The rallies gave students an escape from the daily routine, a chance to support their athletes, and forty minutes to act radical.

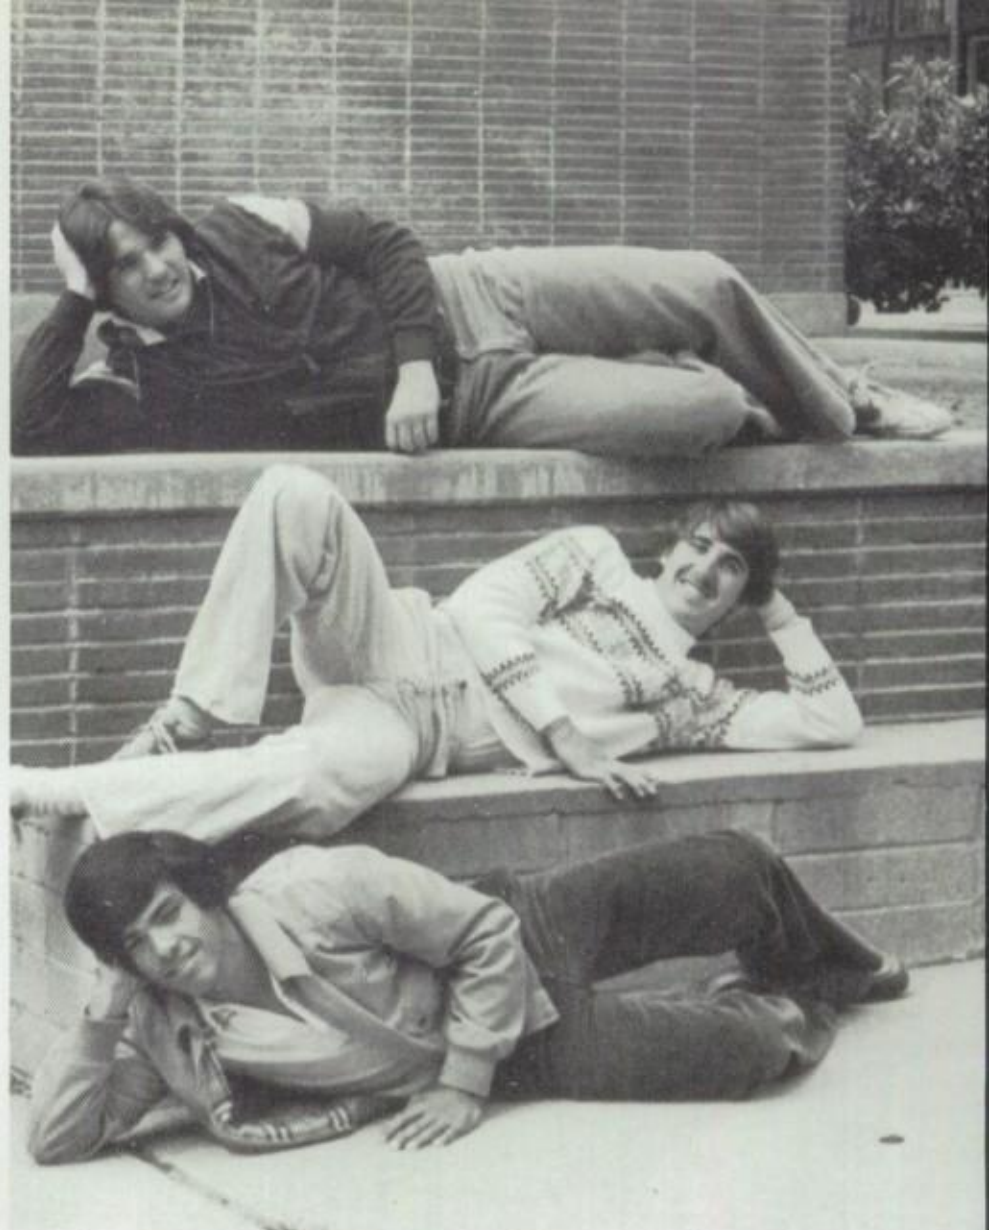

WHO RULES? — The most exciting part of each pep rally was the class competition. Each class tried to out do each other with their signs and screams of "Juniors Rule." From the "Greenies" to the "Veterans", each pirate proudly stood up for his own class until their last year when they finally admitted that "Seniors Do Rule!" ◀

A PLEDGE OF LOYALTY — All pirates, regardless of race, age, or class united together as one when the band, led by John Anzelmo, patriotically played the Alma Mater. Though Pacific had it's share of problems, we were truly devoted when it came to showing our pride. ▲

HEY TEACHERS, LEAVE US KIDS ALONE — Hedy Martinez often found teachers "on her case." I wonder if teachers want us kids to leave them alone; I'm sure everyone knows that answer. ▼

COMFORTABLY NUMB — Feeling comfortable Ed F., Lance H., and Mike B., couldn't be feeling better as they found some soft cement to lay on! All being athletes, they deserve to be comfortably numb! ►

ANOTHER SENIOR ON THE WALL — Mike B., Lydia G., Lance H., Sandy S., Ed F., Dana N., Barbara R., Renee D., Kelly C., and Tracy M., were just a few of the Seniors who agreed with singer "Pink Floyd!" Toward the end of the year, Seniors felt the need to sit . . . on the wall. ▲

"THE WALL," by Pink Floyd was an album that became a hit in the heart of every student. "We don't need no education," cried every student that at one time or the other had to hit the books or cram for a test. "All in All We're Just Another Brick in the Wall."

LEAVE US KIDS ALONE

NOON TIME MUNCHIES

HEY LADY, MY QUARTERS — Mark Collins sometimes found that he'd be eating lunch from the vending machines, unfortunately the vending machines didn't feel like giving him lunch. ◀

FRIENDS — Lunch time was the social hour for these who couldn't bum a ride out to lunch! Every so often you could pick out a senior among this quad full of people socializing with the underclassmen. ▼

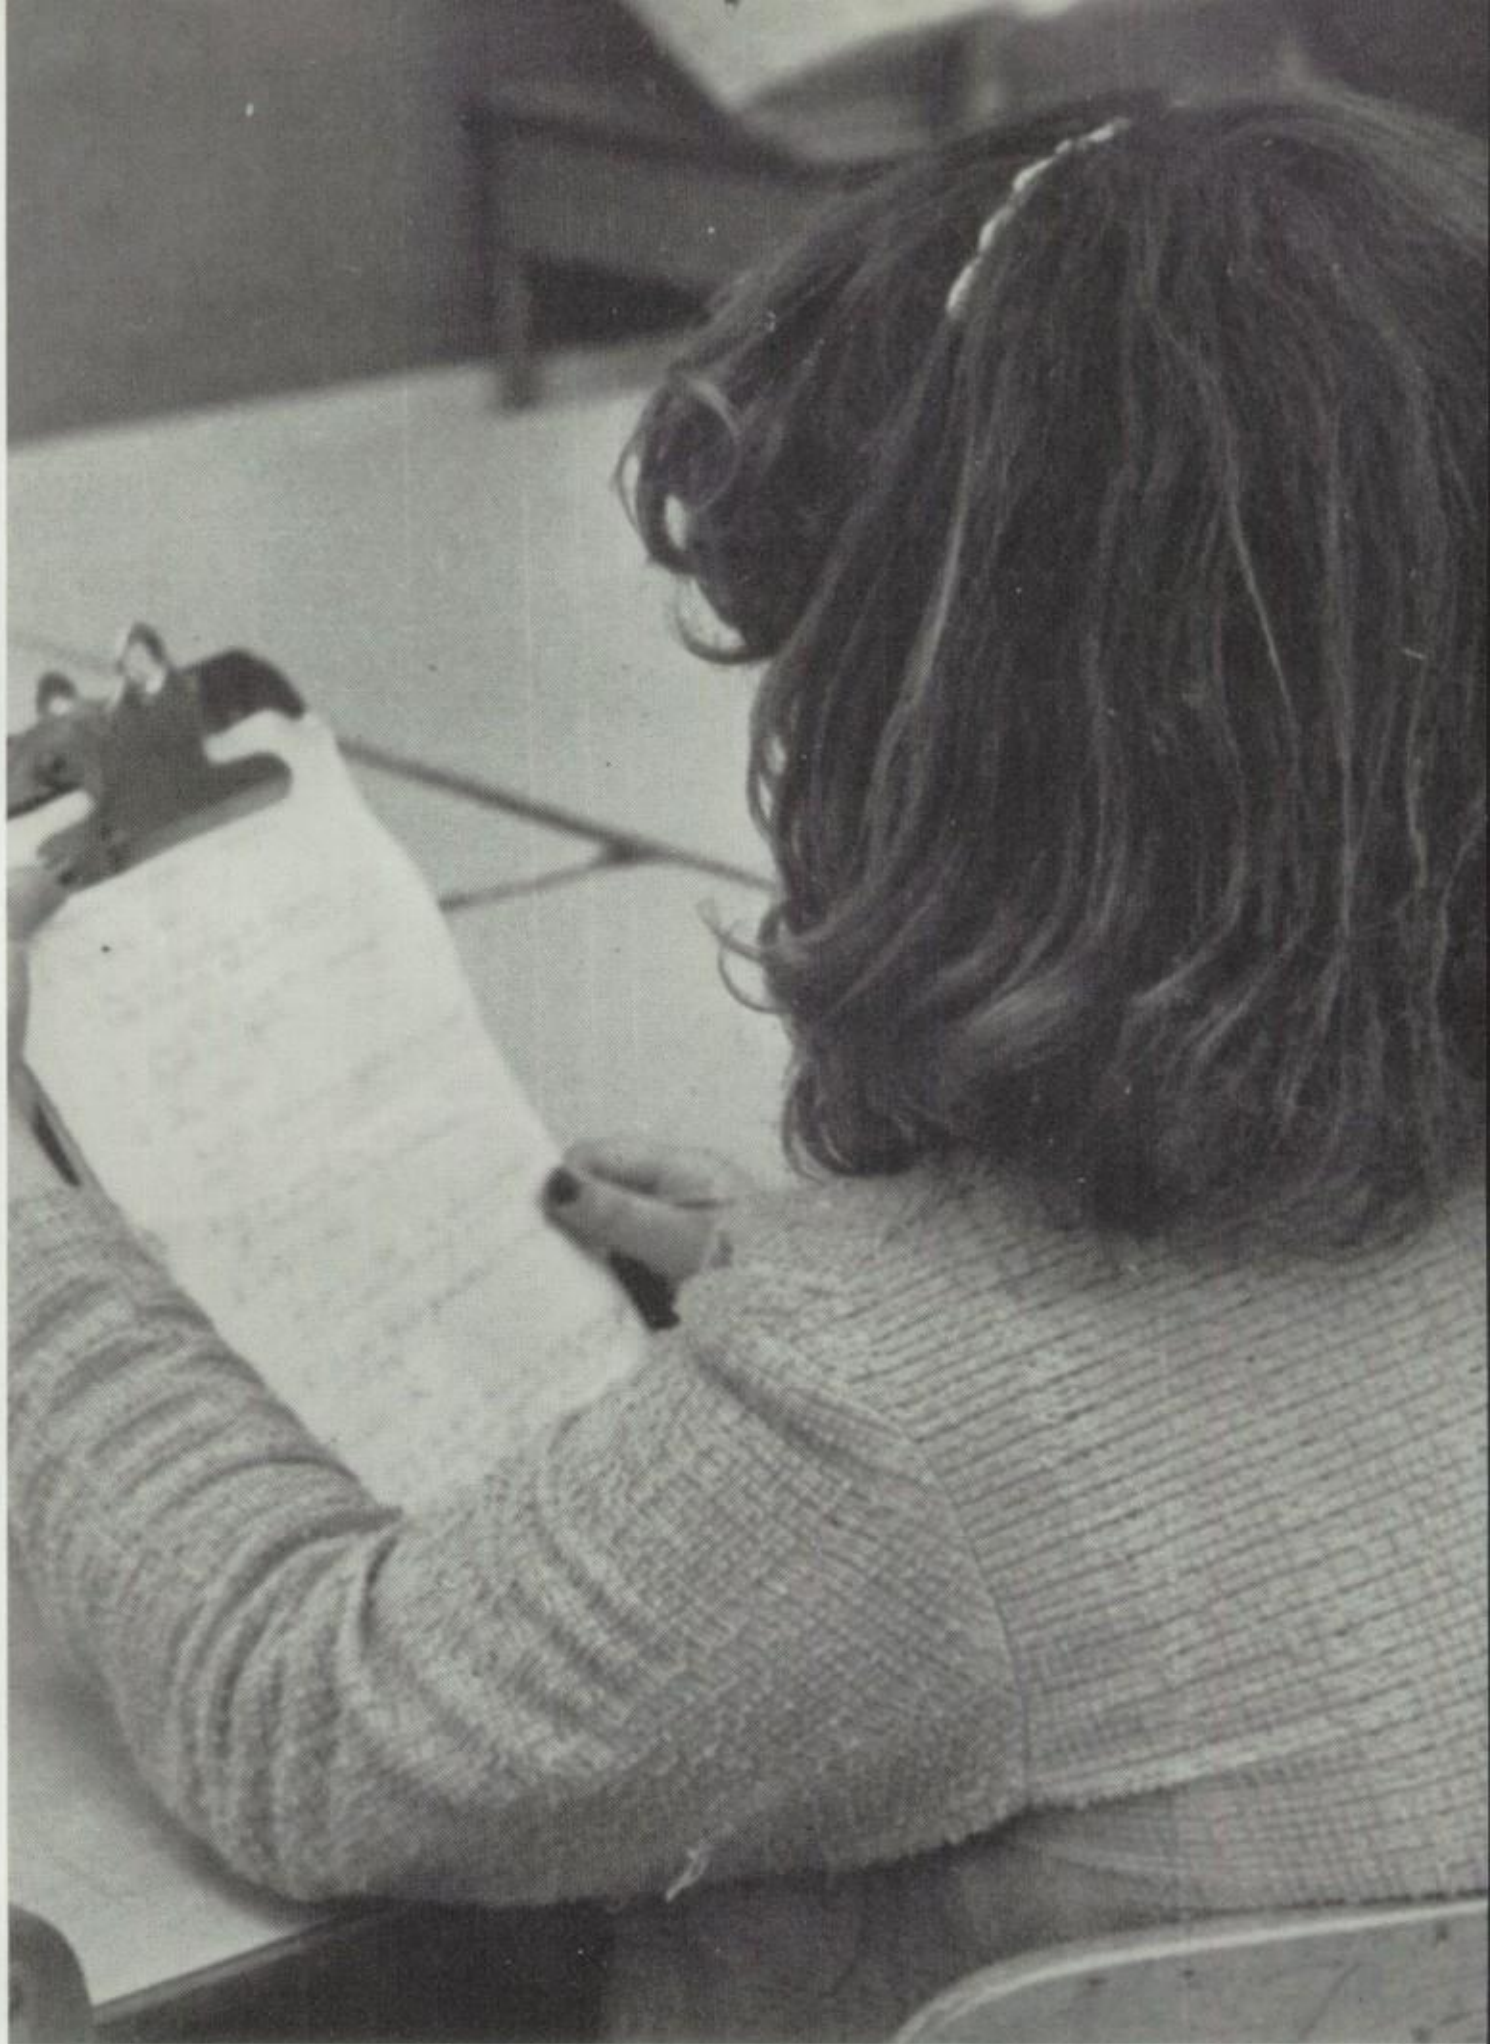

FINGER LICKING GOOD — This could only be true if people like Marleah Stanton and Cindy Ruggles brought lunches from home. The vending machines were seldom our first choice. ▼

WE HAVE OPINIONS TOO — A member of the annual staff Virginia Gonzalez took a poll on 5 major problems in the U.S. The reason?, to find out how they were effecting the students and what they feel should be done to solve these problems.

PACIFIC'S PIRATE POLL

1979-80 year locally was one full of inflation and disasterous floods. But students awareness went beyond this local gossip. Cars "porked-out" on gas, girls as well as guys fretted about the possibility of filling out draft forms and those far into athletics found the Olympics to be cancelled. So annual gave students a chance to voice their opinions on these worldly dilemmas.

Q: Being able to vote in the upcoming elections, Do you feel young adults will vote and be serious?

A: I feel that some will vote feeling their vote was beneficial but others will not take our situations in the U.S. seriously, and will take the election as a joke!

Q: Being one of the members of the family's whose home's were involved in the flood situation, how has the disaster affected your school work?

A: Along with the rest of his family and other people who were hit by the flood, we had to readjust a lot, but through it all, I was able to keep up with my school work.

Q: Do you feel that 18-20 year old men and women are prepared for a draft and a war?

A: 18 and 20 year old men and women are the building blocks of the future. By sending these persons to war, we are destroying our foundation.

Q: If gas prices keep going up, will you continue to drive your car as much?

A: I won't drive as much, I'll miss cruising to the beach, and mountains on weekends, so I'll just have to compromise and use the local area as a hang out!

Q: How will boycotting the 1980 Olympics affect those students who have trained for it?

A: I hate the thought of there being no olympics so many of us have really considered going for it some have really got training! I hope for in the future there can be something done about the location so everyone can participate.

SINGING IN THE RAIN —
PUDDLE — Friends Barbara,
 Eddie, Danysa, Gina and Julie made the best out of the rain even though it was causing a lot of problems for our community. ►
OHH TOO COLD — When the rain comes out, Danysa Nickell, one of the Varsity Cheerleaders, becomes our official water tester.
 She tiptoes over to each puddle and inspects the water. ▼

RAIN NOR SLEET — Nothing stops Robert Root and Betty Bryan from taking a quick HOP to the Pizza Palace where they sip with Sandy on summertime beverages in the rain. ►

IT NEVER RAINS . . .

The first rain of 1980 was not well received. It made fresh powdered snow at the local ski resorts slushy, cancelled any outdoor activities and washed down in a devastating flood, the Harrison Basin Flood Mud. The flood on Hampshire was declared a disaster area. Classmates, teachers, friends, and family joined together to help those whose homes were destroyed by the overpowering mud.

. . . IN CALIFORNIA

THE HULK — Matt Bomberger helps clean up the area and his own home that was destroyed by that unfortunate rain and mud. ▼

THE DISASTER — Looking down on the whole mess it was hard to believe that there were a lot of nice homes and a road! ▼

WHISTLE WHILE YOU WORK — Debbie LaBonte who helped fill sand bags had a lot of time to whistle and a lot of work to work on. ▼

HIGH TIMES OF LIFE

The wrestling homecoming candidates and their escorts sat impatiently in their cold aluminum folding chairs awaiting the announcement of the new queen. At approximately 8:00, Kelly Clark became the 1980 homecoming queen. Thursday, January 31, 1980 was one of happiness for everyone who witnessed the crowning and the victorious wrestling match for Pacific.

Ever since the prehistoric days there's been the word "club" present in our vocabulary. Through the years it's taken on many different meanings.

It started as the weapon of a caveman and presently is a group of people united under a title. Together club members struggled through the year working on service projects and parties.

Clubs produced everlasting friends and many treasured memories.

HARD WORKING OFFICERS —
The four I.C.C. officer for 1979-1980 were Mitch Slagerman — Vice President, David Jackson — President, Charles Morrison — Treasurer, and Vance Zavala — Secretary. The officers were hard at work this year thinking up new and different ideas for the clubs and then putting the ideas into action. ▼

INVOLVEMENT WITH OTHERS — A very special person at Pacific High School was Lance Hairgrove. His valuable contributions to the Lehis, Lettermen, C.S.F., Jr. Linebackers and N.H.S. were appreciated by everyone that came to know him. His involvement in these special clubs and activities certainly had its rewards.

 STRAHL

Taking a full load of classes, planning the prom, raising endless amounts of money, and running from one function to another were all situations typical of the chaotic junior year. The juniors "worked their tails off" only to arrive at their long awaited senior year, which made all the time and effort well worth it. Assuming responsibilities is sometimes difficult, but the juniors tackled all their duties with pirate pride.

THE OFFICERS WHO TOOK THEIR CLASS SERIOUSLY

The pressure was on when the duties of being a junior class officer had to be taken care of. Ulcer-producing prom plans were the main worry. Together, Mr. Martin, their sponsor and the seven class officers, came through the year with flying colors.

UNDER HIS POWER — During his reign as junior class president, Wally Johnson enjoyed presiding over the prom committee with an awesome power that often held them spellbound. ◀

THAT UNFORGETTABLE MAN — Not only was Mr. Martin proud of his junior class, but they in turn were proud to have him as their sponsor. ▲

A TOUCH OF CLASS — The 1979-80 junior class officers carried out their meetings in an orderly fashion so that they could make their class the best in the school. The junior officers were Pres. Wally Johnson; V.P. Ken Sanchez; Sec. Jolene Barlow; Treas. Mylinda Long; Reps. Jon Root, Ricarda Wallace, Wendy Mee. ◀

THE FUNNEST PART OF BEING A JUNIOR

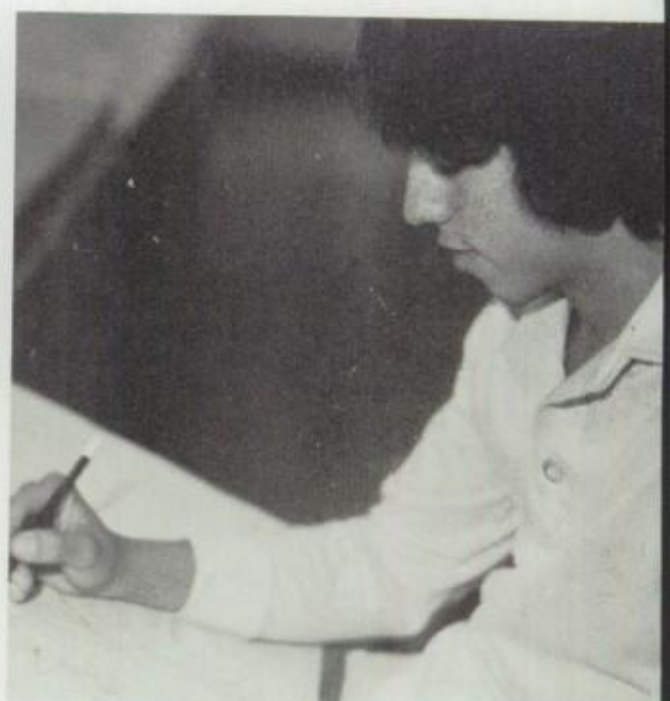

Some sarcastic philosopher came up with the wacky philosophy that the best part of going to school was the tons of homework that dominated week-day plans. The juniors would be the first to debate this issue with that crazy person. Although their junior year was the toughest, they pulled it off with confidence knowing their senior year was right around the corner.

MIND OVER MATTER

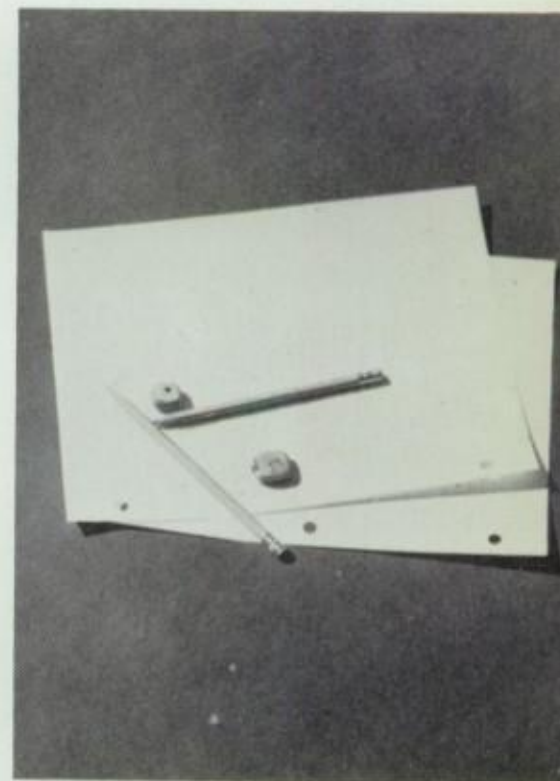

The headaches came quickly for the juniors that had to take the PSAT on October 23. This mind expanding test included mathematics, english, and vocabulary. The scores from the PSAT were kept on file and each individual knew their standings compared to other juniors in California. The PSAT was a preparation for the college entrance requirement test, the SAT.

WHAT A DRAG — For each college bound junior, the PSAT enables them to realize how little they really knew. Lisa Thomas dreaded entering that auditorium and facing the fact that it was not going to be an easy test. ▲

TESTING 1, 2, 3 — John Root went through 3 butterflies in the stomach, 4 broken pencils, and 6 bitten fingernails before he could even pick up the PSAT test booklet. ▲

NEVER AGAIN — These utensils used for taking the PSAT test came to be hated by the victims who suffered through the 3 long hour agony. ▲

THEY CREATED OUR FANTASY

— J. Dorado, M. Smith, W. Johnson, D. Fox, A. Drury, D. Bryan, M. Long, Row 2 — K. Simon, A. Atkinson, C. Beeman, J. Arellano, K. Sanchez. ▼

THE DREAM MAKERS

Many years back, a group of seniors decided that the juniors should throw them an extra special party. So like any other request made by the seniors, the juniors humbly bowed down and accepted the command. Immediately a group was selected and they called themselves the prom committee. Ever since, the money-makers and research has been a burden, but the prom committee has never failed to give the seniors a most memorable junior-senior prom.

READING, WRITING AND ARITHMETIC — Opening books, and studying hard took a lot of talent. Here D. Waitschies, K. Olmstead, C. Nudd, and P. Chaous proved just how much talent they really had. ▼

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALL GAME — Juniors, John Deetz and Kurt Otterbein practiced hard in order to please the many baseball fans they had. ▼

JUNE SHOOTS TWO — June Klein, a varsity basketball player, was known for her powerful jumpshot. ▼

JACKIE WANTS EVERYTHING FREE — When Jackie Hill gets a free throw, she makes sure she sinks it. ▼

The hidden talents of the junior class were just beginning to surface in the year 1980. As freshman they had no purpose in life, but as juniors they had reached the moment of truth. They could be someone.

SOCIAL JUNIORS ON CAMPUS

With 500 Juniors, they had no problems finding things to do in their free time.

Socializing, in no time at all, became an overly practiced art. Never were these juniors unwilling to take a break from the heavy rat race of a full schedule or from an appetizing lunch.

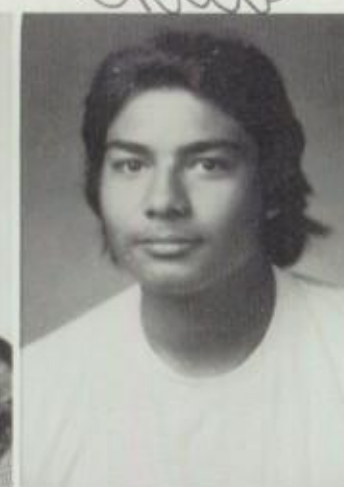

EAT, DRINK AND BE MERRY — That's exactly what Debbie Sryan and Wally Johnson did when the 40 minute lunch break came. ▲

MORNING CHATTER — Jill Stansel, Dan Fox and Cindy Plaut fit in a few seconds for socializing before the last morning tardy bell. ▲

QUICK GETAWAY — When lunch started, junior Ken Simon was quick to get to his car so he could leave the parking lot first. ▲

Having spirit and pride was one thing the juniors couldn't hide. They lived a rough school life dominated by competitiveness. They spent a year trying to be in the number one position that was reserved only for seniors.

SAIL ON TO PRIDE

ALL RIGHT CLASS OF '81! — Annette Peterson and September Wyatt show their pride for the junior class when the crowd yells "JUNIORS RULE." ▲

"THE PACK OF '81" — It was quite obvious that juniors were truly a united class. They were known to congregate in a pack at lunchtime somewhat challenging their fellow pirates to penetrate their group of radical classmen. ►

TYPICAL JUNIORS — The class of '81 rowdies were a bunch of complete individuals. Unlike the normal junior classes each year, these pirates were unafraid to express their secret inhibitions as they show their spirit in their own unique way. ▲

THE PICK OF THE PAC — Being chosen as the lucky five, Annette Petersen, Longina Rojas, Carol Brown, Lauren Roberts, and Jennifer Timbrook, accepted. The Juniors seem like the lucky ones for having such beautiful representatives. ▼

FROM ONE BEAUTY TO ANOTHER — Having to relinquish her title to her 1980 successor, Loriese Espinosa felt no remorse when she crowned her friend Annette Petersen as the new junior Princess. She well deserved it. ▼

A DREAM COME TRUE

The adrenaline rushed through the new junior princess as her name was announced. Through happy tears and a beautiful smile, Annette Petersen was crowned junior Princess for 1980.

JUNIORS ON ANNUAL

These juniors were well on their way to becoming the editors of the famous Pacificana annual. The year proved to be one full of head-splitting dilemmas. Through the year they eagerly awaited their chance of having their very own section.

ANNUALS, ANNUALS, ANNUALS — That's all Cindy Plaut could say as she organizes all the order forms from the annual forum. ▲

NO TIME FOR TIDDLYWINKS — The staff might have seemed lazy, but when it came time for a deadline, all hands were busy and Dan Fox can vouch for that. ▲

LOVE IS The little things we do for each other. Kurt Otterbein makes the sun shine in Angie Hammers' eyes with gifts of love.

ACTIVE JUNIORS IN CLUBS SPORTS AND CHEERS

The juniors tried their hardest to be involved in school activities.

Clubs, sports and cheerleading occupied their valuable time.

People, as a rule,
always try hard when they know they're number two.

THREE CHEERS FOR THE JUNIORS — Cheering on the J.V.'s was their business and Kim Bain, Laura Sauceada and Suzanne Wolfe did it with all their hearts. ▼

AQUALAD! Tim Vincent was one active Junior in the water and he loved it. ▼

DON'T STOP ME NOW — Junior Marlaigne Hudnall thought of herself as a true dedicated member of Lehis because of her all out involvement in the club. ▼

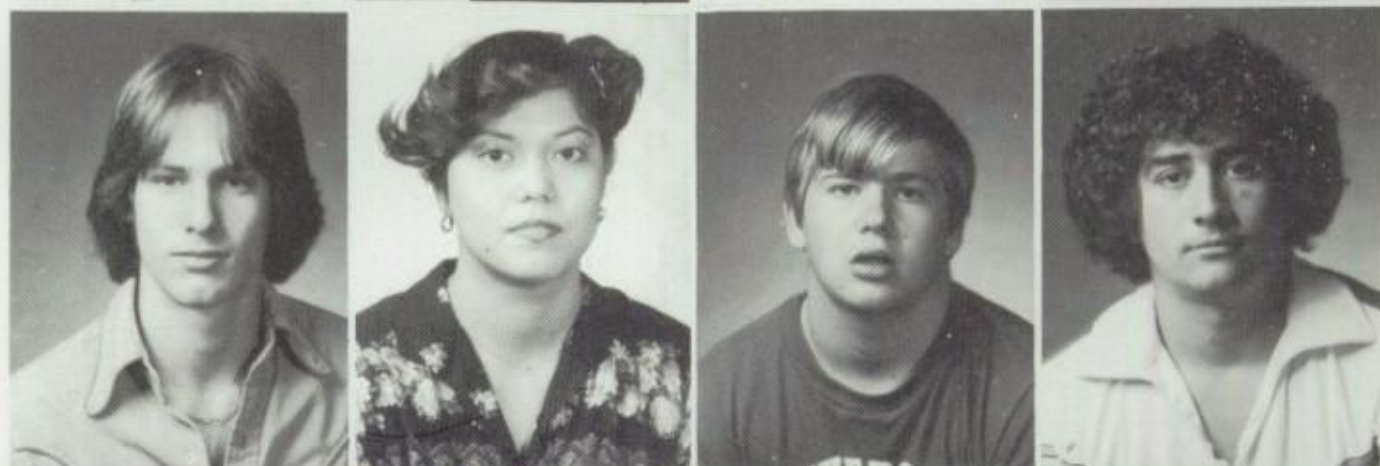

OVER THE NET — Sometimes Jennifer Timbrook got so actively involved with the game of volleyball that almost nothing could stop her. ▼

The sophomores relished their second year of high school. They had lived through being "tied to the stakes" as a freshman. They had finally arrived in the position to dish out the ridicule to the youngsters instead of receiving it. For most sophomores, their year was one of relaxation and a time to roll with the flow. Well, sophomores, enjoy this annual because when your hair is falling out, and the ulcers attack your stomach, you'll be able to look back on your only year of leisure.

SOPHOMORES

SOPHOMORES HAVE YET TO BE LEADERS

The sophomore class officers were more than just politicians. They were active in almost everything inside and outside of school. Although bogged down with heavy social schedules, the sophomore class officers kept one thought first on their minds, and that was the opportunity awaiting them as seniors. They would be the 'Big Wigs'

ANDREA, DO YOU KNOW WHAT IS IN THAT FOOD? — Andrea Johnson engages in her favorite pastime. ▼

GEE THIS IS FUN! — Karen Martinez looks as though she is having fun time, but we wonder what she is really thinking about. ◀
FLIP-FLOPPING TO THE TOP — Sallie Dunn did a great job in gymnastics as well as class representative. ◀

ANCHORS AWAY — In electing their class officers, the sophomores chose Nova Hunn and Paula Cobb as reps. because of their excellence in sports and academics. ▼
CARRYING ON THE SOLE TRADITION — Mark Sole would do anything to win pride for the sophomore class. ◀

SKIP, SKIP, SKIP TO MY "A" — It's just a hop, skip and a jump to the nearest straight "A" report card for Paula Cobb. ►

HOW DISGUSTING — As she pauses from her head-splitting studies, Lani Cohn reveals a sign of resentment. ▼

PEEK-A-BOO — "I see you little bug," replies Julian Fox as he examines the specimen. ►

SOPHOMORES HAVE THE BRAINS

Having a computer mind has always been desired by students everywhere. Taking tests and doing endless hours of homework was just the beginning of their input. These ingenious sophomores were well on their way, programming for their heavy junior year.

EXTRA, EXTRA HEAR ALL ABOUT IT — The sophomores spend their lunch hour keeping the students in the quad up to date on the latest gossip. ▼

PIG OUT — Lunch time was a time to inhale everything in sight for Dennis Montano. ▼

POSING PRETTY — As friends, Wendy Reed and Angie Miller pose in their cheerleading uniforms. They daydreamed about the athletic sophomore guys that they cheered on to victory. ◀

WHOA!! — As Sherri Lewis cheers enthusiastically, she was also talented enough to flash a big smile at the football players. ◀

SOPHOMORES ARISE IN SPIRIT AND SPORT

The sophomores were building up, and searching in every available resource, for the big take over of Pac High as seniors in the year 1982. They rose in sports to be superstars. As far as spirit they just gathered as a class to be over-powering. "Warning: Look out 1982."

HOPING FOR GRADUATION

Hoping to graduate sophomores engaged in gathering in the auditorium to take the Matrix Test. This test challenges basic skills such as reading, writing, and arithmetic. Little did the sophomores know that his test was so crucial.

RACKING THEIR BRAINS — The sophomores of 1980 work on the Matrix Test, which must be passed for graduation. ◀

DILIGENTLY WORKING — Jeff McCullough strives for a high score on the Matrix Test. ▲

AT WORK AND AT PLAY THE SOPHOMORES APPLY THEMSELVES

Levels of maturity varied for those of responsibility to those of play dough and pool sharking.

SCOOPIN' UP THE BUCKS — As one of the few underclassmen who secured jobs, Becky Webb found it rewarding ($) behind the counter at Fosdick's. ▲

Whether it was working or playing, Sophomores took time out from their school life to hold down a job or become involved in their own form of recreation. The more eager ones chose to earn the dough.

MONKEYING AROUND — Sophomore Karen Micklas finds time out from school for some rest and relaxation. ◀
I SHOOT THE STRIPE ONE, RIGHT? — Concentrating hard on her game Marietta Jackman tried to make a quick buck. ▲

LATE BUT GREAT —
Sophomores were upset when their float was too late for judging. BUT, being mature people they took it quietly and set their sights for next year. ▼

LOOK AT THOSE CHEERLEADERS — Jackie Brand and Danny Popadak don't like working in the snack bar with such cute cheerleaders on the field. ►
HOW COME NOBODY CAN TAKE A JOKE AROUND HERE? — Sophomore, Patricia Drury couldn't understand why the cheerleaders were so upset with her. Besides, who would ever notice the slight change in the cheerleaders? ▼

ONE, TWO, THREE, PIN — Being a basically mean individual, Mark Sole vents all his anger on his unlucky opponents. ►
OFF IN DREAM LAND — Geometry just wasn't interesting enough for Karen Davis to actually concentrate on it. ►

HOW CAN I TAKE TEN MORE MINUTES OF THIS CLASS? — Reading books and browsing in the library doesn't excite Shaun Montgomery. ▼

RIGHT, WE TAKE OVER THE SCHOOL TONIGHT — Angie Miller presides at the annual meeting of students dedicated to school reform. ▼

FLOAT ON BY

Life became glum when the sophomores had their first heart-breaking experience. Their float was disqualified because it arrived late for judging. The sophomores took it like troopers knowing that they would make a victorious comeback as juniors.

WHO CUT YOUR HAIR? — This dedicated sophomore really shows school spirit on Halloween dress up day. ◀

LOOKING FORWARD — Sitting with friends, Lani Cohn seriously considers the problems she would face as a junior. ◀

On Feb. 8, 1980 Deandra Galarza was crowned sophomore darling! Ex-darling Kim Bain placed the crown upon Deandra's head as the sparkle of happiness beamed from her smile.

PASSING ON THE ROYALTY —
Though sad to give up 1979's sophomore darling, Kim Bain, Pacific proudly welcomed the radiant Deandra Galarza to the list of royalty. ►

ONE SPECIAL SOPHOMORE —
Being chosen as the class of '81's own special darling this year, Deandra and dad excitedly awaited the bestowal of the crown and the honor. ▲

AND THE NOMINEES ARE . . .
— The other nominees for sophomore darling were Keenya Carter, Angie Miller, Marietta Jackman and Angie McQueen. ►

The sophomores had a lot to say about what they felt deserved to be rated on their top ten list. In the future years the sophomores will look back on these lists and remember the hits of the 1979-80 school year.

SWEET TREATS — As Bee Cheerleaders Wendy Reed and Angie Miller made it part of their weekly routine to treat their football players with goodies that helped their morale as well as their tummies.

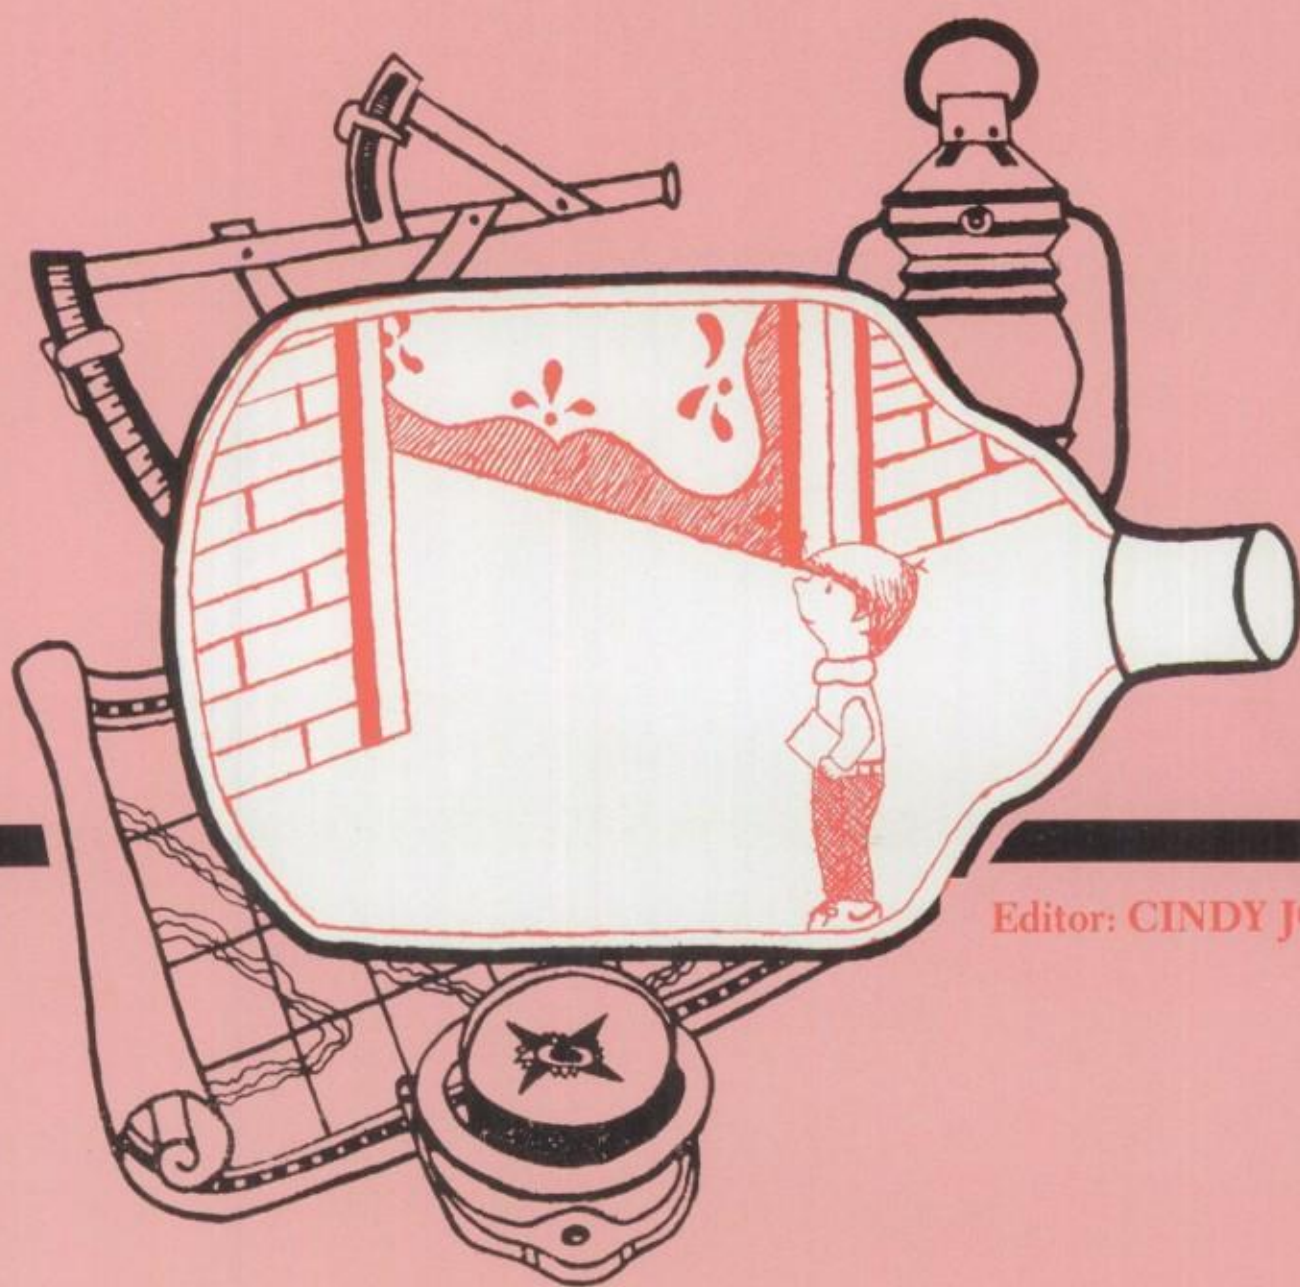

LOOK OUT TURKEYS — Up at bat with that innocent smile on his face, sophomore Chuck Becker slyly deceived the other team into believing he was an easy out, then always came through with a base hit. ◀

READY FOR ANYTHING — With an awesome arm, Jeff McCullough was one soph and the J.V. team who could gun the ball all the way in from left field and still make the play with time to spare. ▼

STARTING AT THE BOTTOM MAY LEAD TO THE PROS.

Talent scouts were no secret to baseball players. The sophomore stars played outstanding in all their games dreaming of the possibility that they soon could be signed up to be the Dodger dug-out bat retrievers.

For the Freshmen, high school opened many new doors to life. Sporting events, club activities, and a new social life cluttered their empty calendars. Upperclassmen looked over them with a cautious eye as those young'uns grew up and left their childish ways behind. Three more years of opportunities and agonizing homework still lay ahead of them. Bottled up inside this section are the tales of the first excursion of the freshmen on board the mighty pirate ship.

FRESHMAN

SMILIN' FACES

The freshmen had to 'grin and bear it' through the year. Constantly mocking and ridicule was something they had to accept. But who knows? The pirates couldn't have made it without these little guys.

HEAD HAUNCH OF '83 — Gina Zaritsky besides being the president, is a member of the varsity diving team. In the water and out, Gina was always happy and had that adorable grin on her face almost constantly. ▲

WHAT'S THERE TO SMILE ABOUT? — Most freshmen, being under the legal driving age were marooned and were forced at lunchtime to dine in the quad. David Ganger didn't mind because he was thinking about his skateboard while his friend, David Palmer, worries about his next test. ►

STARS OF THE FUTURE? — Many of the new pirates participate in sports. Steve Haight was "discovered" in football, while Gilbert Fernandez chose to make his "debut" in wrestling. Who knows? They might be the super-jocks of Pacific in the years to come. ◀

FRIENDSHIP AND SMILES MAKE THE WORLD GO ROUND — Even though they were involved in different activities, Julie Sessions and Liz Eckhardt, as best friends, are always found together. Julie was a dynamic bee cheer, yet she still found time to fulfill her duty as freshmen treasurer. Her counterpart, Liz, on the other hand did a super job on the swim team. ▲
SHORT AND SWEET — Chris Peterson and Lisa Norquist are two freshmen that had something to smile about. Both of these new pirates were quite popular and were two of the few ninth graders in Lehis. Chris joined the C.B.L. champion wrestlers, while Lisa was one of the darling cheerleaders on the bee squad. ◀

SPIRIT OF THE TIMES

AHOY MATES — Class of '83 got together in the quad to show off their firey spirit. ►

GOOD FRIENDS — Pacific had many close friends as Jo Anne Costarakis and Brian Ellis demonstrated in the quad. ▲

DRESS UP DAY AT PAC HI — Liz Eckhart and Julie Sessions show their Pac Hi spirit and dress up for our Halloween dress up contest held in the quad. ►

SMALL BUT TOUGH — Being small was definitely not a disadvantage to Mike Montano in the sport of wrestling, where he often took on his larger teammates with surprising results. ▼

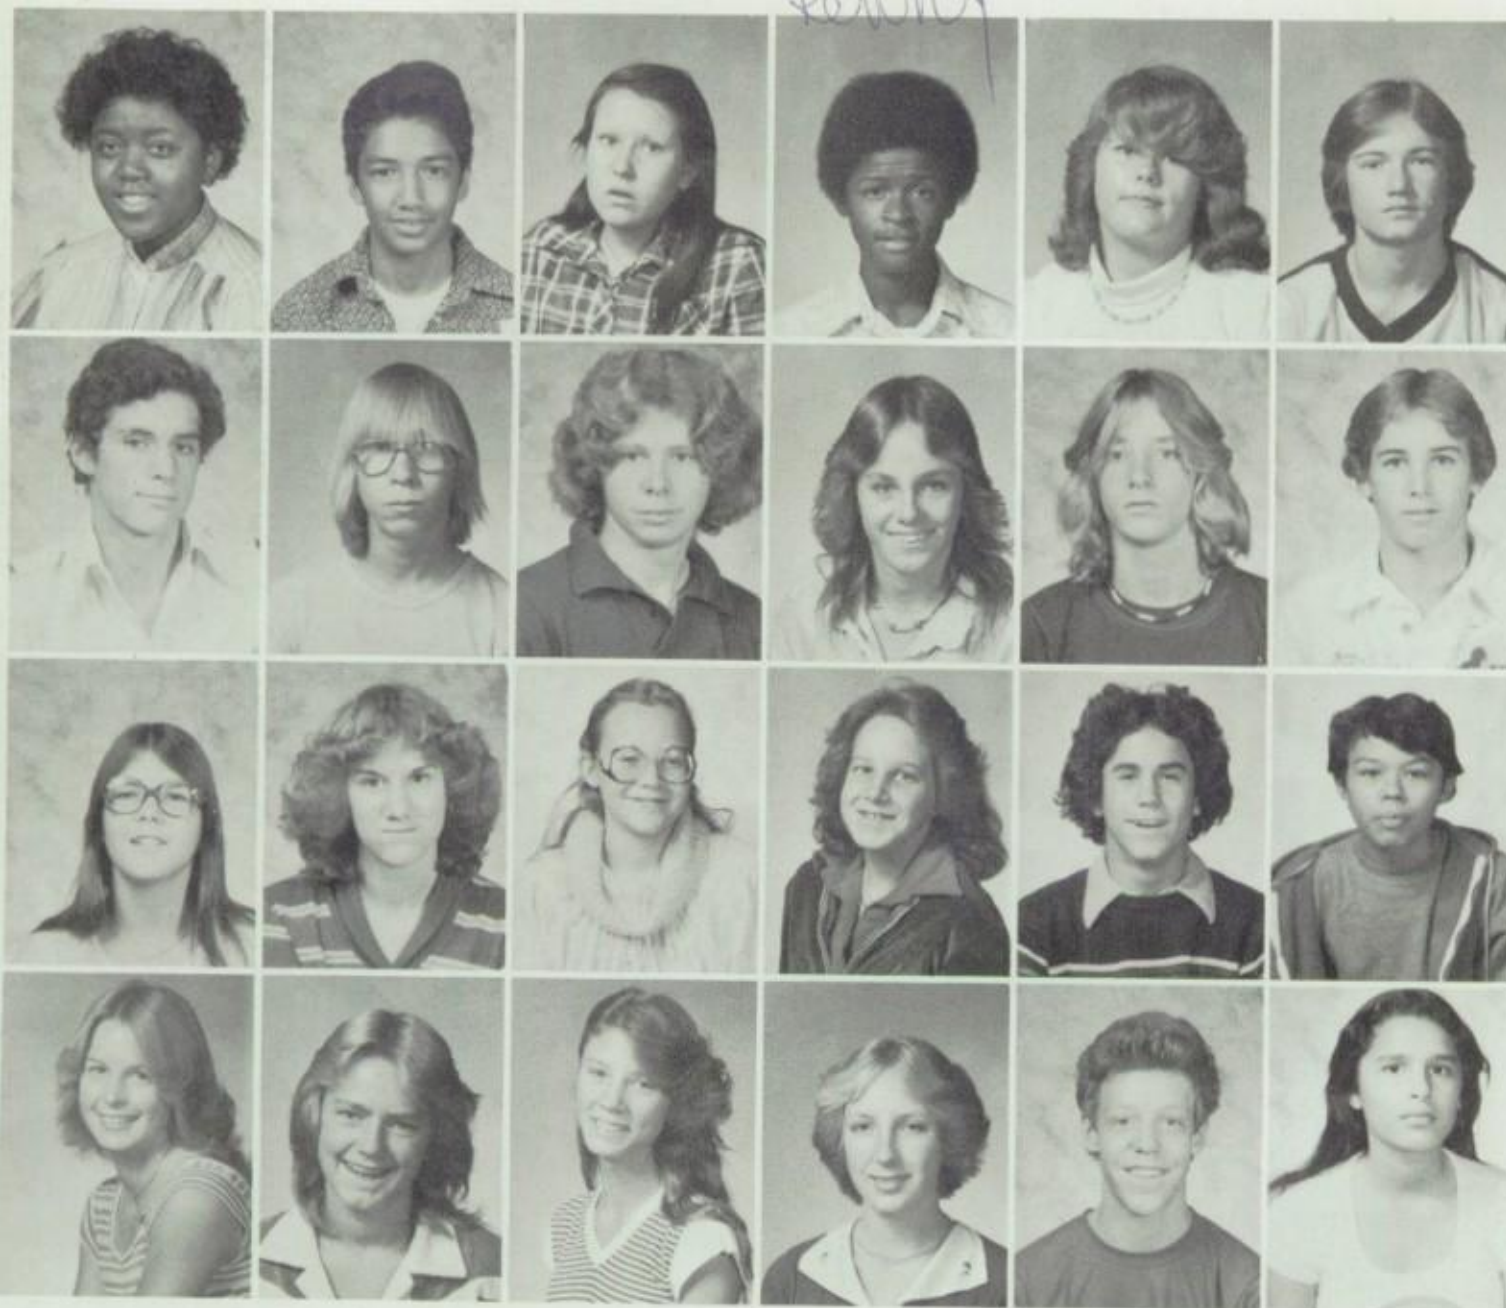

OVERFLOWING WITH SPIRIT — One of the few underclassmen who aided in the school's spirit was Bee Cheerleader, Lisa Norquist, whose charming smile captivated the fans and players alike. ►
FANTASTIC FROSH — Though only a first year team member, Margaret Silva, was an outstanding addition to the swim team where she excelled past many in the butterfly stroke. ◀

WE'RE OFF TO AN ACTIVE START

For freshman, breaking into the high school scene was an opportunity to get involved in a new social life and sports galore. The freshman class proved that they too were alive and jumping.

THEY'RE SO BEAUTIFUL

Being chosen by the whole student body to wear the crown of freshmen sweetheart was a dream for many freshmen girls. Taylor Bramlett's dream came true at halftime in the gym, on Feb. 8, 1980.

SUNSHINE ON THEIR SHOULDERS — Taylor Bramlett, Judy Sermack, Angie Greer were very thrilled being chosen candidates for freshmen sweetheart also not pictured were Jackie Rucker and Gina Zaritsky. ▲

BRIGHTER THAN BRIGHT

Each class had their "brains." Several fearless freshmen took on classes that even seniors wouldn't attempt to tackle. These mentally gifted found their challenge buried in the books.

THANK GOD IT'S FRIDAY — Taking Mr. Birdsill for advanced contemporary Living was one of the tougher tasks for many freshmen, including Angie Greer, because of their dislike for the great amount of homework assigned. ◀

BRAIN BUILDING — As one of the victims of Mr. Pendergast's introduction to Chemistry class, Steve Kaseno found his schedule packed with these hard but challenging classes. ◀

SIPPING ON A SHAKE — Angie Greer and Robert Brownlee sip a shake together at the local soda shop, as romantic thoughts run through their minds.

ONE INVOLVED FROSH — A true leader of her class, Gina Zaritsky was one involved freshmen with a lot of activity in store for her next three years at Pacific. ►

SURROUNDED BY STUBBORNNESS — Being totally dominated by his fellow class officers, James Durant, freshmen V.P. rarely got the chance to express the male point of view at their meetings. ►

It didn't take freshmen class officers long to get their feet on the ground. Their duties were not too complex. They united the freshmen class, took off to Disneyland and exhibited outstanding leadership for their fellow classmates to take heed of.

Since E street was blocked off this year the freshmen were bound and determined to regain another "hangout." So off they went searching high and low for their special place. At last they stumbled upon the local roller skating rink called Stardust. Due to their successful expedition the freshmen spent many weekend evenings "roller booging."

AROUND AND AROUND WE GO — Morai Richmond's favorite weekend passtime was taking it easy with her friends and having fun at the Stardust Roller Rink.

COMMAND PERFORMANCE

The Precision Haircut

And why it might be right for you

If you hate the way your haircut disappears the day after, come to Command Performance where we specialize in the precision haircut.

Precision haircutting is our technique for cutting the hair in harmony with the way it grows. So, as it grows, it doesn't lose its shape. And because the hair is cut to fall naturally, you don't have to keep fussing with it. Usually a shake of the head does it.

The precision haircut with shampoo and blow-dry costs just sixteen dollars for guys and gals. We also offer permanent waves, coloring, frosting and conditioning. No appointment is needed, just come in. And you'll see that precision is right for you.

... TUFF!!!

One day 14 editors were convicted to one eternal year of slavework. Locked behind the bars of responsibilities, they were forced to keep working by the unique tactics of THE MAN. Being the co-operative jailbirds that they were, they attempted to get a reprieve for good behavior, but it was no use. Deadlines kept sneaking up, photographers and pictures kept disappearing, and editor after editor showed up with a broken leg. The conditions were considered to be quite cruel and unusual. They were forced to lie on one cropper, one job stamp, zero pens, and a broken pica ruler. Finally, under the severe pressure of deadlines, these innocent chumps collapsed and died. May they rest in peace. You are requested to bring flowers to their graves, but if you have any complaints about either this page or any other page in this annual that's...

To Annette
 a friend that is since girl (sometimes). You could be alot better
 if you only wanted
 but even though your like that I like you
 even ~~if~~ you don't believe it. Well that enough of that. Hope you have a wonderful summer vacations.

Pacific High we love so well,
 With pride and joy our praises swell
 Faith, devotion all to thee:
 Our Alma Mater ever be
 For thy learning rich and pure,
 For all thy training strong and sure
 We will pledge our loyalty

Pacific High, all hail to thee!

To Annette.
 It's been fun going on grades with you
 making the float going to night school going to sand parties.
 I hope to see you
 next year
